ROOSEVELT SON REFERRED TO IN ARMS QUIZ NOTE

Charge Friend After Ship Contracts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—Letters purporting to show that a friend of James Roosevelt, son of the President, interceded at the White House to get two naval destroyer contracts for the Bath Iron works of Bath, Me., were introduced into evidence at the senate munitions inquiry today.

W. S. NEWELL.

In one of the letters Roger S. MacGrath, an insurance man who was described as a friend of James Roosevelt, also in the insurance business, explained to Louis McHenry Howe, the President's secretary, that the two contracts "would be very helpful in the upbuilding of the Democratic party in this state."

Prior to the introduction of the letters, W. S. Newell, president of the company, had testified that his concern was awarded the two contracts, aggregating some $8,000,000, a few weeks after the date of the MacGrath letter, July 12, 1933.

Admits Bids Not Low.

Another letter from MacGrath was written to Eugene Thebeau, secretary-treasurer of the Bath Iron works, and in this he inclosed a copy of his letter to Secretary Howe. He explained that the Bath company's bid on the two destroyers was not low, but expressed the hope that the naval authorities would award the contracts anyway.

Previous testimony had shown that the Bath company's bid was rejected on technical grounds by the secretary of the navy, but reinstated after a conference of rival shipbuilders and naval authorities and after President Roosevelt had been bombarded with telegrams from Bath.

MacGrath's letter to Secretary Howe said: "At this writing the Bath Iron works at Bath, Me., have one government destroyer under construction and the president of this concern, Mr. Newell, informs me that he is now submitting bids, through the Hon. Harry Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, for two more destroyers.

Recalls James Roosevelt Speech.

"You may recall that it was at my suggestion and request that James Roosevelt spoke in Bath last October, after our state election here, and I may say that this part of our campaign in Maine aroused considerable interest and support for the President not only in the city of Bath but throughout the state, and we were almost able to carry the city of Bath for the President, which normally has been a Republican stronghold for years.

"It may well be said that the population of the city of Bath depends upon the Bath Iron works as a principal source of industrial income, and the cheapness of labor at this port enables the Bath Iron works to operate at a very low cost, a considerable factor in saving the government expense in the construction of destroyers.

"Will Be Very Helpful."

"The psychological effect of the administration awarding to the Bath Iron works contracts for two of the new destroyers will be looked upon very favorably by the people of Maine and will be very helpful in the upbuilding of the Democratic party in this state.

"I would be very pleased to have you call this to the attention of the President and I urge the administration to give all possible consideration to this matter."

MacGrath then wrote to Thebeau, secretary-treasurer of the Bath works, inclosing a copy of the letter to Howe, as well as Howe's reply. Although this reply was later returned to MacGrath, investigators for the committee said they had never been able to find it.

Wires President, Swanson.

"I took up the matter of allotting to the Bath Iron works contracts for the two destroyers with the naval authorities while I was in Washington the week before last, and in accordance with your telephone request of last week I also wired the President directly and Claude A. Swanson, secretary of the navy, urging that all possible consideration be given to your bids and the placing of these contracts with the Bath Iron works," MacGrath wrote to Thebeau.

"Although I know there are others

ORDER INQUIRY INTO MUNICIPAL COURT LAXITIES

New Council Will Sift Complaints.

BY EARL MULLIN.

A survey of the Chicago Municipal court, with particular attention to fees charged litigants and the hours kept by judges, will be made by a city council subcommittee shortly after the new council meets on April 15. The proposed survey was announced yesterday by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th, who is to depart today for Miami, Fla., with the committee on committees.

Repeated complaints from citizens and lawyers that the fees of the court, which was formed as a "poor man's court," were too high prompted the proposed survey. Another frequent complaint was that on many days it was almost impossible to find a judge on the bench after 2 p. m.

"I made a personal survey of the courts about five years ago," Alderman Arvey said. "At that time I found that many of the judges called it a day shortly after noon. Newspapers took up the fight and some reforms were made. It is now about time for another check on the court."

Scathingly Rebuked in 1928.

According to the files, the last survey of the Municipal court was made in 1928 by the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice in coöperation with the Chicago crime commission. The report of that investigation scathingly rebuked the judges for politics, lack of dignity, and inattention to duty.

"Of course it is impossible to say at this time whether the Municipal courts are in the same shape they were when I made my investigation," Alderman Arvey said, "but it is the purpose of the coming survey to see just what shape they are in."

Result of a Survey.

An observer who has been visiting the various branches of the Municipal court during the last week, made a report yesterday on his findings. He visited a court each day and made a record of what he saw.

"In general," he said, "there is little dignity in most of the courts, compared to the higher branches, and a five hour day seemed to be a full day for most of the branches. Even with such a shortened day a majority of the judges have tacitly agreed that it is useless to hold any court on Saturday morning.

"Lack of Dignity Amazing."

"To one accustomed to the federal courts and the criminal courts the lack of dignity in the Municipal courts is at times amazing. Before the judge takes the bench the packed courtroom is filled with loud talk, litigants and hangers-on wear their hats, smoke, spit on the floor, and the air is frequently almost unbreathable. As soon as the judge takes the bench the bailifs pound with their gavels, hats come off, and the roar subsides to a steady drone."

As originally formed about 25 years ago the court was intended to be a poor man's, neighborhood court where minor litigation could be disposed of with a minimum of inconvenience to litigants. As such there were branches in practically all police districts. It was to take the place of the old justice courts.

At the present time this plan has been much altered, with specialization and consolidation. There are two schools of thought in this respect, some lawyers contending that a judge who hears one type of complaint all of the time becomes an expert in that type of case.

Types of Cases Grouped.

The results, however, may be stated briefly. At present there are eight outlying courts, with four judges. They handle disorderly conduct cases, not involving juveniles, not involving women, and not involving automobiles. A boys' court hears all boys. There is a special court to take the cases involving women, no matter whether it is a back yard fight or a charge of solicitation.

A serious complaint made against the grouping of all women in one court is that decent mothers and housewives, first offenders, and minor disorderly conduct cases are bunched with hardened thieves and prostitutes. Formerly many of these cases were rapidly handled in their neighborhood courts.

If a business man is given a ticket for speeding at the farthest limit of the city, or if he parks overtime across the street from his outlying place of business, he must come all the way to 11th and State streets to present his case.

MISSPELLED NAME BALKS CITIZENSHIP ATTEMPT OF ACTRESS

Hollywood, Cal., April 3.—[Special.]—Because some immigration official misspelled her name 14 years ago, Katherine DeMille, motion picture actress and adopted daughter of Producer Cecil B. DeMille, today was balked in her effort to obtain her first American citizenship papers.

Miss DeMille was born the daughter of a Canadian war veteran, Edward Gabriel Lester, who was killed at Vimy Ridge. Her mother died shortly afterward. When she entered this country from British Columbia, her name was misspelled by some immigration clerk as "Letter."

Red tape unwound to the point today where the actress was informed she can apply for citizenship if she can prove she entered this country under her own name. The actress fears inability to find the clerk who made the mistake. If she can not do so she will have to return to Canada and return here under a quota number.

SHOT KILLS BOY; DOG DISCOVERS BODY IN CELLAR

John Kocial, 14 years old, a freshman at the Sabin High school, was found shot to death yesterday in the basement of his home, 1301 North Hoyne avenue. A .22 caliber rifle lay beside him. He was reported missing on Monday, but his body was not discovered until his dog scratched at the basement door until allowed to go down, then set up a mournful howling beside the body. Mrs. May Walentyvicz, John's mother, told police her son had been despondent for several months, but fellow students declared he was active in athletics and seemed to be of normal spirits.

Louis Leaves; Wife Waits 33 Years; Seeks Divorce

Russian Woman, 22, Pilots Dirigible on 7 Hour Flight

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., April 3.—(AP)—With a 22 year old woman, Marie Aikhenvald, at the helm, the government dirigible Smalny V-2 arrived at Leningrad airport today after a seven hour trip from Moscow. The flight was the first of a series of training runs for young people in their twenties. The Smalny is a ship of 7,500 cubic meters and was built in 1932.

New Compass Pilots Plane on Radio Wave

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Troy, O., April 3.—[Special.]—Guided here from New York City by a new and highly sensitive radio "homing" compass, engineers today completed the initial phase of a transcontinental test for the device which has been developed by William P. Lear, radio expert, under orders of the army air corps.

So accurately did the compass perform today that Lear, his pilot, Howard Ailor, and the correspondent who was a passenger, were unable to "lose" themselves even though they scorned the department of commerce airways which are marked by radio range beacons and light posts, and flew bee line courses to Pittsburgh, Dayton, and this city.

"Boon to Private Pilots."

Bureau of air commerce experts who inspected the compass at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, before the tests began, and later in the day after the test plane arrived in Pittsburgh, declared the instrument "revolutionary."

They pronounced it of great value for military flyers, a boon for private pilots, and said it may possibly supersede the radio range equipment now standard for the commercial air lines.

The Lear compass consists of an all-wave radio receiver coördinated with a direction finding loop antenna mounted on the roof of the cabin. The signals from any broadcasting station to which the receiver is tuned are received both visually and aurally.

Instrument Warns Pilot.

The pointer of an electrometer on the instrument board warns the pilot when he deviates to the right or left of a direct course toward the station. The whole set, including antenna, receiver cabinet, the selector unit, headphones, and electrometer, weigh but 38 pounds. This is about ten pounds more than the normal radio receiving set such as is used by the army, and many private plane owners. It is considerably less than the weight of the radio equipment carried on most commercial airliners.

Four regular broadcasting stations were used in making today's tests. They were WOR in New York, KDKA at Pittsburgh, WOMK at Dayton, and W-G-N, The Tribune station in Chicago. In each case the compass functioned perfectly at a range of 300 miles.

Pick Up Radio Signals.

Leaving Roosevelt field at 7 a. m., eastern standard time, Lear immediately picked up WOR's signals. The morning "setting up" exercises and music came in. After passing over New York harbor on a southwest course, station KDKA was located.

At first the signals were too faint to be heard, but the meter was sensitive enough to show the course accurately. By the time the ship reached the Alleghenies the voice of the Pittsburgh announcer was plain. The plane began to drift considerably, but the nose of the ship held directly on the radio station.

After refueling at Pittsburgh the compass picked up WOMK at Dayton and then W-G-N. Experiments were made with both stations until Dayton was passed, then W-G-N became the sole guide. The flight was halted at Troy by a leak in the oil line. Tomorrow the tests will be continued in a flight to Chicago. From there Lear and Ailor will go on to Los Angeles, where the compass is to be transferred from Lear's plane to Amelia Earhart's Wasp powered Lockheed Vega, which is being prepared for a nonstop flight from Mexico City to Washington. Miss Earhart is to make the flight in her new rôle as a dollar-a-year consultant of the bureau of air commerce.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

SYDNEY, Australia, April 3.—Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army, revealed today a hitherto unpublished story of how she brought up three children.

"I have never before told any one this secret love of my life, but now I must refute a terribly wicked thing said to me," she said. "I reared the children as if they were my own, but did not give them my name. One died young, another is now a brilliant officer in the Salvation Army. The third is not strong enough to take an active part. It has been my great desire in life to rear those children."

She was indignant at a report attributing to her the statement she has been in love several times.

"I have never been in love with anybody or anything except my work," she said.

Pilot Wakes Up Family Menaced by Farm Fire

Flames enveloped the barn and were spreading along a wooden fence to the dwelling.

Austria Defies Peace Treaty; Votes to Rearm

VIENNA, April 3.—(AP)—The Austrian government tonight decided to follow Germany's example in increasing its armed forces. This means the scrapping of the military provisions of the treaty of St. Germain, which limited the Austrian army to 30,000 men.

A 50 word communique issued shortly after the cabinet met with Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg presiding disclosed that steps to achieve rearmament already have been started.

The communique follows:

"The cabinet council presided over by Chancellor Schuschnigg dealt with the question of the enlargement of the Austrian army. The cabinet council expressed the unanimous conception that the granting to Austria of full equality was a self-evident supposition. The necessary procedure to increase the armed forces has been taken."

Whether military conscription such as that reinstituted in Germany by Reichfuehrer Hitler in mid-March is contemplated was not revealed.

In some quarters close to the government the opinion was expressed that Austria already has asked the great powers for the right to rebuild her army.

Size of Army Undisclosed.

No hint as to the nature of the measures taken was given in the official statement, nor did it indicate the size of the army desired.

Military circles, however, lent attention to reports that an immediate effort would be made to increase the present army from 30,000 to 60,000 and that such effort would be "accompanied by the gradual elimination of private armies such as the heimwehr and the Catholic Storm Troops."

Increasing friction between the Fascist Heimwehr and the Storm Troops has been in evidence in recent weeks.

The neighbor nation of Jugo-Slavia meanwhile was reported on the verge of a military dictatorship. Although the campaign for the parliamentary elections May 5 is being fought bitterly through a chaotic jumble of issues, some observers believe the voting never will take place. In many quarters the impression prevails that Tera Zivkovitch, minister of war, will emerge as the strong man of the future.

French Officials Surprised.

PARIS, April 3. — (AP) — French officials said tonight they were "considerably surprised" at reports from Vienna that the Austrian cabinet had announced an increase in the army, saying they had heard nothing of any such move.

It was recalled here that the powers some time ago gave Austria permission to increase her armed forces in the face of agitation in German quarters for anschluss with Germany. Thenceforward it was understood France, Italy, and Great Britain had been in complete accord with Austria that she would consult them before making any further move.

Breaks Bone in Leg, Piercing Heart; Dies

Darlington, Wis., April 3.—(AP)—The car in which Anton Kummer, 65, was riding left the highway near here tonight, climbed an embankment, and returned to the road without overturning. But the impact broke a bone in Kummer's leg, the bone pierced his heart and caused his death. He was a Spanish-American war veteran.

KELLY TO SEEK U. S. FUNDS FOR CITY PROJECTS

Invited to Meeting with Hopkins.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, with a record breaking election victory in his pocket, will leave for Washington this afternoon for a conference to which he has been invited by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator. Hopkins is expected to supervise the distribution of the huge federal public works fund now awaiting final congressional action.

The primary purpose of the talk, the mayor said, would be to determine what state legislation is necessary to qualify Chicago for the liberal federal aid he has been assured will be forthcoming after the passage of the public works bill. It is also expected that some of the projects in the mayor's program and the degree of their desirability will be discussed.

The Kelly program proposes the use of at least $265,000,000 in federal funds. The projects include superhighways, a lake front airport, a permanent Chicago Fair, water filtering plants, new sewers, and repaving of streets and alleys.

Ickes in the Background.

Dispatches from Washington recently have indicated that Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and PWA boss up to this time, will have little voice in passing on the Chicago matters and it is hoped that some one more friendly to the city administration will control the program here.

In place of the customary postmortems, this was the one interesting development following the election on Tuesday which gave Mayor Kelly the all-time Chicago records of a total vote of 798,150 and a majority of 543,854, and also carried his running mates, Peter J. Brady and Gustave A. Brand, to victory for the offices of city clerk and city treasurer.

Congratulations from Farley.

"You have every reason to be proud of the splendid vote of confidence," read a part of the message from James A. Farley, postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic national committee.

"Dear Ed," wired Alfred E. Smith from New York, "a thousand miles away from Chicago your admirers hasten their congratulations and best wishes."

Other telegrams read:

"My congratulations to you and Mrs. Kelly."—James E. Gorman, president of the Rock Island railroad.

"As a runner you have no equal since the days of Man o' War."—Urey Woodson, former secretary of the Democratic national committee.

"We congratulate you on your prodigious victory. You have an impressive mandate from the people to continue your program of public service."—Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Affleck.

"The result yesterday represents one of the finest manifestations of confidence I have witnessed and must be a source of great inspiration and encouragement to you to continue your splendid work."—Frank C. Walker, New York City, former treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

Republican Unrest Appears.

In contrast with these congratulations the expected restlessness among the discomfited Republicans began to manifest itself in several quarters. The one definite development of the day was the selection of Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, former national commander of the American Legion, to represent the Republican state central committee in expected midwestern conferences.

This was an unexpected step, as it had been expected that Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, chairman of the state committee, or some one of his nomination would be chosen to be in readiness for a conference at Kansas City or some other point soon. The state committee, meeting at the Hamilton club in special session, however, selected former Commander Hayes as a man free from factional entanglements.

Crowe Calls a Meeting.

Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney, who for some time has refused to recognize the present Cook county G. O. P. organization, announced that he will hold a meeting at his office Saturday afternoon to start the organization of the Republican Club of Cook County, which he and some of his associates have incorporated.

Another Republican movement will be explained next Wednesday noon at the weekly Republican Round Table at Henrici's restaurant by Fred Lundin, who for several weeks has been working on a plan to organize sentiment for 1936. He has held weekly meetings of ward committeemen and others at the Palmer house, and will have another one next Monday. This movement is not hostile to any local organization and will be built on national issues.

ICKES CLOISTERED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—New Deal elation over the overwhelming victory of Mayor Kelly in Chicago was mixed with silence and inaccessibility today.

The official jubilation of the New Deal politicians was expressed by National Democratic Chairman Jim Farley, who declared the election of Kelly was a splendid triumph for the mayor and for Chicago Democrats.

The national organiaztion was immensely pleased, Farley said, and expected Illinois to be in the Democratic column in 1936.

Ickes and Richberg Silent.

On the other hand there was a disinclination to talk about the election. NRA Chairman Donald Richberg said he was too much out of touch with local Chicago politics to comment and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes could not be reached.

Since his elevation to the cabinet Ickes has been charged with hostility toward Chicagoans of his adopted party—he had been at times a Republican and a Bull Mooser. Developments pointed toward an ambition on the part of the secretary to build up his own political party in the Chicago area where he had lived.

The Ickes movement early in the history of the New Deal bore fruit. At this time the wound caused by the Democratic nominating convention of 1932 in Chicago was still unhealed. The Illinois delegation, led by the late Mayor Cermak, did not climb on the Roosevelt band wagon as soon as California and Texas did.

Holly Named U. S. Judge.

Over the heads of the Chicago Democrats, the President named William H. Holly as federal judge. Holly was backed by Ickes and the Newton Jenkins third party group. Another appointment was that of Leo J. Hassenauer, law office associate of Ickes and Richberg, as first assistant district attorney.

When Ickes became head of the newly created federal Public Works administration the situation became more acute. The plea of the Chicago sanitary district for a loan was kicked about for several months until finally President Roosevelt announced that the loan should be made and the PWA funds were released.

Ickes accused sanitary district trustees of playing politics and attached many strings to the contract between the PWA and the district for the disbursement of the 42 million dollar grant and loan.

A commission, headed by Prof. Daniel W. Mead of the University of Wisconsin, was appointed by Ickes to pass on the plans developed over a period of years by the district engineering staf when Mayor Kelly was chief engineer.

Report a "Huge Scandal."

Soon afterward Joshua D'Esposito, Illinois state engineer for the PWA, was taken from this post and sent over to the sanitary district to supervise the program that had been worked up by the local engineers.

Investigators were sent into the field from Washington and the charge emanated from here that a gigantic scandal had been uncovered. As it turned out a faulty section of sewer had been laid by the S. A. Healy company, which repaired the tube at a cost of $15,000.

During the congressional campaigns last fall several Republican candidates in Chicago charged that Ickes was snubbing Chicago because of his enmity for Kelly.

The failure to provide PWA funds for the completion of the outer drive bridge at the mouth of the Chicago river was cited as an example of the Ickes attitude.

Withdraws Bridge Funds.

PWA had allotted 7 million dollars for the link bridge in the winter, but last summer Ickes abruptly withdrew the funds without notifying Chicago officials. He explained that the securities offered by the Lincoln park board were not adequate.

The outer drive bridge project is still in the limbo of PWA pigeon holes.

Soon after the brush over the bridge project Mayor Kelly tried to obtain PWA funds for a $2,814,000 improvement of the Calumet-Sag channel. Ickes laid down conditions which Patrick H. Moynihan, former congressman from the district in which the project is located, declared were "ridiculous and impossible."

After weeks of negotiations the conditions were eased and the Calumet-Sag channel funds will be forwarded by PWA.

Mayor Kelly along with aeronautic and civic organizations in Chicago, favored a lake front airport, but Ickes opposed the project. A board controled by Ickes was appointed to investigate and an adverse report on the airport was announced.

Within the last few months Ickes has not stepped into the Chicago picture. It was said that he backed Hassenauer for the appointment as federal district attorney in Chicago, but the reports of late have indicated that Michael L. Igoe, congressman at large from Illinois, would get the job.

This last development has given political dopesters the idea that Ickes is out as far as federal plums in Chicago are concerned and that the local Democrats are in the ascendancy.

Council Committee Chosen to Assign New Aldermen

Members of the new city council met yesterday and selected the committee on committees, whose important task it is to prepare the new setup in time for the first meeting of the incoming council April 15.

Ald. Terence F. Moran [16th] was chosen as the fifth member of the committee to sit with the four older members who were again chosen. He will fill the vacancy left by the death of Ald. Thomas A. Doyle [11th].

The other four members are Aldermen J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman; Berthold A. Cronson [4th], Thomas P. Keane [31st], and James R. Quinn [50th].

Fly to Miami Today.

The five will board a plane at the Municipal airport at 9 a. m. today and will fly to Miami to begin their deliberations.

Eleven new members of the council, who will take their seats on April 15, attended yesterday's meeting and were formally welcomed. These included one of the two victors in the runoff elections Tuesday John J. Duffy, who defeated Ald. O. E. Northrup [19th]. One of the eleven is James B. Bowler [25th], a veteran of the council, who resumes his seat after an interim as public vehicle commissioner.

The New Aldermen.

Besides Duffy and Bowler the other aldermen elect who are newcomers to the council are: Michael F. Mulcahy [8th], Hugh B. Connelly [11th], William T. Murphy [17th], Joseph Kacena [23d], Edward J. Upton [30th], P. J. Cullerton [38th], H. L. Brody [39th], William J. Cowhey [41st], and Frank Keenan [49th].

Mulcahy, Murphy, Bowler, Cowhey, Upton, Kacena, and Keenan, who were elected Feb. 26, obtained their certificates of election and were sworn in yesterday by City Clerk Peter J. Brady. They and Duffy, Brody, and Cullerton will be formally inducted into the council at its next meeting a week from next Monday.

Nine of the fifty aldermen are Republicans, including Ald. Healy, who was a Democrat until he ran for alderman in 1931, but who has voted the Republican ticket since. The others are Ald. William L. Dawson [2d], Robert R. Jackson [3d], Berthold A. Cronson [4th], Arthur G. Lindell [9th], William V. Pacelli [20th], Joseph C. Ross [40th], Oscar F. Nelson [46th], and John A. Massen [48th].

WHAT A NEWSPAPER IN NEW YORK THINKS OF KELLY ELECTION

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—In commenting editorially upon the outcome of the Chicago mayoralty election, the New York Times says:

"No recent mayoralty election has had more cheering aspects than that of Edward Kelly of Chicago. First appointed a little more than two years ago to fill the vacancy caused by the killing in Florida of Mayor Cermak, he steadily commended himself to the people of Chicago. He carried the Democratic primary with a great sweep, and was elected mayor on Tuesday by an overwhelming majority.

"Concerning the result, he merely remarks that he hopes it will make Chicago a unified political organization, for which he will be able to speak with authority as if carrying out a mandate of the electors. This may be too bright an anticipation, as doubtless there will be political parties and political contests in Chicago as before. Yet it is encouraging and wholesome to have such a recognition of such a man.

"From trustworthy accounts of his political career, he appears to be a politician of an original type. He has, to be sure, a strong party organization behind him. But the extraordinary vote given him could not have been due wholly to that. Thousands of independent, fair minded citizens wished to pay this tribute to a mayor of his type. He has been a hardworking and constructive executive, almost never making a speech, not leading an active campaign, and asking for approval less of what he has said than of what he has done and tried to do.

"This is what makes Mayor Kelly's election so significent and heartening. Give the people a chance to get and keep an official in office who has won and deserved almost universal praise, and they will not fail in their part of the business."

"REILLY IS OUT," MRS. HAUPTMANN SAYS AFTER BILL

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Bruno Richard Hauptmann announced today she had dismissed Edward J. Reilly as chief counsel for her husband. She regarded his bill for $25,000 as "exorbitant and prematurely presented." She said C. Lloyd Fisher of Flemington, N. J., now heads defense counsel in the appeal from the death sentence imposed on Hauptmann as kidnaper and killer of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

"I saw Richard yesterday," Mrs. Hauptmann said, "and he agreed with me that Reilly should go. The defense fund has not any such sum as he demanded for his fee."

Mrs. Hauptmann plans to visit Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, and Baltimore to seek funds.

WOMEN FAVOR LONGER LIFE OF REGISTRY LISTS

Urge Illinois Adopt New Voting Method.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Proponents of the permanent registration system for voters made a plea today before the house elections committee. They urged adoption of the bill introduced by Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago].

Its opponents are to be heard next Tuesday. After that the committee will vote on the measure, according to an agreement reached today. That will mean, Schnackenberg said, that action can be taken soon by the house.

Among the speakers today were Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, chairman of the elections committee of the Illinois League of Women Voters, and Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde of the municipal affairs committee of Women's City club.

Woman Explains Bill.

As explained by Mrs. Ramsey, the bill provides for the following system: Every eligible voter would appear before a registrar in his precinct and sign two cards containing information on matters serving as a means of identification.

One set of cards would be taken to the precincts on election day. Every voter would be required to sign an application blank before receiving a ballot and this signature would be compared with the one on the file card.

No voter would need to register again unless changing address, failing to vote for a period of two years, or changing name. This reregistration could be done by mail, but voters unable to sign their names would make their marks in presence of a registrar.

Board to Retain Lists.

The board of election commissioners would keep the registration lists up to date by removing the names of all deceased persons, checking on registrations made by occupants of hotels or rooming houses, and by removing the names of those who had not voted in the specified period.

"Permanent registration is not an experiment," Mrs. Ramsey declared. "It has been tested for years. It is now in use in more than thirty states. A sound permanent registration system reduces fraud, reduces cost of registration, and simplifies elections for the voters."

Schools Asked to Tell Police of Stray Dogs

Principals of all schools in the city were asked in a bulletin issued yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, to notify police immediately whenever an unleashed dog is seen near their schools. The prevalence of rabies among dogs at present prompted the bulletin, Dr. Bundesen said.

VICTORIOUS FOES OF VOLIVA TO LET ZION PICK ITS FUN

Vote Sours Overseer; He Plans Fight.

As the victors over Wilbur Glenn Voliva in Tuesday's elections in Zion prepared yesterday to take over on May 1 the reins Voliva has held for 23 years the overseer in an interview attacked them verbally and predicted their recall within 90 days under the provisions of Zion's commission form of government.

The winning candidates in the municipal election, headed by William M. Edwards, who was elected mayor, denied that Zion will be oppressed by blue laws, as had been variously charged in the campaign. Edwards was joined in this statement by the new city commissioners, Conrad A. Brune, William H. Farrar, and Richard F. Hire, and by Attorney Stephen J. Drury, who is the new police magistrate.

The mayor elect and his fellow victors said they were opposed to tobacco, liquor and motion pictures, but promised that their own prejudices would not be permitted to interfere with the will of the majority in these matters.

Voliva "an Ordinary Citizen."

They declared emphatically that they would not look to Voliva for advice, but promised also that he will be treated as any other citizen.

"I'm well pleased at the result," said Voliva in a tone of bitter sarcasm. "This new mayor and his commissioners are misfits. I'll fight them 100 per cent, day and night continuously, and I'll get them sooner or later.

"I'm the only man in Zion that amounts to anything. If I were to withdraw my hand the city would disintegrate. I built Zion single handed and I alone can hold it. I have just begun to fight."

He announced that he would train for the struggle by continuing his diet of buttermilk and Brazil nuts.

Starts Contest Suit.

Voliva's threats of action began immediately to materialize. He instructed his lawyer, J. A. Miller, to institute in the County court a contest over the election of John D. Thomas, the overseer's political manager for 25 years, who was reëlected assistant township supervisor and turned against him.

Miller also asked State's Attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county to prosecute James F. Boyland, a broker with offices at 105 South La Salle street, on a charge of libel.

E. A. ROBINSON.

Mr. Robinson has been undergoing treatment for a chronic ailment since Jan. 17. Recently he underwent an operation which was followed by a relapse.

Mr. Robinson was born in Head Tide, Me. He was graduated from Harvard in 1891 and in later years received honorary degrees from Yale and Bowdoin. He is a member of the National Academy of Arts and Letters. Among his principal works are "The Torrent and the Night Before," "The Children of the Night," "The Town Down the River," and "Tristram."

OIL TANKER IS FIRST THROUGH MACKINAC STR.

Mackinac Island, Mich., April 3.—(AP)—The oil tanker Gen. Markham inaugurated ship trafic through the straits of Mackinac today, crossing from Lake Huron and starting down Lake Michigan for Chicago.

The Gen. Markham was able to begin lake trafic at the straits 25 days earlier than last season.

The Coast Guard station here said the early opening was made possible by early warm weather and the work of the Coast Guard cutter Escanaba which broke a ship path through the straits ice from Lake Huron to Lake Michigan last Sunday.

5 YOUNG KILLERS SENT TO PRISON FOR LONG TERMS

Ericksen Slayers, "Puff" Bandits Hear Fate.

The two Ericksen killers and the three "cream puff" bandits were sentenced to long terms in Joliet penitentiary for murder by Cook county Criminal court judges yesterday. The oldest of the five defendants is 22 and the youngest is 15 years old. He received the lighest sentence, fourteen years in the penitentiary. The longest sentence, of ninety-nine years, was given to a 17 year old defendant.

Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan sentenced James Senese, 20 years old, to fifty-five years in the penitentiary and his companion, Elmer Krueger, 22 years old, to serve a twenty-five year term. The two confessed killing George Ericksen, a tavern owner. They charged they were hired to shoot him to death by Mrs. Anna Ericksen, wife of the victim, to collect life insurance. She was acquitted of the murder by a jury recently.

Disregards Leniency Plea.

In sentencing the two Judge Sullivan disregarded the recommendation of Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle that in view of their confessions and their testimony for the state against Mrs. Ericksen, Senese be given twenty-five years for the actual killing and Krueger fourteen years for his share in the crime.

"It is only the representation of the state's attorney that saves these young men from the electric chair," Judge Sullivan said in sentencing them. "They are guilty of a most horrible crime and I would be remiss in my duty if I did not protect the public from such men. Moreover, I heard the evidence in the Ericksen case."

As the two were led from the courtroom a sister of Krueger sobbed: "Why do they send Elmer away when Mrs. Ericksen should have gone to the chair?"

"Cream Puff" Bandits.

The sentences were imposed on the three cream puff bandits by Judge Walter P. Steffen for the murder of Mrs. Anna Schmitt in the robbery of her bakery last Jan. 31. They were called "cream puff" robbers by the police because they revealed their fondness for such dainties in the bakery holdups in which they specialized.

Joseph Zvirblis, 17 years old, was sentenced to serve 99 years; Peter Sinakus, 20 years old, to 30 years, and Raymond Halverson, 15 years old, to 14 years.

The three confessed to Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, who read their statements to the judge. According to their statements they chose Mrs. Schmitt's bakery at 7745 South Halsted street for the scene of their first robbery that night. Zvirblis and Sinakus waited outside while Halverson went in and bought an eclair. Then the other two came in and Zvirblis threatened Mrs. Schmitt and a customer with a revolver while one of the others took $11 from the cash register.

Mrs. Schmitt began praying aloud and when she did not stop at Zvirblis' order to "shut up" he fired a wild shot to frighten her. The bullet struck the corner of an ice box and ricocheted, hitting Mrs. Schmitt in the forehead. As the three fled Halverson picked up three pies which they ate on their way home.

BLOCKS FOURTH ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF FOOD DEALER

What was said by police to have been a fourth attempt on the life of Nunzio Russo, 51 years old, wealthy food importer and manufacturer of spaghetti, was thwarted last night by the appearance of a watchman at the Russo Brothers plant, 466 West Chicago avenue.

The watchman, Sam Paterio, was in the rear of the plant just before closing time, when he was confronted by two men, one of whom held a submachine gun, and the other a pistol. Paterio was warned to keep quiet, but, as he made a move to escape, one of the bandits slugged him with a pistol butt, and both fled. Police declared their belief that the gunmen were trying to reach the front office and kill Russo as he worked.

The manufacturer was shot twice and seriously wounded last June 8, also by two gunmen who invaded a barber shop at 464 West Chicago avenue, where he was being shaved.

WOMAN AUTOIST KILLED AND TWO HURT IN CRASH

Mrs. Hanna Doenitz, 40 years old, of Summit, was killed, and two other women were injured seriously yesterday afternoon at Archer avenue and 55th street in the head-on collision of a truck and an automobile. The three women were in a car driven by Mrs. Doenitz' sister, Mrs. Cornelia Meisner, 31 years old, 5548 South Nordica avenue.

The injured persons are Mrs. Meisner and Mrs. Henrica Dykeman, 50 years old, 5528 South Nottingham avenue. The accident was seen by Mrs. Dykeman's daughter, a high school student, and by her husband, Floyd Dykeman, who operates a woodworking shop at 5913 Archer avenue. Neither recognized the victims who were being placed in an ambulance, but Dykeman observed his wife's purse in the overturned automobile.

Truckman Explains Accident.

Three men in the truck were unhurt. The driver, Harold Diesnecker, 29 years old, was returning the empty vehicle to State Center, Ia., after delivering a load of cattle to the stockyards. The women were on their way to Ashland avenue and 47th street.

Diesnecker told police he was going west in 55th street and Mrs. Meisner was driving east in Archer avenue. He said she swerved in such a manner as to lead him to suppose she was about to follow the turn of Archer avenue to the northeast. Each driver, he asserted, became confused about the other's intentions and they maneuvered into a head-on crash.

With Diesnecker in the truck were Roy Fink, 24 years old, Marshalltown, Ia., and Oliver Tichenor, 60, of Cola, Ia. The vehicle belongs to the Schoppe Trucking company of State Center.

Mrs. Doenitz's death and one other increased to 231 the number of persons killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. At 4 p. m. yesterday 186 had been killed in trafic accidents within the Chicago city limits this year, and 3,662 injured. The other death:

Miss Margaret King, 63 years old, employed at the St. Mary's Training school, Des Plaines, died at the Des Plaines Emergency hospital of injuries suffered March 30 when she was struck by an automobile at 1500 Miner street, Des Plaines. The driver of the car, Wendell Gilgist, 1716 Harrison street, Evanston, was notified to be present at the inquest today.

Forbid Engines to Whistle.

A coroner's jury was told yesterday that local ordinances prohibit train engineers from whistling for crossings in north shore suburbs. The jury investigated the deaths early Tuesday morning of Myrtle Holloway, 14 years old, 330 Oxford road, Kenilworth, and Edson McEldowney, 19 years old, 620 Abbottsford road, Kenilworth, who were killed in an automobile struck by a Chicago and North Western train at Winnetka avenue in Winnetka. The inquest was continued until April 24 pending the recovery of James Goetz, 19 years old, 989 Cherry street, Winnetka, driver of the car.

ROB A. & P. STORE OF $65.

6 MISSING TEETH LAND EX-CONVICT IN A CELL AGAIN

Previously Helped to Flee by Innocent Policeman.

Six teeth missing from the swollen mouth of Nick Succas, 27 years old, 818 South Hamilton street, an ex-convict, led to his identification yesterday in three robberies committed since March 23. On that date he obtained his release in $50,000 bail while awaiting trial for four other crimes. One of the robberies was the $2,000 machine gun holdup of the Wieboldt department store at 1279 Milwaukee avenue last Friday.

Sergt. Jack Hanrahan of the detective bureau was in the Criminal courtroom of Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday when Succas appeared on two charges of robbery and two for assault with a deadly weapon for which he had been out on bond.

Remembers About Accident.

His lawyer asked for a continuance, stating that Succas had met with a little accident, and was unable to talk because six teeth had been knocked out. The ex-convict's swollen and scarred face reminded Sergt. Hanrahan of a newspaper account of an automobile accident at Randolph street and Ogden avenue Tuesday morning.

A stolen automobile had crashed against a steel pole. West Parks Policeman John O'Meara innocently helped two men to transfer the injured driver to their car. But as O'Meara started to join the three, they slammed the door and sped away. Encountering a squad car a few blocks further on, they staged a pistol battle and escaped.

In the wrecked car, which had been stolen from Kenneth Wood, 8001 South Campbell avenue, O'Meara found six teeth and a revolver.

Captive Explains Dental Mishap.

Surmising that Succas might be the injured automobile thief, Sergt. Hanrahan agreed to a continuance of the other charges until today, and then hustled Succas to the detective bureau. There O'Meara and Wood identified him. Succas protested his innocence, offering the alibi: "A couple of robbers stuck me up and beat me."

Not content with this identification, Sergt. Hanrahan called in witnesses of other robberies. Stephen Marz, 2724 North Rockwell street, credit manager of Wieboldt's store, identified Succas as the robber who guarded him with a shotgun while companions looted the cashier's office.

Then Charles Clark, 2547 Washington boulevard, pointed out Succas as one of the five men who robbed the Westinghouse Electric company plant at 113 North May street of $885 on March 28, five days after he was released under bond from the county jail. Other robbery witnesses will view Succas today.

Record Over Five Years.

Under the name of Louis Vasnopoulis, Succas was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory on June 27, 1930, to serve from one to ten years for robbery. After serving four years and four months, he obtained his release last May 5, on a writ of habeas corpus.

On Oct. 14, George Chatz, 5632 Madison street, a furrier, was robbed, and his automobile stolen. Sergt. Hanrahan received information that Succas was the robber, and sought him.

Three weeks later, Policeman Frank Foulkowski, while off duty frustrated a holdup of the Logan Department store, 2778 Milwaukee avenue. The men he found loitering inside the doorway, however, robbed him of his revolver, threatened two other persons, and then fled. The photograph of Succas was identified as in the gang.

On Feb. 1, Sergt. Hanrahan learned Succas was living at 1407 Flournoy street with his bride. He went there to arrest Succas, and was forced to hurl a gas bomb through a window, before Succas would surrender.

MRS. BLACKLIDGE LOSES AGAIN IN FREEDOM FIGHT

State Supreme Court Denies Rehearing.

Hope of Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge of avoiding a six months' jail term for nonpayment of a judgment debt was shattered yesterday when the Illinois Supreme court refused a rehearing on its ruling that the judgment, awarded against her in a love suit, should stand.

The court's decision dissolved a mandate staying the jail term until a final ruling on the appeal.

Mrs. Blacklidge, former collector of internal revenue in Chicago, is now at liberty in $1,500 bonds pending a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus issued a year ago by Superior Judge Joseph B. David, which is returnable next Wednesday. She will be ordered to jail unless she can show some legal reason for being freed at the habeas corpus hearing.

One Other Hope Left.

One slender hope remains. Mrs. Blacklidge's lawyer, Herbert M. Wetzel, filed a bankruptcy petition in her behalf in federal court yesterday, listing her liabilities at $7,850 and her assets at $70.12. Wetzel said he would apply to Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward today for an injunction to prevent the jailing of Mrs. Blacklidge until the bankruptcy matter is settled.

Chief among the liabilities listed in the bankruptcy petition is the judgment for $7,500 won by Mrs. Susanne Nottingham, who sued Mrs. Blacklidge for alienating the affections of her estranged husband, Policeman Norman E. [Dear Denny] Nottingham of the Grand Crossing station. Since the $7,500 judgment contained a malice count, Mrs. Blacklidge must pay it or serve six months in jail. She had already served a week of the term when she was released by Judge David's order a year ago.

Wife's Attorney to Fight.

Attorney Murphy O. Tate, representing Mrs. Nottingham, said his client is prepared, as required, to pay Mrs. Blacklidge's board of $3.50 a week while she is in the county jail. He declared he would fight the injunction petition.

Listed among the assets of Mrs. Blacklidge are four vacant lots in Lakewood, Mich., valued at $40; household furnishings valued at $30, which she claims are exempt, and a share of stock valued at 12 cents. Her address in her petition is given as 8125 Cottage Grove avenue, which is also the address of Policeman Nottingham.

STATE LOSES BATTLE FOR SUPREME COURT BAIN CASE REHEARING

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday affirmed its decision which upset the convictions of John Bain, former banker; his sons, John H. and Robert, and his son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher. The action of the high court, in which it refused a rehearing to Attorney General Kerner, remands the Bain case to the Cook county Criminal court for retrial.

The elder Bain was sentenced to a term of one to five years in prison and the other three were fined $1,000 each after their conviction on charges of accepting deposits in the Bain banks knowing them to be insolvent. The verdict was affirmed by the Appellate court, but was overturned by the higher tribunal.

Bain's chain of 12 banks closed June 9, 1931, with a loss of 13 million dollars to depositors.

U. S. DESCRIBES PARISH 'BUBBLE'; CHARGES FRAUD

Jury Is Completed; Start Evidence Today.

Frank P. Parish and three former associates, on trial on charges of mail fraud in the sale of stock of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company, were accused in the government's opening statement yesterday of conceiving and carrying through "one of the greatest exploitations in American financial records."

The entire history of the company, which went into receivership in March, 1932, after a spectacular four year career, was described as "full of fraud"—a "bubble" which burst with a loss of 35 million dollars to investors.

The opening statement was made by Horace A. Hagan, special assistant United States attorney general, to a jury in the court of Federal Judge John P. Barnes. The jury was completed in the morning and Mr. Hagan spoke all afternoon. The defense will make its preliminary addresses this morning and it is expected that introduction of evidence will begin in the afternoon.

Parish Once "Boy Wizard."

Parish, the principal defendant, is now 38 years old. In the past he has been known as the "boy wizard of finance," having amassed and lost several fortunes. The other men on trial are Ralph G. Crandall, Chicago attorney; Samuel J. Maddin of Kansas City, Mo.; and James McManmon, Chicago and Tulsa oil man. The four were officials and directors of the pipe line company and of its stock marketing affiliate, Frank P. Parish & Co.

In his address to the jury Mr. Hagan told in detail the history of the Missouri-Kansas company, Mo-Kan, as it was known on the stock exchange. He charged the defendants with luring the public to invest in the stock through false representations of the company's holdings by advertising and mail campaigns.

The pipe line which the company announced it was constructing from Amarillo, Tex., to Indianapolis for the benefit of stockholders, was heavily mortgaged, Hagan declared. Although it actually does extend today from Texas to the southern border of Indiana, the investors have lost their equity in it, he said. Parish and Maddin were also alleged to have taken large secret profits in stock transactions when they knew the concern was on the verge of insolvency.

Concern's History Traced.

Mr. Hagan began his remarks by telling of events preceding the organization of the pipe line company in 1928. Maddin and one C. M. Shippey were engaged in 1927 in producing shale gas, which has a higher fuel value than ordinary natural gas. They took in Parish as a partner on his representation that he could assist them in their financing and could get lucrative contracts. When the pipe line company was organized Shippey, Maddin and Parish took purchasing rights to 185,000 of the 200,000 original shares of stock at $5 par.

"From the start the company was in financial difficulties and had to borrow money," Hagan said. "In November, 1928, Maddin, Parish and Shippey put 148,000 of their shares in a syndicate and sold it to the public. Maddin and Parish took a profit of $450,000 each from these sales. Early in 1929 the capital stock was increased to 700,000 shares.

Stock Sale Company Formed.

"In July, 1929, Frank P. Parish & Co. was organized to sell the stock, to create an artificial market and conduct manipulations to advance the price. This affiliate agreed to buy large blocks of stock from Missouri-Kansas and pay between $15 and $33 a share. Shippey refused to join in the affiliate's operations.

"Through the market manipulations Mo-Kan stock reached a peak of $41 a share in May, 1929, declined to $14 in the crash, and rose to $20 in December, 1929."

Ted Polhemus, a market expert, was hired in January, 1930, Hagan continued, to "rig the market further and the public was led to buy unsuspectingly at an unnatural, unjustifiable, fictitious price."

In advertising campaigns Mo-Kan told of the rise of its stock while stocks such as General Motors and American Telephone and Telegraph were declining, Hagan said.

"The stock selling campaign, much of it on the instalment plan, was the geratest of its kind ever known in this country," he went on.

F. I. du Pont Buys Shares.

"In December, 1929, Francis I. du Pont of the famous Wilmington, Del., financial family, bought 2,000 shares. Parish made a stroke almost amounting to genius—he prevailed on du Pont to become a director and then publicity was given to the assertion that the du Ponts were affiliated with Mo-Kan."

Hagan next told of the organization of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company in December, 1929. Parish acquired control of this company's stock in exchange for worthless leases, the prosecutor alleged, and had Missouri-Kansas lend money to Panhandle for the purchase of gas reserves.

"A $40,000,000 pipe line project was next announced," Hagan said, "and the stockholders thought they would own this property, although it actually belonged to Panhandle. Parish advertised Mo-Kan had $27,000,000 on hand to build the line. Actually Mo-Kan had a little more than $4,000,000 with debts against this amount.

"Parish & Co. now owed Mo-Kan $19,000,000 for stock it had sold. This money had been used to rig the market. In June, 1930, Parish complained that there were stock raids on his company."

Missouri-Kansas was knocked down from $36 a share to $21 on June 16, 1930, and Parish owed his brokers $3,200,000 for the day. To pay this amount, Hagan declared, certificates of deposit of the Kentucky Natural Gas company, a subsidiary of Missouri-Kansas, were given to the brokers—"a case of embezzlement against the stockholders," the prosecutor said.

"The $19,000,000 indebtedness of Parish & Co. to Misouri Kansas was canceled by a "wrongful, immoral plot," in which Parish turned over unsold stock and "unconscionable profits" from Panhandle to the parent company, Hagan asserted.

When the National Supply company threatened receivership proceedings against Missouri-Kansas for a debt of $5,000,000 Parish and his associates "broke their promise to stockholders," the prosecutor declared, by selling a half interest in the pipe line to the Columbia Oil and Gasoline company for $9,960,000. The National City Company of New York was given $20,000,000 of bonds of the Panhandle at 90 cents on the dollar, further reducing Missouri-Kansas' equity in the pipe line, Hagan said.

End of "Glittering Edifice."

"Mo-Kan had now lost all its physical properties by transfer and sale without the stockholders' knowledge," he continued, "and was reduced to a mere holding company. The stock declined to $1 a share and less, and the stockholders now have an equity of only 12½ per cent in the pine line, with heavy debts against that interest which practically wipe it out. The receivership was in March, 1932. That was the mournful fate of a once glittering edifice built on the shifting sands of deceit and misrepresentation."

Hagan charged that Parish and his wife had taken "secret" profits amounting to $750,000 in one stock manipulation and at other times had taken more than $200,000. Parish and Maddin also took a wrongful profit of $63,570 in another transaction, the prosecutor alleged.

The earnings of Missouri-Kansas were misrepresented to permit the issuance of stock dividends, Hagan asserted, and even with the collapse of the company in sight, he declared, the officials were advertising and sending letters on the theme: "Follow the du Ponts and make profits."

CHOOSE ALEXANDRA PALACE FOR BRITISH TELEVISION STATION

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 3.—Alexandra palace, huge and rambling exhibition hall in northeast London, was chosen today to be the first television transmitting station in the British empire.

With its four 145 foot towers and its effective transmitting range, government experts found it a suitable site after eight weeks of exhaustive tests. The transmissions will be radiated from an aerial nearly 600 feet above the sea level, as compared with the 430 foot mast now used in Berlin. The transmitters will operate at about ten kilowatts capacity and cover a radius of twenty-five miles.

Alexandra palace, built in 1873, covers 7½ acres, with 200 acres of public park land surrounding it. It is now used for trade shows, band concerts, and dances. It has a skating rink and race course.

70 JAP WARSHIPS GREET EMPEROR OF MANCHUKUO

TOKIO, April 4.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—A magnificent display of Japan's sea power such as never before has greeted a friendly foreign visitor welcomed Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo to Japanese waters today.

The combined fleet, commanded by Vice Admiral Sankchi Takahashi and including more than 70 warships, halted their maneuvers west of Kyushu and lined up in full dress array to receive the Hiyei, naval flagship of the Japanese emperor, carrying Kang Teh. The Hiyei for nearly an hour steamed majestically between the long lines of battleships, cruisers, and auxiliaries. The naval host kept up a continuous salvo of 21 gun salutes as the guest emperor passed by.

PRESERVE BOARD DEBATES BUYING OF SKOKIE LAND

Action on $100,349 Purchase Proposal Deferred

The county commissioners, sitting as the forest preserve board, yesterday considered purchasing 75 acres of Skokie marsh land west of Glencoe and Hubbard Woods for $100,349 to add to the preserves. Action was deferred after Commissioner H. Wallace Caldwell attacked the proposal, remarking that a considerable amount of bonds previously issued for the acquisition of forest preserve land is in default.

It also was pointed out that the Skokie land was marshy and that the price proposed was at the rate of almost $1,338 an acre. Some of the commissioners said they wanted to see the property before taking any action. It was recalled that since the depression began the board has followed a policy of buying no more land.

Recommended by Citizens' Group.

Supt. Charles G. Sauers of the forest preserve came to the front in defense of the proposed purchase. He said that purchase of the Skokie land had been recommended by a citizens' advisory committee headed by Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company. The property under consideration is owned by none persons.

The argument advanced in favor of the acquisition was that it would provide more work for units of the civilian conservation corps now quartered in the Skokie area. The CCC men would drain the land and build more lagoons, it was said. Supt. Sauers said that relief and CCC workers have done $2,000,000 worth of labor in the forest preserves.

"This is a worthy project," said Clayton F. Smith, president of the board. "The advisory committee should be requested to carry on a campaign of publicity so that the public will sympathize with the acquisition of this property."

Caldwell Assails Proposal.

"How can we justify the expenditure of $100,000 when we already have 33,000 acres of forest preserves, when we have millions of dollars in real estate acquistion bonds in default, when current real estate tax collections are still half delinquent?" asked Commissioner Caldwell. "This board owes a moral obligation to the taxpayers and to the owners of the defaulted bonds. We had better think a bit before going ahead and buying land we don't need."

"I'm tired of advisory committees," said Commissioner Lucy Palermo, who opposed the purchase. "I think that this board, on whose shoulders the responsibility properly falls, should exercise its own judgment."

Mr. Smith and other commissioners then agreed that action on the matter should be deferred for a time. Smith qualified his earlier approval of the proposal.

URGES U. S. TO CANCEL SOVIET RECOGNITION; CHARGES PACT BROKEN

The United States should withdraw its recognition of the soviet government because there have been "wholesale violations" of the agreement upon which recognition was based, it was charged last night by Harry Jung, general manager of the American Vigilant Intelligence association. He spoke at a patriotic rally sponsored by the Woman's Association of Commerce at the Hamilton club.

"Almost before the ink was dry on the letter written to our President by M. M. Litvinov, soviet foreign minister, the coldly planned propaganda of the communists began to increase rather than abate," Mr. Jung declared. "This was in direct, deliberate violation of Litvinov's promises on behalf of his government that propaganda in this country should cease. Instead, it has been multiplied five times and the only sane thing to do is to withdraw our recognition of the soviet."

UNITED SHORTENS FLYING TIME TO N. Y. AND COAST

Shortening of its Chicago to New York schedule by 30 minutes and its New York to Los Angeles schedule by 105 minutes was announced by the United Air Lines yesterday.

Henceforth the Chicago-New York flights, of which there are eight round trips a day, will be made in four hours and twenty minutes each way, with twin motored Boeing planes that are 20 miles an hour faster than the ships previously used, according to W. A. Patterson, president.

Reduction of the time for the transcontinental flights was effected both by the speeding up of the eastern service and elimination of several intermediate stops. Under the new schedule passengers may leave the Pacific coast late at night and arrive in Chicago by noon the next day, Patterson said.

SENTENCE TWO IN FRAUD.

Found guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses yesterday, Randall Baron, 27 years old, an optometrist of Kankakee, and Rupert McCarthy, 26 years old, a paroled convict, were sentenced to 6 months in the Bridewell and fined $500 each by Judge Cecil C. Smith.

REPORT VERDICT FOR EX-WIFE OF BEDFORD-JONES

Read Finding in Balm Suit This Morinng.

A jury in Federal Judge William H. Holly's court reached a verdict at 8:40 o'clock last night in the $200,000 "heart balm" suit of Mrs. Helen Bedford-Jones, 53 years old, of Evansville, Ind., against Mrs. Mary Bernardin Bedford-Jones of Palm Springs, Cal., successor to the affections of Henry Bedford-Jones, wealthy writer of pulp magazine fiction.

After announcing they had arrived at a decision the jurors sealed their verdict and delivered it to a bailif, in accordance with Judge Holly's instructions. It will be opened and read at 10 o'clock this morning.

Report Big Damages.

While none of the jurors would discuss their deliberations, it was reported last night from numerous scurces that the verdict awarded a high sum of damages to the plaintif. The rumors fixed various sums ranging upward from a nominal sum to amounts in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The jurors' actions in reaching the verdict gave some support to the rumors that they had found for the plaintif. Retiring to consider their verdict at 4:53 o'clock, the jurors adjourned for dinner at 6:45. They resumed deliberating at 8 p. m. and forty minutes later announced that the verdict had been reached.

This led the rumor bearers to assume that a verdict for the plaintiff was reached before dinner and that the comparatively short time spent in deliberation after their return was merely to decide on the amount of damages.

Judge Simplifies Problem.

Before adjourning to the conference rooms the jury was instructed by Judge Holly that the only issue to be decided was whether Bedford-Jones' affections were alienated by his present wife or his first wife by her conduct.

The jurors were addressed in closing arguments by Attorney Royal Irwin for the plaintif and Attorney Earle Ewins for the defense.

"Bedford-Jones was just a playboy," Attorney Irwin told the jury. "He led his wife on until she was 50 years old, making her believe that he loved her. Why did he wait to leave her until a time when she was no longer attractive to men?

"From now on her chances are nil. If she were able to get another life partner, this would be a different matter."

Attorney Ewins defended the position of Bedford-Jones' present wife and urged the jurors not to consider the charge he owes his first wife $77,616 in alimony arrears, accumulated since their divorce.

"Mrs. Bernardin [the name of her first husband] was a grandmother at the time," declared the lawyer.

Assails "Ambition for Culture."

"Mrs. Helen Bedford-Jones was a woman of intense ambition and attempted to make her home a place of culture. But that culture never put a smile on a child's face or eased the life of a devoted husband."

Her daughter, "Wally," 20 years old, who lives with Bedford-Jones, testified against her mother during the trial.

Of the three rebuttal witnesses, Georgette Brianceau, a French maid in the first Bedford-Jones home, provided the most interest. She told of peeping over a banister, one night before Christmas, 1928, while Mrs. Bedford-Jones was in a hospital, and seeing the husband admit the then Mrs. Bernardin into the house.

Alaskan Volcano Belches Lava Into Sea for 3 Weeks

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 3.—(AP)—The Augustine island volcano, which started erupting three weeks ago after many years of inactivity, still is vomiting lava and ashes, two aviators reported today. Pilots Roy Dickson and George L. Johnson reported that the volcano is spewing heavy ashes for seventy miles in all directions, and that a heavy pall of smoke enshrouds its mouth much of the time. Rivers of lava, they reported, are running into the sea.

British Security Mission Leaves Poland Empty Handed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, April 3.—Capt. Anthony Eden, British lord privy seal, left Warsaw today, having concluded his European travels except for a short stopover in Czechoslovakia, where he will tell President Marsaryk what he has learned in the various chancelleries on the chances for peace in Europe.

The British statesman and his aids will fly to London from Prague tomorrow and will report at once to the cabinet.

The Warsaw conference produced little or no advance toward an "eastern Locarno" pact to guarantee the maintenance of the status quo. The Poles showed no sign of budging from their stand against entering any entangling alliances which might involve them in war. It remains to be seen whether Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, can move them when he comes at the end of the month.

Stresa Meeting Next.

Whether Laval thinks it will be worth while to try depends upon what happens at Stresa, Italy, during the latter part of next week when Premier Mussolini of Italy, Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, and Laval meet to go over the situation, and at Geneva, where the league council assembles on April 15.

Speculation now centers on whether the French will persist in their indictment of Germany's rearmament program as a violation of the Versailles treaty before the league council in view of the fact that Britain, Poland, and other powers at least tactily recognize the rearming as accomplished.

Plans "Pan-European" Security.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

LONDON, April 3.—Great Britain will go to Stresa April 11 determined to do all in her power to weld Europe's nations into one far-reaching security system, high sources said tonight.

A "pan-European" scheme with adequate enforceable provisions against aggression will be the British goal, it was stated, and Britain is ready to play the decisive rôle at the Italo-Franco-British discussion she expects will be required of her.

The detailed security proposals will be drafted after Capt. Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, returns from Moscow, Warsaw, and Prague.

Aim to Halt War Fears.

His reports will be collated with the impressions Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon gathered during his recent conversations with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler. Government quarters said they would be the basis of Britain's big push to halt the spread of war fears on the continent.

Dispatches from Paris said Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, is completing his own draft of security plans to be presented to the tri-power conference at Stresa.

Stresa Important to Italy.

The importance Italy attaches to the Stresa meeting was evidenced in reports from Rome that Benito Mussolini, who will preside, is bringing with him from the capital some twenty experts in international affairs, including the pick of his foreign office staf.

The British rôle at Stresa, it was stated in official quarters here, will be to prevent any extreme action which might scare the smaller powers out of participating in the security system.

There was belief in some quarters that Italy will present radical methods of military action, probably proposing an armed alliance against Germany; and France, it was feared, may view the situation similarly.

LITHS TO PROTEST NAZI RIOTS OVER MEMEL TRIAL

KAUNAS, Lithuania, April 3.—(AP)—The Lithuanian government, it was stated on good authority tonight, has decided to protest to Germany against anti-Lithuanian demonstrations and threatened reprisals against this country growing out of the sentencing of eighty-one Memel Nazis for plotting to seize the territory. It was also stated that Gov. Navakas of Memel had decided to resign.

The military court which on March 26 passed the sentences met in formal session today to read to the prisoners the exact text of the verdict.

Contrary to expectations, the court announced no reasons for its findings, but merely handed each prisoner a booklet of 119 pages containing these reasons. Previously the defendants had been told only the nature of their sentences. The court explained today that an appeal could be made within fourteen days to the Supreme court.

KILLED IN ROCK SLIDE.

Ottawa, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Don H. Rutherford, 20, of Pawnee, a CCC worker, was killed today while helping to open a new CCC gravel pit three miles from Marseilles. He was caught beneath a fall of rock and smothered to death.

GERMANY MAY END IMMUNITY OF DIPLOMATS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—Great excitement prevailed in Berlin diplomatic circles tonight when a mysterious announcement, hidden on the back page of the Berliner Tageblatt, aroused fear that Germany is preparing to discard diplomatic extraterritoriality. The announcement said:

"The Supreme court has ruled that 'business offices and homes of ministers accredited to Germany are not recognized as foreign territory.'"

The propaganda ministry said it assumed this referred to the offices and homes of commercial attachés and others who are not quartered in the official buildings of embassies and legations.

Nazis Collect $145,000,000 to Take Care of the Needy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—A total of $145,000,000 was collected for welfare purposes during a five month drive of the Nazi welfare association to take care of needy Germans in the winter months. This enabled authorities to help 13,500,000 destitute persons.

GERMANY'S PLAN FOR NAVY GIVEN O. K. BY SWANSON

Representation at Parley Also Favored.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—Indicating the American naval officials saw little objection to Germany's proposal for a 450,000 ton navy, Secretary Swanson at the same time today advocated representation of the reich at any future naval conference.

The secretary of the navy indicated his view of Reichsführer Hitler's naval plans, however, on continuance of the present American program to bring this country's navy to treaty strength by 1942.

Swanson's attitude on including Germany in any future naval limitations parleys, made known at his press conference, brought various reactions in the foreign capitals. A spokesman for Hitler said he was more interested in a strong army, but that Swanson's proposal was "interesting."

British Not Surprised.

British officials were described as not surprised, since Great Britain had advocated the inclusion of Germany in future naval talks at the London conferences. France, unswerving opponent of rearming Germany, declined to take what Paris called a "premature" stand on the suggestion.

Swanson's view of Germany's naval plans came forth despite the United States' separate peace treaty which repeats the Versailles act of limiting the German navy to 100,000 tons. He said he did not believe the present reich plan would affect the treaty ratio of Great Britain, to whom the proposal was made, or Japan. Apparently Swanson had not changed his skepticism over the possibility of a new naval agreement before Japan's denunciation of the Washington and London treaties becomes effective on Dec. 31, 1936.

Only His Personal Opinion.

The mustached Swanson made it clear that he was expressing only his personal opinion. The state department preserved close silence. Amid European tenseness over Hitler's demands the only previous official comment had been a plea by Secretary Hull for "sanctity of treaties" in which he did not call Germany by name.

Limited by the Versailles treaty to vessels of not more than 10,000 tons, Germany had attempted to make up for the deficiency with "pocket battleships" such as the Ersatz Preussen and two similar warships now being built. A 450,000 ton navy would be almost half the present American strength of about 1,000,000 tons. The maximum under the Washington and London treaties is 1,200,000 tons for the United States and Great Britain, and 760,000 for Japan.

New Air Supremacy Race Predicted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—A further increase in the British royal air force became almost a certainty tonight when Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon informed the house of commons that the German air fleet now equaled that of Great Britain. Simon said Reichsfuehrer Hitler had told him so during his [Simon's] recent visit to Berlin.

Simon failed to specify whether the German fleet included commercial airplanes capable of being converted into bombers, but THE TRIBUNE was officially informed that only first line war planes were meant.

(The British air fleet now numbers about 1,020 planes.)

Great Britain intends, as Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, announced recently, to maintain parity in the air with the strongest force within striking distance of the British Isles Since Germany is known to be building many more military airplanes, it is believed the British government will soon ask a new air appropriation.

Quashes Immediate Action.

An immediate move in this direction after Simon had made his statement was quashed by Prime Minister MacDonald, who turned down the request of Winston Churchill, Conservative insurgent, for an early debate on Great Britain's foreign policy and national defense. Churchill is an advocate of heavy British armament.

Sir Philip Sassoon, undersecretary for air, is particularly gloomy about the British position in the air. Addressing a meeting of the League of Nations union about the same time as Simon spoke in the house of commons, Sassoon said:

"There is reason to believe the pace of rearmament in Germany has been definitly accelerated."

After stating that Great Britain is only in fifth place among the air powers, he added:

"If we are content to remain as we are we should not long remain in front of Germany."

Defends Increase of Force.

The increase of the British air force by forty-one squadrons which is just getting under way is not provocative, Sassoon said. This increase was voted a few months ago, following Baldwin's statement that "our frontiers are on the Rhine."

Sassoon expressed hope that Simon's talks with Hitler might help bring about an air Locarno for western Europe, but other British statesmen feel that France will refuse to sign an aerial accord with Germany unless Germany signs an eastern Locarno.

Nazis Ban Italian Paper for Baring 'Designs on Ireland'

BERLIN, April 3.—(AP)—German authorities today banned the Italian newspaper, Gazetta Del Popolo, for having said Germany is planning to extend its aspirations to Ireland, where, the newspaper said, the reich intended to establish a "base of operations" against England.

STRESA ISLAND CUT OFF FROM WORLD FOR PARLEY ON SECURITY

STRESA, Italy, April 3.—(AP)—Isola Bella [beautiful island], where French, British and Italian foreign ministers will hold their momentous meeting April 11, already has been isolated from the rest of the world by formidable police forces.

Although tourists visiting Stresa have for centuries made the island their focal point, today none is permitted to visit it. Only workmen who are getting Borromeo palace in shape for the conference are allowed on the island and each of them is examined by police before he is permitted to land.

This is only one of many elaborate police precautions being taken to assure the safety of Sir John Simon and Pierre Laval, together with their aids, when the British and French foreign chiefs' airplanes are ready at nearby Besto Calende to patrol the Stresa region.

BAN ON WARLIKE RADIO SPEECHES URGED BY LEAGUE

GENEVA, April 3.—(AP)—The league of nations today sent to its members a draft convention designed to promote peace by preventing the broadcasting of matter likely to excite war emotions.

Under the convention the nations would agree that transmission from stations in their territories "shall not constitute incitement to war or provocative activities liable to lead to war."

They would undertake to ensure "especially at a time of crisis" the accuracy of information concerning international relations broadcast within their boundaries. The agreement would pledge the nations subscribing to it to send out at such times "instructive transmissions calculated to lessen tension and restore a peaceful atmosphere."

They would also agree to attempt to detect and abolish clandestine stations operated for propaganda purposes. The convention will be discussed at a special conference of the assembly.

RADICALS LOSE TAX AMENDMENT ARMS BILL FIGHT

"Mavericks" Are Routed by 258-71 Vote.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—A drastic "take the profits out of war" bill that was not radical enough to suit the radicals was tossed out of committee into the arena of the house of representatives today.

Written by Chairman John J. McSwain [Dem., S. C.] of the house military affairs committee, the measure would clothe the President with unprecedented powers of conscription over the citzenry and control over the commercial fabric of the nation.

The self-styled "mavericks," radical bloc, pitched into the bill on the grounds that it did not provide for the severe income and profits taxes proposed by the senate munitions committee. On a roll call late in the day the "mavericks" were routed by a vote of 258 to 71.

Make Attack on Rule.

Representatives Maury Maverick [Dem., Tex.] and Paul Kvale [F. L., Minn.], leaders of the radicals, were opposed to the rule under which the bill was being considered on the grounds that taxing amendments could not be offered.

"We who want to take the profits out of war," added Representative Gardner R. Withrow [Prog., Wis.], "are being placed in a parliamentary straitjacket."

Representative Kent Keller [Dem., Ill.], another "maverick," insisted that the McSwain bill would conscript labor but not capital.

Rising in defense of his measure, McSwain contended that taxing provisions were under the jurisdiction of the ways and means committee. Shortly after his speech was concluded the vote was taken and the house adjourned to continue the debate tomorrow.

The McSwain bill would authorize the President following the declaration of war to "freeze" prices at a certain level. In the sole discretion of the President would be any adjustment of prices up or down.

Adds to President's Powers.

The conscription provision would give the President the power "to draft into the service of the United States such members of the unorganized militia between the ages of 21 and 31 as he may deem necessary, subject to such conditions, exemptions, rules and regulations as the President may prescribe and publicly proclaim."

The President could, under the bill, take over control of industry, material resources and public services, commandeering them for the use of the government. There would also be licensing of manufacturers.

The penalty for violation would be a fine of $100,000, or a year in prison, or both.

MOTHER SUES TO BE GUARDIAN OF ALYCE M'HENRY

Fall River, Mass., April 3.—(AP)—Guardianship of Alyce Jane McHenry, 10 year old Omaha girl whose misplaced stomach and other organs were corrected a month ago, was sought today by her mother, Mrs. Luella Packard McHenry.

Mrs. McHenry declined to offer any explanation of her action.

Her attorney, John B. Cummings, said that under Nebraska statutes both Mrs. McHenry and her husband, Paul, ranked equally as guardians, but that under Massachusetts law the father is the natural guardian.

"This is not the time to discuss the petition," Mrs. McHenry said. "I have kept Alyce Jane's father well posted ever since she was admitted to the hospital."

A coroner's jury was unable yesterday to determine what caused the explosion of the gasoline tank on a 40 foot launch owned by the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company earlier in the day. The blast caused the death of William Bischof, 44 years old, 2012 Barry avenue, an engineer for the company. A verdict of accidental death was returned. The tank exploded while Bischof was filling the tank of the craft. The launch was tied to a pile driver in the river near 1106 North Branch street.

ROOSEVELT'S VESSEL IN FLORIDA WATERS ISOLATED BY STATIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., April 3.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was virtually marooned at sea today by static. Because of unfavorable radio conditions messages between the destroyer Farragut and the mainland were cut to a minimum.

The Farragut anchored off Conception Island during the night. The island lies in British waters about 300 miles east and slightly south of Miami. In the morning the President transferred as usual to Vincent Astor's yacht, Nourmahal.

The party went ashore for a short swim and sun bath. Though the President has failed to find fish rising to his bait for two days, he sought for a turn in his fortune later in the day. He fished through the waters of the Conception group.

No word was received as to how the change in location affected his luck.

In the afternoon the President returned to the Farragut and studied his mail and lolled about the deck of the Farragut.

that underbid you, I do hope the naval authorities will give all possible consideration to awarding to your company these contracts, and I certainly have been very happy to do all I could toward this end.

"Incidentally, as you suggested, the telegrams were charged to the Bath Iron works."

A third letter read into the record was a reply to MacGrath from Mr. Thebeau, expressing the thanks of the company for what he had done as follows:

"I want to thank you on behalf of this company for the interest and assistance you have given us in aiding us to obtain government contracts for two destroyers. I am returning the letter which you received from the secretary to the president, as I thought you might like it for your files."

Mr. Newell, the Bath company president, said he did not know MacGrath, but that he was known to Thebeau and was understood "to be a friend of James Roosevelt."

"I assume he was interested in doing what he could for us in the hope that he would get some Bath Iron works insurance," Newell testified.

Thebeau Takes Stand.

Thebeau was then called to the stand and he said he knew very little about MacGrath.

"I met him and he said he knew Louis Howe very well and would write to him about the Bath bids," Thebeau asserted.

The witness said he understood that MacGrath had an insurance agency and represented a number of companies, although the letters he wrote were on the stationery of the New York Life Insurance company. When reminded that MacGrath mentioned a telephone request from Thebeau to wire President Roosevelt and Secretary Swanson, the witness explained it as follows:

"I telephoned him that if he did have any influence to go ahead and use it."

"Were there any other attempts on your part to get influence lined up?" asked Chairman Gerald P. Nye [Radical, N. D.]. The witness said he didn't recall any.

DEMOCRAT LEADS FIGHT IN SENATE ON DRUG BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—A Democrat, Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, led the fight in the senate against the Copeland-Tugwell food, drug, advertising, and cosmetic bill today as this measure, inferentially indorsed by President Roosevelt, proceeded from the minor amendment to the final debate stage.

Senator Bailey denounced the bill as an attempt to place vast dictatorial powers in the hands of a bureau "which will never be responsible to us and which, if it follows the example of some bureaus here, will not seek to be responsible to the Supreme court."

Cites Department Duties.

"I understand the department of agriculture was created to foster agriculture and not to govern advertising," Senator Bailey said. "It is inconceivable to me that it should take charge of medicine, cosmetics, and advertising. There might be an argument that the department has made such great triumphs in agriculture that it is seeking new worlds to conquer. But I believe that if some one should make that boast, I should agree that it had exceeded Sampson in the slaughter of pigs, but had fallen far short of doing as good work in the matter of cotton as has the boll weevil."

Wants Present Law.

Senator Bailey argued for the retention of the present food and drug law, with such amendments as changed conditions might require, and the enforcement of these amendments by the federal trade commission.

He agreed with Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] that the bill presents a new and revolutionary concept of law in that "false or misleading" advertising, branding, or labeling is prohibited. The present law is directed against "false or fraudulent" labeling.

RELIEF DANCING STIRS LAUGHTER OF NEW YORKERS

Outsiders Do Most of the Teaching.

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Three million dollars a year of the taxpayers' money is being spent, the Stryker relief investigating committee revealed today, to teach New Yorkers on relief eurhythmic dancing, "boondoggling," tumbling, hobby guidance, and "shadow puppets."

The instructors in most of these activities, hailing from Alabama, Indiana, Iowa, and points west, set a jammed board of estimate room screaming with laughter as the various projects, costing hundreds of thousands of dollars, were described by witnesses.

Despite these disclosures, the board of estimate today voted an April relief appropriation of $19,658,512. There was some heated argument before the funds were approved.

Miss Myra Jane Wilcoxon from Muncie, Ind., directs the "barefooted" dancing classes of the works division. That's one project hit upon by the city's $20,000,000 a month burocracy to end the depression and employ so-called "white collar workers." Attired in shorts and bloomers, she was Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker's star witness today.

Landlord on Relief Rolls.

More serious notes were struck when a landlord, understood by Aldermanic President Deutsch to own three houses, was revealed to be on the relief rolls. Perce R. Benton, head of the dance, music, and drama division of the works bureau, was asked, before he testified, to sign a waiver of immunity. Benton's testimony, however, won him the acclaim of both Chairman Deutsch and Counsel Stryker.

The high note of jollity was struck by Miss Wilcoxon. She said those in her classes, wearing shorts, bathing suits, "anything you can dance in," went through eurhythmic dances as a works relief project. She received $30 a week. Fourteen "master pupils" got $24 a week as pupils. Other registrants for the dancing class may be on work relief or may not; the classes are open to all.

"Does the pianist strike a chord and the class strike a posture?" Stryker asked concerning Miss Wolcoxon's pedagogic routine.

"We don't strike a chord and we don't strike a posture," she said. "We open the class with limbering-up exercises."

"Does the class all strike a posture with arms out like this?" asked Stryker, arms extended.

Miss Wilcoxon's answer was lost amid laughter. When all recovered from that it was explained that stretching and breathing exercises were used.

"Do your pupils weigh from 110 to 180 or 190?" he asked.

"I never saw one weighing 190!" retorted Miss Wilcoxon.

Miss Wilcoxon said she had suggested the dancing classes and had known Miss Grace Gosselin, assistant to Col. William J. Wilgus, works bureau chief, for twenty years. Miss Wilcoxon was much distressed by the ridicule to which her project was subjected today.

Millions for Play Projects.

According to figures supplied by Harold Meinicker, assistant counsel, the play activities have cost the city $1,900,000 since last June. They are to cost $1,287,000 until July 31, this year.

That entire $3,000,000 program is in charge of Miss Louise Edwards, soft spoken Alabaman. She was at one time director of dramatics at Chatham Hall, Chatham, Va., a town of 249. Her peak salary at any time, she testified on the stand, was $1,800 a year from the 50th street Y. W. C. A. from 1929 to 1932.

Recently Miss Edwards received a salary increase from $50 to $65 a week when all the other executives of the works division got increases, but she said today that that increase had been rescinded.

Then came "boondoggles." The subject was offered by Robert C. Marshall, "a training specialist" of Brooklyn. He came to New York from Springfield, Mass., in 1932. The recreational work under his direction includes lether and metal crafts, linoleum block making, three ply carving, and "boondoggles."

"What are they?" President Deutsch asked.

"I spend a good deal of time explaining," Marshall said. "Boondoggles is simply a term applied back in the pioneer days to what we call gadgets today, to things men and boys do that are useful in their everyday operation or recreation or about their homes."

Marshall added there was no popular demand for the "boondoggle" or shadow puppet courses.

CONFEREES TALK ON LABOR COSTS OF WORKS BILL

Glass' Views Clash with President's.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's four billion 880 million dollar work relief bill still remained in a legislative snarl this evening. Senate and house conferees again had failed to agree on limitations as to the percentage of money that shall go for direct labor.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], chairman of the senate appropriations committee and of the conference, insisted that the 900 million dollar allocation for state and municipal projects be limited to enterprises in which one-fourth of the cost would be for direct labor.

One-third for Labor Now.

The bill, as it now stands, provides for a one-third direct labor cost, but Glass and the other senate conferees are willing to compromise on one-fourth.

The house conferees, inspired by the administration, countered with a proposition to permit the one-third provision to stay, but to permit the President to construe it. In other words, he would determine whether one-third of the cost of a project was represented by direct labor. That was not acceptable to Senator Glass.

See Blow to Projects.

Administration leaders insist the labor clause will prevent not only most types of state and municipal construction, but slum clearance and rural electrification. Senator Glass, however, believes the provision would serve only to prevent the taking over or construction of public power plants.

CONDUCTOR WINS TRIBUNE'S PRIZE FOR POLITENESS

Smiles as He Changes $5 for Haughty Woman.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Conductor No. 10106 on the Vincennes street car line won THE TRIBUNE'S $25 politeness award yesterday by demonstrating how a man, even if he lacks Chesterfieldian urbanity and polished diction, may be genuinely courteous. He is John Devane of 1529 Devon avenue.

A reporter, riding on the Chicago surface lines in search of polite conductors, found them plentiful. Boarding at Grand avenue an Indiana car going south on State street, the reporter overheard an altercation between an elderly man with a hearing device in his ear and a conductor whose cap bore the number 8192.

A Complainer Pays His Fare.

The customer made up for his feeble hearing by his powerful voice. He upbraided the conductor for insinuating he was trying to get out of paying his fare. He said he often had used a transfer before and that it never was questioned. The conductor remained calm and the man paid. The conductor then answered the reporter's questions affably enough.

Other conductors were agreeable. No. 4964 on a State street car, when asked where the reporter could find a Milwaukee street car, replied:

"On Madison and Dearborn. Too bad, you'll have to walk over a block. Still, it's a nice spring day. You shouldn't mind so much."

No. 9098 on a Milwaukee car told the reporter where she could see a good moving picture show.

The Old Big Bill Maneuver.

Later in the day when the sunny spring morning had changed to a cold, rainy afternoon, conductor No. 10106 was encountered. The reporter offered him a $5 bill in a dripping hand.

"I can't cash that, lady," he said.

"All right," the reporter replied, trying to create an impression of imperiousness. "I'll get off."

For a moment it appeared that the conductor was going to let this paragon of queenliness get off his street car. He went on taking other fares.

Politeness Comes from the Heart.

At that, the conductor silently began digging in his pockets. He produced first one, then two, then three soiled dollar bills, plus two 50 cent pieces and another dollar in change, minus seven cents.

Somewhat sheepishly he handed it to the reporter.

"Now let's have your five," he said soothingly. "Did you think I was going to let you get out in the rain?"

ROBS POULTRY MAN OF $515.

A gunman yesterday held up Max Riske, owner of a poultry market at 5071 Broadway, when Riske stopped his truck at Fulton street and Ogden avenue, and robbed him of $515.

HOW U. S. FIXED ILLINOIS RELIEF TOLD TO HOUSE

But Committee Isn't Sure It's Fair Figure.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 3.—[Special.] —An attentive house listened today to the report of the special committee led by Benjamin S. Adamowski, sent to inquire of Washington what reasoning was used in demanding that Illinois raise 36 millions annually for relief. The trip cost $450.

The gist of the report was that the federal emergency relief administration had "arbitrarily" fixed the 36 millions figure.

It was added that if a lesser amount was raised it was "possible' 'the amount of relief to each family would be reduced corespondingly. It was asserted the FERA is satisfied with the present method of relief administration, by state commission, in Illinois.

See Slap for Legislature.

No comment was made on the floor after the report was read. Some members remarked privately that the FERA's answer was a firm, courteous, hint to the legislature to confine its relief activities to raising the allotted cash. These members appeared, however, satisfied with the committee of inquiry's expression that:

"We concur in the above report as a correct statement of the position of the FERA on the matters and things therein contained.

"We do not, however, accept the conclusions of the FERA as to the amount stated that Illinois should raise for relief for the year 1935, the method of computation by which that amount was arrived at, or the fairness and justice of the distribution of the relief load among the various states of the union."

Washington Methods Explained.

Three methods were used at Washington in computing the amount of relief funds to be raised by the various states, according to the committee's report.

Under the first method the states are grouped according to wealth and income. Illinois fell into group 2, with Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Maine and Virginia, for which a $5 per capita figure is used. Applying this figure to Illinois' population the resultive sum of approximately 33 millions is regarded as a reasonable relief contribution.

Under the second method employed at Washington a so-called model tax levy was used as a measuring stick. This was explained as a levy on model taxes among which would be included income, ad valorem, automobile, real and personal property taxes. If applied to Illinois the approximate amount raised would be 35 millions.

The third Washington method was to approximate 2 per cent of the 1933 retail sales in this state. That was said to give a figure of approximately 34½ milllons. All three methods were applied to Illinois.

"The committee was informed," read the report, "that because of the figures under these three headings, and taking Illinois into consideration as a state from the standpoint of its ability to raise funds for relief purposes, the FERA 'arbitrarily' fixed the figure at 36 millions.

Fear Loss to Other States.

"That if Illinois felt that it could not raise the 36 millions it was possible that the federal government, instead of increasing the allottment to the state, which was claimed as impossible because of the fact that other states would suffer in proportion, would reduce the amount of relief money paid to each family in order to affect the difference between 36 millions and whatever sum the legislature might provide for relief purposes."

No consideration was given by the FERA, the Adamowski committee report states, to the amount of money paid by any state into the federal treasury through taxation. The reason given for such policy was that the federal income from some states is paid by residents of other states in the form of import duties, tobacco or automobile taxes.

The committee report then related that the FERA has no objection to cash relief. Harry L. Hopkins, FERA head, believes, it was said, that turning the relief administration in Illinois over to the complete control of local governmental units, without adequate state control, is bound to result in a maladministration of relief and an inadequate provision for the unemployed.

Repays the $10.38 Relief He Got Three Years Ago

After being off the relief rolls for nearly three years, a man returned to the Cicero office of the Cook county bureau of public welfare and repaid the value of the relief given him, $10.38, it was announced yesterday. Officials withheld his name, but said he is married and has a child.

TEXAS ARRESTS 600 TRANSIENTS AT RELIEF STATION

San Antonio, Tex., April 3.—[Special.]—Accommodations for nearly 600 transients, arrested at a federal relief station today for investigation, were provided in the Bexar county courthouse basement tonight.

This action came after Federal Transient Director J. L. Boswell declared future responsibility for feeding and lodging the men rested on Sherif Albert West Jr., whose department arrested them.

The wholesale arrests were made after a party of local and Rio Grande valley officers swooped down on the relief station and captured James D. McAllister, 36, pardoned convict, who later was reported to have confessed he robbed and shot to death Percy A. Calkins, Houston salesman.

West, declaring that Gov. James V. Allred and Gust Jones of the United States department of justice, supported his action, ordered the 600 herded into the jail yard and finger printed. He soon announced that one man had been identified as Pete Garcia, said to be a penitentiary fugitive.

Several days will be required to complete the finger printing check. West said he believed a gang of criminals was operating out of the transient station.

RELIEF HALTED TO GET WORK DONE ON FARMS

Mound City, Ill., April 3.—[Special.] —Because farmers are complaining they cannot get help in Pulaski county, all work relief was cut off in its rural sections this week. It will not be resumed until the farmers are supplied with labor. The same tactics were used last year to get strawberry pickers. Many persons have refused farm work, preferring to get relief doles.

TAX APPRAISER TRIES SUICIDE.

Leonard Carrothers, 37 years old, an appraiser in the office of the county assessor, attempted suicide yesterday by slashing his wrists with a razor in his home at 438 North Pine street. He was taken to the Psychopathic hospital for observation.

ATTACKS $76,800 BILL FOR RELIEF OFFICE MACHINES

County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly yesterday criticized the Illinois Emergency Relief commission for spending $76,800 a year for the rental and expenses of business machines. He said the work could be performed by persons on the relief rolls. He also attacked the assertion of relief officials that the 191 additional employés required to replace the machines could not be found among the 550,000 persons on relief in Cook county.

"The change from the machine to the manual method certainly ought to be made," said Mr. Kelly, who is chairman of the public service committee of the county board. "The difference in costs would be slight and there might even be a saving. Surely there are 191 family heads on relief who would be glad to take the jobs at $75 a month."

Figures obtained at relief headquarters yesterday indicate that less than 25 per cent of the employés are from the relief rolls. A survey of the unemployment relief service in Cook county some time ago showed that only 21.7 per cent of the 2,557 staf members had been relief clients. Of 777 employés in Chicago relief stations only 21.2 per cent were taken from the relief rolls.

RELIEF WORKER ON GRILL OVER BIRTH CONTROL

Columbus, O., April 3.—[Special.]—Denials that relief workers gave out advice on birth control or had any connection with an alleged illegal operation on a Columbus relief client were made today by Virgil W. Hall, Franklin county case worker.

Testifying at a legislative relief investigating committee hearing, Hall was subjected to a searching examination regarding an affidavit made by a Columbus woman that she was ordered by a case worker to have an illegal operation performed.

The affidavit was made public by Gov. Martin L. Davey who is now embroiled in a bitter dispute with Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

Hall was questioned by Senator Verner Metcalf of Washington county.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

DRIVER LICENSE BILL SCRAPES BY 1ST HOUSE TEST

24 of 40 on Committee Fail to Vote.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 3.—[Special.] —The O'Grady drivers' license bill, supported by civic organizations from all parts of the state, was approved by the house judiciary committee late this afternoon, with but eleven of the committee of forty voting yea.

Only twenty-three, barely more than enough for a quorum, were in attendance, although Chairman Sinnett had arranged for today's hearing more than a week ago. Five voted nay, while seven avoided committing themselves, by responding "present" to the roll call.

How They Voted.

Supporters Crowd Room.

The committee room, adequate in size for ordinary purposes, was overflowed with advocates of the drivers' license when the hearing was started. Those from Chicago included: George W. Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee; Robert H. Nau, Chicago Association of Commerce; Sidney J. Williams, National Safety council; George Trevor, Chicago Safety council; Joseph H. Braun, Chicago Motor club; Si Mayer, Automobile Club of Illinois; Leslie Sorenson, Chicago trafic engineer; and L. T. Brown, City club.

Mr. Williams, as one of the principal speakers among the proponents, argued that states with a drivers' license law had reduced their accident rate per gallon of gasoline consumption by 25 per cent during the last eight years, while accidents on a fuel consumption basis had risen 14 per cent in Illinois.

Pay Homage to Pony Express

On the 75th anniversary of first pony express linking St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Cal., in 10 days, Broncho Charlie Miller, last surviving rider, delivers gift of New York for California officials by pony to Stewardess Joan Hettinger and Pilot Hi Little of transport plane which traverses the continent in 18 hours. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Planes Fly Route

St. Joseph, Mo., April 3.—(AP)—Swift airplanes spanned the western skies tonight, carrying mementos of the days of the pony express which began service 75 years ago tonight. The mementos had been carried to the waiting plane by three relays of youthful horsemen garbed as pony express riders.

The relics were a gavel made from wood of the old Pike's peak stables here and a picture of the pony express memorial. They were sent by plane to Sacramento. The old pony express route started here and ended in the California capital.

From the west a plane streaked toward St. Joseph bearing commemorative gifts from Mayor Arthur Ferguson of Sacramento and Gov. Frank F. Merriam of California to Mayor John Schuder here. The western end of the pony express had started at Sacramento. The relics from that city had been carried by riders to an airplane.

Seventy-five years ago tonight Johnny Fry, 17, had started to ride west and Harry Roff had started to ride east with the mails.

LIGHT IN NIGHT SKY IS STUDIED ON TEXAS PEAK

A study of the sources and distribution of the light in the night sky has been undertaken at the new McDonald observatory on Mount Locke, Tex., it was announced yesterday at the University of Chicago. The observatory is under the joint management of the University of Texas and the University of Chicago. Some preliminary results of the investigation, which is being made with an old 12 inch refracting telescope, the light being recorded with a photo-electric photometer, are given as follows:

The light of the night sky is made up of direct starlight; starlight which is scattered both by the earth's atmosphere and the matter in interstellar space; zodiacal light [from an imaginary belt in the heavens including the paths of the moon and all the principal planets], which is concentrated in the ecliptic (the sun's path) but which may extend over the entire sky; and the light originating within the atmosphere of the earth.

MELLON DENIES BANK CONTROL IN U. S. CROSS-QUIZ

Traces Story of Career While on Stand.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 3. — (AP) — Through hours of crossexamination today Andrew W. Mellon resisted the efforts of government counsel to have him admit he retained control of $10,000,000 in bank stocks while serving as secretary of the treasury.

The 80 year old banker calmly and steadfastly insisted that at the time he went into President Harding's cabinet in 1921 he had "absolutely sold" all of this stock to his brother, the late R. B. Mellon, and took no part in the operation of any banks or other companies.

Mellon did admit that he wrote President Hoover eight years later, when he still was treasury secretary, asking him to consult the attorney general for an opinion on a legislative inquiry into his eligibility.

Tells Story of Career.

Robert H. Jackson, representing the bureau of internal revenue in its effort to collect $3,089,000 in additional taxes for 1931 from Mellon, had the financier tell the story of his picturesque career; then he shifted to senate and house inquiries into Mellon's eligibility as a secretary of the treasury.

The attorney was trying to support his contention that Mellon actually dominated the 300 million dollar Union Trust company and through this domination was able to force "accomodation sales" whereby he established income tax reductions illegally.

Mellon emphatically denied his eligibility had been the subject of an inquiry by President Hoover or the president's cabinet.

Jackson then showed the witness a letter, dated March 8, 1929, asking the President to obtain from the attorney general an opinion on the senate inquiry into his eligibility.

Mellon said the signature on the letter was his, that he had "forgotten writing it, but I did."

Jackson produced two more Mellon letters taken from the files of the treasury department.

Sends Letter to Reed.

One, addressed to Senator David A. Reed on April 18, 1929, said the secretary understood the senate judiciary committee wished to know whether he was carrying on "trade and commerce" in violation of the law.

In this Mellon stated he had sold "every share of stock" in all banks and trust companies.

On Jan. 28, 1932, just before leaving the cabinet to became ambassador to the court of St. James's, Mellon wrote Hatton W. Sumners, chairman of the house judiciary committee, that his bank stock had been purchased by his brother.

Mr. Mellon displayed a keen recollection of his business affairs, recounting transactions from more than six decades of his career.

Now one of the world's richest men, he recalled that his family's banking fortune was founded almost exclusively on the good will of the banking firm, T. Mellon & Sons, left him by his father, Thomas Mellon. His father gave him no capital, he said.

COUNCIL TO MAKE INVESTIGATION OF MUNICIPAL COURT

Observer Finds Dignity Lacking, Hours Brief.

must the citizen appear downtown but the arresting officer, if the case is contested, also must come in from his outlying district station.

When some three hundred persons are crowded into the Trafic court the loss of time, both to the citizen and the policeman, can be appreciated.

As a matter of fact, the police do not appear in many cases, the judge warning the citizen that if he fights the case and a policeman is called in it will cost more and the fine will be heavier. With this warning many citizens pay the fine and go out grumbling.

A few judges hold court on Saturday, but the abolition of sessions is so general that city hall express elevators serving the court floors are shut down Saturday morning.

One Republican judge stated that his interpretation of the law is that all judges should hold court, or be available in their chambers, from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. during the week, and until 12:30 p. m. on Saturday. Practically no judge was found who maintains this schedule.

Judges Keep Own Hours.

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby admitted that the judges were more or less permitted to maintain their own hours on the bench.

"When a judge clears up his call," he said, he can, of course, go. Some do this by working through without a lunch hour. The judges are expected to work on Saturday," he added with a smile, "but by common practice it has become a habit to handle cases so that all day Saturday may be taken off."

The work done by outlying district judges may be considered from Sonsteby's assignment sheet listing the hours of court: Town Hall court, 9 a. m.; Racine avenue, 10 a. m.; Des Plaines street, 11 a. m.; California avenue, 9 a. m.; Fillmore, 10 a. m.; Stockyards, 9 a. m.; Wabash avenue, 10 a. m., and South Chicago, 9 a. m. The first three courts are assigned to one judge, the next two to one judge, and the next two to one judge. It is practically impossible to find a judge in an outlying court after 2 p. m.

A Sample Day in Court.

In the courts in the city hall and in the police building at 11th and State streets the hours are a little more regular. A sample day shows the following results: At 2:30 p. m. Judge Hayes, sitting in Boys' court, was the only judge on the bench. Attendants said that he had an unusually heavy call that day. All other courtrooms were vacant. In the city hall on the same day there were no judges sitting in the courts of Adamowski, Kapser, and Lyle at 3 p. m. On two days no judge was sitting in either building after 3 p. m.

The thirty-six associate judges, elected for a six year term, whose work has been described, are paid $10,000 a year.

The chief justice, elected for the same term and having concurrent powers with the associate judges, whom he has the authority of assigning, is paid $15,000 a year. In addition he has the filling of several juicy political jobs at his disposal. These are jobs for four assistants at $6,000 a year, one clerk at $7,500, one stenographer at $5,000, a special counsel at $6,000, and four other office jobs at approximately $2,500 each.

ELGIN HONORS TWO GIFFORDS, CITY FOUNDERS

On April 3, 1835, James P. Gifford and his brother, Hezekiah, founded the city of Elgin, naming it after an old Scottish hymn. In memory of those two men several thousand residents of the city joined yesterday in observing Founder's day, a celebration preliminary to the centennial observance planned for June 16 to 22.

Descendants of the Giffords and of Joseph Kimball, another pioneer, dressed in 19th century attire, rode in a covered wagon from the center of the city to Memorial park, where a replica of the Giffords' original log cabin stands. The Elgin High school band played and the school glee club sang the old hymn, "Elgin." Mayor Myron M. Lehman and Judge Frank E. Shopen of the city court spoke.

Mrs. Florence Warner Brown, a great-granddaughter of James Gifford, read passages from the old Gifford family Bible which was used at the first church services in Elgin. Elgin's seven civil war veterans, among them Walter Kimball, the second white boy born in the city, took part in the services.

'BOOKIES' CASH BONDS DILLINGER STOLE IN RACINE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 3.—[Special.]—Bonds stolen by John Dillinger, Indiana desperado, in a raid on a bank in Racine, Wis., Nov. 20, 1933, have been cashed in Indianapolis within the last three weeks.

Whether sale of some of the bonds in this city and the cashing of them in "bookie" establishments here had anything to do with the closing of handbooks by city police is the basis of considerable speculation.

Michael F. Morrissey, chief of police, said he has ordered an investigation of sale of the bonds here. It was said several Indianapolis men, responsible for appearance of the bonds, are sought by police.

That Dillinger, through former Indianapolis and Chicago connections, had arranged to dispose of his share of the stolen bonds prior to his death, was the opinion of police. Some of the securities were registered.

FARMERS' CHIEF WARNS AGAINST RADICAL PLANS

Heed Self-Interest, Smith Advises Business Men.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

American farmers will buy this nation out of the depression, Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, told more than 300 business men who attended the luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house yesterday.

There is grave danger ahead if farmers are forced to subscribe to radical plans of redistribution of wealth, the speaker warned in his discussion of "The Mutual Interest of Farmers and Business Men." He urged Chicago business men to approach the farm problems from the standpoint of self-interest.

Half Nation's Buying Power.

The ups and downs of the farm income are reflected in an increase or decrease in business, said Smith, pointing out that farmers and others depending directly upon American agriculture constitute 50 per cent of the buying or consuming power of all goods produced by mills and factories in this country. With this buying power removed, according to this farm leader, there is a tremendous reduction in employment, a decline in investment values, and the removal of possible profits.

Figures compiled by George E. Piper, Montgomery Ward & Co.' statistician, were quoted by Mr. Smith, showing that with each 10 per cent change in the national farm income there is reflected a change of 10 per cent in the total pay roll of the nation. A 10 per cent increase in farm income immediately reflects 25 per cent increase in gross profits of all reporting corporations, and has resulted in an 11 per cent increase in distribution of profits in the form of dividends from all enterprises. A 10 per cent change in national farm income, according to the Piper data, is reflected in a 10 per cent increase or decline in the value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange.

Direct Relationship of Profits.

In showing further the relationship of agriculture to business, Mr. Smith said that a 10 per cent increase in farm income resulted in a 30 per cent increase in profits of the United States Steel corporation. A 10 per cent change in farm income—whether up or down—is reflected in a 16 per cent change in profits of the International Harvester company; 22 per cent in profits of General Motors; 14 per cent in profits of United Fruit company; 10 per cent profits in International Shoe company; 8 per cent change in the profits of packers; 10 per cent in the profits of millers, and 12 per cent in the profits of large cotton manufacturers' plants.

Mr. Smith asserted that advocates of the agricultural adjustment program borrowed their plan from industry and business. He cited figures showing how implement manufacturers, cement makers, iron and steel companies, tire and textile concerns reduced their production in recent years to maintain prices.

Explains Farm Condition.

Until last year, he said, there was only a 6 per cent reduction in the production of agricultural products and price levels of farm commodities declined 63 per cent.

Chicago business men were asked by Mr. Smith to coöperate in applying to agriculture the same production adjustment principles that have been found successful in the manufacturing field.

SWITZERLAND MAY TAKE NAZI KIDNAPING CASE TO WORLD COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—The kidnaping in Switzerland of Berthold Salomon, alias Jacob, anti-Nazi journalist, which the Swiss charge was carried out by representatives of the German secret police, will be brought before an arbitration court, or, if this fails, before the world court at The Hague, German authorities were told by a Swiss diplomat today.

Germany's conflict with Switzerland has not been mentioned in the German press. German authorities told the Swiss minister his verbal protest yesterday was only a "reiteration of charges published in the Swiss and French papers and in those run by refugees." They asked for more evidence before complying with Switzerland's demand for the return of Jacob.

Meanwhile, Hans Wesemann, Nazi journalist, whom the Swiss arrested as one of the kidnapers, is said to have confessed. Swiss officials said Wesemann would be held in jail until Germany returns Jacob. The Swiss stress that they have no personal interest in Jacob, but demand his liberation "as a matter of principle, since Switzerland will not tolerate further violation of its sovereignty."

MODERN WORLD LACKS IN FAITH, STUDENTS TOLD

Prof. Adler Finds Fault with Scientists.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. Mortimer Adler, professor of philosophy of law at the University of Chicago, last night delivered a lecture to Northwestern university students which tended to upset a widespread notion that university students hear nothing except liberal or atheistic discourses on religion. He spoke before Prof. Baker Brownell's class in contemporary thought in Thorne hall on McKinlock campus.

He opened his lecture by calling others who have lectured on religious subjects before the class liberal "pragmatists and sophists.' These include Prof. Max Carl Otto, of the University of Wisconsin, and Prof. T. V. Smith and Prof. Eustace Hayden, of the University of Chicago.

He Admits Intolerance.

Prof. Adler confessed religious intolerance for himself which he said would go so far as to assert that in theory heretics should be "excommunicated and burned."

"They are to burn metaphorically in the world to come, so they might as well burn here," said he.

"Religion, like philosophy," said Prof. Adler, "does not change with time and place. It should be no different in a modern world than in a medieval or ancient world. But it is different. The modern world is opposed to religion partly because it lacks standards of belief. Hence we have a world of heterodoxies, imperfect religions and heresies which all amount to 'unbelief' or 'irreligion.'"

Scoffs at the Physicists.

Prof. Adler scoffed at the theological pronouncements of modern physicists such as Professors Eddington, Compton, Jeans and Millikan as incompetent guess work. He also criticied Protestant and Jewish liberal clergy "who are shaken in their theology at every change in scientific knowledge.

"These have no faith," he said, explaining that there can be no conflict between the truths of science, of reason and of faith.

He prophesied that the achievement which will end the corruption of the modern world will be a synthesis of science, philosophy, and religion.

DISCOVER BODIES OF FARM COUPLE HIDDEN IN WELL

Fredericksburg, Va., April 3.—[Special.]—Apparently the victims of robbers, the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Coleman, farm couple, were found today stuffed in a well on their farm near here. Their home had been ransacked of valuables.

Search for the couple was made after a farm hand found the house vacant when he reported for work. He notified officers and they found the bodies hidden in the well.

The body of the 65 year old woman was discovered first. Wounds about the head indicated she had been beaten. After the removal of her body, officers found that of her 75 year old husband. He had been shot in the head.

An automobile belonging to the Colemans, which was missing, was reported seen last night at a filling station near here. State police said they were informed a colored man was seen in the car.

They Tried "Moist-Throat" Method! "NEXT DAY OUR COUGHS WERE GONE!"

"Jackie and I coughed our heads off," says Mrs. P. Fernandez, Providence, R. I. "Doctor said 'Pertussin.' Next day our coughs were gone!"

WHEN you catch cold, sticky mucus clogs your throat's moisture glands. That's because the healthy secretions of these glands have thickened or dried. Your throat feels raw—tickly—you cough. To relieve coughing, you must "unclog" these glands and so moisten the throat. PERTUSSIN does just that. Sticky phlegm loosens. Relief—quick. Get a bottle now.

SEES U. S. FORCED TO FORM ANTI-JAP ECONOMIC BLOC

Pictures World Divided Into 5 Great Spheres.

BY PIET VAN'T VEER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, April 3.—The phenomenal industrial and commercial development of Japan, outstanding example of the post-war economic realignment of the world, may cause the United States, and the areas closely affected by it economically, to form a defensive "sphere of economic influence." This is the belief of Dr. Hendrikus Colijn, Dutch premier and noted economist.

Already the world's changing economic setup has caused three huge nationalistic developments, the premier told leading Dutch and Dutch Indian industrialists in an address.

Developments Are Listed.

These developments, he said, are:

FIRST—Formation of a separate economic unit by the 150 to 200 million people of Greater Russia.

SECOND—Establishment of a closed economic unit by the British empire for its 500 million people.

THIRD—Efforts—under the auspices of Japan—to organize Asia into another distinct and independent sphere of economic influence.

Should the American "sphere" become a fact, there will remain, outside these four distinct economic entities, only a divided Europe, which will have ceased to be a factor in world economics, said Dr. Colijn, whose standing as an economist was recognized when he was made president of the world economic conference in London.

Urges Dutch Restrictions.

As for the line of conduct which the Netherlands must follow, the premier said this country must continue to export and must introduce import quotas. If Dutch exports should cease, he said, the Netherlands would have no further opportunity for industrial development.

The present world crisis contains many ordinary economic elements. But post-war difficulties are due in part to the necessity for reorganizing industries which had been producing for war into industries producing for peace, and due partly to war debts and the peace treaties, Dr. Colijn said.

But the rapid penetration of Japan into markets formerly enjoyed by European countries and the United States is an outstanding cause of the present economic disorder, he said. He pointed out that the realignment in world economic organization being experienced now compares with that which took place after the development of the United States. And in the development of both the United States and Japan, he asserted. European capital, intellect and labor were important influences.

Cites Japanese Rise.

Dr. Colijn pointed out that in 1900 Japan was hardly noticed as an industrial producer. Its exports were negligible. In 1914 the production of the Japanese metal industry was valued at about $40,000,000; its chemical industry, $150,000,000, and its textile factories, $400,000,000. Between 1914 and 1920, he said, Japan's production in the metal industry rose to $200,000,000, that of the chemical industry rose to $500,000,000, and that of the textile industries to $1,660,000,000.

This great expansion was reflected in imports, Dr. Colijn recalled. While, for example, Great Britain as principal exporter to Asiatic countries from 1914 to 1929 saw its exports to those countries increase by 11 per cent, Japanese exports to Asia jumped 300 per cent.

Japan has continued to penetrate wherever the doors were not hermetically sealed, Colijn said, until now even in the British mandated Iraq, Great Britain's share of textile imports is but 10 per cent, while that of Japan is 70 per cent.

LEG SHRINKING DURING 3 YEAR SLEEP OF GIRL

One of the legs of Patricia Maguire, Oak Park sleeping sickness victim, has grown shorter than the other one during her long slumber. This was disclosed for the first time last night after a report of her physician, Dr. Eugene F. Traut, was published in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Her right leg, the doctor said, is now a half inch shorter than her left, and its circumference at the thigh is an inch less. The change in leg lengths resulted despite the fact that regular massages have been given to keep her muscles in good shape during her three year slumber.

Patricia began to slumber on Feb. 15, 1932. In recent months she has shown signs of a gradual awakening in her home at 523 Clarence avenue, Oak Park.

Circuit Judge Burke yesterday awarded $2,500 damages to Mrs. Joanne Gerulis, 2457 West 45th place, in her personal injury suit against Michael Lunecki, 2516 West 46th street, a butcher. Mrs. Gerulis charged she suffered severe injuries when she was attacked by Lunecki's police dog last July 10. Evidence showed the dog jumped over a foor foot enclosure and attacked her as she was passing through the alley in the rear of the butcher's shop. Lunecki said he kept the dog to protect his chickens.

TWO TRAINMEN DIE IN FREAK FREIGHT WRECK

Ottawa, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Two trainmen were killed and some eighteen cars derailed here tonight in a freak crash involving two freight trains of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad.

The trains were passing near the Rock Island station on the north edge of the city when the brake beam of a tank car on the westbound train broke. This hurled the car into the path of the fast Chicago bound freight.

The locomotive of the latter train was derailed and crashed into the building of the King Hamilton factory, farm implement manufacturers, situated beside the tracks. Richard Wolf, 55 years old, the engineer, and William House, 50 years old, the fireman, both of Blue Island, were killed.

Most of the cars derailed were on the 40 car Chicago bound train, and track was torn up for some two hundred feet.

Freight Train Wrecked.

Iowa City, Ia., April 4 (Thursday).—(AP)—Fourteen cars of an eastbound Rock Island freight train jumped the rails at Tiffin, nine miles west of here, early this morning and plowed into the station. First reports said no one was injured. The station was reported to be virtually demolished. A number of the derailed cars contained live stock.

Divorce Suit Filed by Vaudeville Actress

Mrs. Batchelor charged desertion. The two were married in 1928 and separated March 15, 1932. Mrs. Batchelor is appearing at a theater here in a vaudeville act.

COUPLE SEIZED FOR QUIZ IN DEATH OF CHICAGO GIRL

Los Angeles, Cal., April 3.—[Special.]—A ruby ring and a marriage license tonight confronted Ernest Hill, 26 years old, and Mrs. Rose Tiley, 24 years old, who were held by police on suspicion of being involved in the death on March 15 of Marie Yvonne Ritzl, 25 years old, of Chicago.

Miss Ritzl was found hanged in her room, and the immediate verdict was suicide.

Tonight, on an anonymous tip that narcotics dealers might be found, police raided the room occupied by Hill and Mrs. Tiley and arrested both. In the room they found a license for Hill to marry Miss Ritzl, newspaper clippings telling of her death, and a ruby ring which police said belonged to her.

Investigation into Miss Ritzl's death was reopened immediately and Hill and Mrs. Tiley were held on suspicion of the murder and suspicion of violating anti-narcotics laws.

A WELL-EARNED VICTORY.

The congratulations which Mayor Kelly is receiving are well deserved. His overwhelming victory measures the appreciation by the community of the invaluable services which the mayor contributed to Chicago in a time of great stress. His competent and economical administration and his successful fight on organized criminality have won the confidence of the voters.

The support which the mayor received was intended to encourage him to continue along the same lines. The policies which have been approved should be adhered to. They are sound policies for the city and they are popular with the voters.

Mayor Kelly is a man of settled character who is not likely to be swept off his feet by flattery and hysteria. This is fortunate because overwhelming political victories have been known to go to the head. Mayor Kelly can be counted upon to keep his balance. He will not abandon sound policies for the political extravaganzas conceived by the more hysterical among his followers. He will not, in short, fall into the mistake which has made the Roosevelt administration—which also was swept into office on a tidal wave of votes—ridiculous in the eyes of sober men and women.

PRE-NEW DEAL CITIZEN.

Interest lingers over a paragraph in the Wisconsin news reporting the passing of Isaac Belongia, a pioneer farmer who, at his death at 84 years, was survived by 95 direct living descendants. Inquiry confirmed intuition that Belongia had been a sturdy patriarch who never had been paid to kill any little pigs nor to plow under any growing crops.

He had worked with his hands to clear the fields which supported him and his increasing family. None of the 95 descendants ever has leaned on the government for support or relief. Each was taught as he matured that he must support himself, and all have succeeded without ostentation in doing so.

This aged husbandman, who lived a long, full life without attracting attention outside his own neighborhood, had been a citizen of value beyond the calculation of the Wallaces, the Ickeses, and the Tugwells, who, if he were still alive, would give him lessons on how to run his affairs.

He belonged to a generation that would have been scandalized at the assumption that any one owed him a living beyond that which his industry earned and his integrity maintained.

MAURICE PROVIDES A MORAL.

In Maurice Chevalier's new film he plays the part of a French vaudeville actor with a gift for impersonation. Among those he impersonates on the stage is a titled Parisian banker. The imitation is so clever that he is engaged to play the banker in the banker's own home. The good old theme of mistaken identities makes one more farce.

The American audience has no difficulty accepting the preposterous assumption that one man can impersonate another so skilfully that wives and mistresses are taken in. What stumps us is the actor's excess of humility in his relations with persons of the world of high finance and high society. He quite frankly regards himself as of a lower order. He accepts, as a matter of course, the idea that the banker is the better man. The actor's manner is that of the court jester in the presence of nobility. He seems to say, "Yes, I know I am good at my line, but I am not going to presume that because I am a good actor I am worthy of the respect of superior beings. No, indeed. I know my place and it is well below yours."

France is a republic and in many essential respects a democratic republic, but France is in Europe and the gulf between American and European democracy is as wide as the Atlantic ocean. In the few surviving European democracies men are equal before the law, but we go much further than that. We not only say, we believe, that no man has a right to think of himself as of a superior order of humanity. If he has this notion he is held in disesteem and it is every one's business to take him down a peg. Likewise, a man who deliberately demeans himself is regarded as contemptible.

Probably we acquired this fundamental democracy on the frontier. Wherever it came from, it is here. Servility is not unknown in America, but there is less of it here than in any other country, possibly excepting Australia. That is why Europeans are frequently amazed and generally uncomfortable in the presence of the American taxi driver, elevator boy and train conductor. These persons are not awed by any one. They are almost always helpful, but never assume that they are doing themselves a kindness when common sense tells them they are doing a favor for some one else.

Perhaps, as some critics of our society have said, we do call too many people by their first names and permit too many people to take liberties with our sacred dignities. Possibly so; but there are few Americans who will admit it. Nothing makes us more uncomfortable than an excess of humility in our presence. We would rather be called Bud than sir. When that trait disappears from our society, much of what we prize as unique in American life will have disappeared with it.

SPOKESMEN FOR A CONQUERED PROVINCE.

A committee of five members of the Illinois legislature went to Washington to find out who had said Illinois must contribute 36 million dollars for relief and how the figure was arrived at. The committee has now reported. The delegation was greeted with an insult. The relief administrator, Mr. Hopkins, left town the day before the delegation had arrived, although the appointment had been made well in advance of the delegation's arrival.

The experience must have been a thoroughly unpleasant one for the delegation, but the whole country is much the wiser for it. The burocrats have at last been forced to explain how their relief quotas are reached. Every one knows that the distribution of the federal funds is not regulated by law; there is nothing but rules of thumb to guide the burocrats and they may depart from their own rules at their own pleasure. States are arbitrarily divided into classes and varying standards are then applied. Obviously the system is susceptible of abuse and obviously the abuses have been grave. The solidly Democratic south and the politically overrepresented west have been unduly favored at the expense of other states, including Illinois.

The burocrats ventured no defense of their record. With characteristic arrogance the relief officials told the spokesmen for Illinois what Illinois must do. To the burocrats Illinois is a conquered province which will pay the tribute demanded of it and be thankful that the conquerors have exacted no more. The fact that Illinois, as the tax returns show, is already contributing more than a fair share of the costs of relief is a matter of no moment. That, presumably, is what a conquered province is for.

If the delegates have not returned to Illinois with blood in their eyes they are a good deal less than men. They—and the legislature which they represented—have been deliberately insulted by a set of arrogant jobholders whose moment of power has gone to the head. It remains to be seen if the legislature will take it lying down.

SILVER.

The revival of speculative activity in the silver markets is interesting. It suggests that once more our government is preparing to "do something for silver." The phrase is a euphemism, coined by western gentlemen who know exactly what they want. "Doing something for silver" means buying it for more than it is worth from gentlemen who have the good fortune to own silver mines. It is a way of enriching the mine owners at the expense of the rest of the American people; only that, and nothing more.

The silver advocates pretend that their schemes are put forward as measures to inflate the currency and thus relieve debtors. Honest men may disagree on the merits of inflation, but they can hardly disagree on the silver proposals. If inflation of the currency is the objective there are better ways of achieving it than having the government buy silver at inflated prices. Inflation robs every one of his savings and his working capital. "Doing something for silver" robs every one except the owners of silver mines who receive a bonus. Why they should be singled out for this reward has never been made clear.

COSTLY DECORUM.

A London magistrate has just exposed the existence of a widespread blackmail racket carried on by young men who prey upon elderly victims in that haunt of shady characters, Hyde Park. The scandal is by no means a new one, though we gather from the magistrate's remarks that it has been increasing to a serious extent. Abnormality has been known for a good many years to be an evil of deplorable extent in London, but under the policy of the British press, which suppresses information uncomfortable to the influential, it has lacked the restraint it might otherwise have had. American newspapers criticized for sensationalism have had the decorum of the British press constantly offered them as an example, but they are doing a service for the correction of vice and crime more conducive to the public good than the suppression in the name of respectability of disagreeable realities.

Editorial of the Day

HE HANDLES ONLY SIMPLE PROBLEMS.
[Cedar Rapids Gazette.]

From Washington comes the reassuring announcement that the revolving Dr. Townsend will not run for President next year "under any circumstances." The aged inventor of the pretentious Townsend old age pension plan, questioned as to his rumored aspirations to the presidency, explains that he is "not fitted for it mentally or physically."

That is a significant admission. Physical unfitness would have been enough to explain the lack of political ambition. Dr. Townsend is pretty old to be taking on the heavy responsibilities that go with the office of President of the United States.

The lack of mental capacity was brought up by the doctor himself, just for good measure. It is something of a surprise to hear Dr. Townsend admit, in effect, that he isn't smart enough to be President, though many were prepared, of course, to entertain the idea. The admission serves to narrow and clarify the scope of the discussion.

All Dr. Townsend claims now, it appears, is that he is smart enough to devise a simple scheme that will solve in a flash all the economic problems that have stumped the last two Presidents and everybody else for six years. On the surface this claim, if allowed, would seem to establish Dr. Townsend's mental equality to the task of being President. But we are not one to jump to conclusions if we can help it. We are quite willing to accept Dr. Townsend's own opinion on the matter and let it go at that.

WHAT A DIPLOMAT!

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

YOU CAN'T FOOL ME; I know! Yesterday morning I had just finished reading all about the cataclysmic vote that Mayor Kelly had won for himself and the Democratic party when the maid rushed in and said there was a robin redbreast in the back yard eating worms. "Pooh! put your spectacles on and look again. That isn't a robin redbreast eating worms in the back yard. No, indeed. That would be a Republican."

NEW YORK IS RAVING MAD because it possesses a white bullfrog, which strange freak of nature, according to the scientists (who are also New Yorkers), happens only about once in ten million times and is much rarer in nature than even the birth of quints. That, of course, is a sly poke at the famous Dionne five. New York is like that. No matter what wonderful thing happens in the world, New York soon claims to outdo it. But springing a white bullfrog as something much more extraordinary than the Canadian quints seems to be hitting below the belt. And as King George is now the guardian of the Dionne five, the New York aldermen will no doubt at once beg President Roosevelt to be the guardian of the white bullfrog and give it one of the rooms at the White House. Well, let 'em race. It probably won't be many days before the whitewash begins to peel off that bullfrog and then New York will have to dig up something else.

MOON SONNETS.

I.

How many eons have I watched the Earth
In wonderment and awe! Have seen her glow,
An orb of lucent flame, then slowly grow
An ashen ember, sullen in the dearth
Of loveliness, till, lo, a magic girth
Of green encircled her, and, to and fro,
Moved Life—moved Living Things . . . I envied so,
I, barren Moon, that miracle of birth!

It has been always lonely in the sky,
The lifeless sky, yet when I saw the breath
Departing from those creatures, saw them die,
I, barren Moon, the intimate of Death,
Was moved no more to envy; only left
Was pity in my heart for Earth bereft.

"WE (CONGRESS) HAVE COME," said Senator Tydings in his denunciation of the New Deal, "to treat a billion dollars as if it were a hundred thousand." Oh, lawsy! Senator Tydings, I must be all wrong. "U. S. NAVY IS MAKING Mystery Gun That Will Shoot Twelve Miles."—Headline. Sch! Don't tell any one about this mystery gun; we don't want other nations to find it out. We'd all be tickled to death about this new mystery gun that shoots twelve miles if we all hadn't read the other day that the Nazis were turning out in large numbers a new gun that shoots seventy-five miles. But in case of a war no enemy would be so cowardly as to get those Nazi type guns and shoot at us from seventy-five miles when our mystery guns only carry twelve miles! Certainly not! Lykell, lykell, lykell!

"DRASTIC INCOME TAX Hits High and Low Alike."—Headline. That doesn't cheer me none. Of course, I ought to be more or less satisfied if the high get it in the neck as hard as I do. THERE'S A BILL now before congress forbidding tourists coming back to their own country to bring in more than a quart of hootch duty free. At present a returning traveler is permitted to bring in a hundred dollars' worth of things he bought abroad free of duty. If this new bill becomes a law Americans will commence buying clothes and shoes and silk things when they're abroad. But it'll be tough to be forced to buy silly stuff like that instead of the necessities of life, such as champagne, rum, Scotch whisky, and gin. It's a tough world.

"Heu Pietas! Heu Prisca Fides!"

Vergil (Æneid, vi., 878.)

I remember, I remember,
(with acknowledgment to the originator of the phrase and meter),
The age in which I was born;
I slept each night, in childhood days,
Unawakened by a maniac's horn;
I rose and ate my breakfast up
Sans foodal theories
Of vitamines and hormones
And sundry calories;
I plodded to the schoolhouse,
My lessons there to muff—
But not to drink in æsthetics
And similar sloppy stuff;
I got no indoctrination
In economic larks . . .
Some stage comiques were all we knew
Who bore the name of Marx.
Crops were not then plowed under
And thrift was not a crime
And some men kept to just one wife . . .
Ah quaint, quixotic time!
But now—ah, now!—I'm older
And we have much progressed;
The olden times were hapless
And these are much the best;
What's that? Are echoes risible
Against my epigraph?
Did I hear, borne on some faint wind,
A species of soft laugh?

TREATMENT OF MENIERE'S DISEASE.

PROSPER MENIERE in 1861 described in a Paris medical journal the condition now known by his name. He found that the fluid of the semicircular canals of the ear was not normal in character and said: "There are noises in the ear, continuous or intermittent, that are soon followed by a decrease in hearing. They may be accompanied by vertigo, dizziness, uncertain gait, and falling; sometimes by nausea, vomiting, and collapse. Occasionally the hearing is destroyed."

For many years the disease has been regarded as presenting an extremely difficult medical problem. The treatment has been rather futile and inconsequential results have followed most methods proposed. Therefore, any plan that offers the slightest hope of success will be hailed as a distinct advance.

As a rule the onset of the symptoms is sudden and may be ushered in by a sudden movement of the head or a quick change in temperature. Some patients feel as though they were spinning around; others state that objects seem to move from right to left or from left to right. Attacks may be followed by a period of freedom varying from a few hours to a few weeks.

It has been observed that dizziness in the presence of heart and kidney disease may be due to changes in the salt concentration in body fluids with resulting pressure changes. Six or seven years ago Dida Dedering of Copenhagen suggested that symptoms of Ménière's disease were due to an excess accumulation of water in the body. Water cannot be retained in the living cell except in the presence of salts. More water in the body, therefore, signifies added salts and, conversely, the disappearance of the symptom of dizziness following the loss of water means that a considerable quantity of sodium chloride has been eliminated.

The recent work of A. C. Furstenberg and others is of great significance. A patient who had suffered from Ménière's disease for ten years and whose attacks had been gradually increasing in severity and frequency until the symptoms were practically constant was placed on a diet that carefully controled the amount of solids, salts, and water. The object of the diet was to decrease the amount of water and hence the salt concentration in the body. It was noted that as soon as the patient began to lose water the attacks ceased.

On the sixth and seventh days sodium chloride [common salt] was added to the diet. This was followed by marked retention of water in the body and severe vertigo. As water was gradually lost the symptoms again diminished. On the eighth day the patient was again given sodium chloride and, in addition, sodium bicarbonate. The result was an increase in water in the tissues and a second severe seizure of dizziness. The same phenomenon was repeated several times.

The substitution of ammonium chloride for sodium chloride in the same concentration was followed by freedom from symptoms. In other words, the ammonium salt forced sodium out of the body and substantiated the observation that the attacks could be definitly related to the amount of sodium retained.

The authors advocate the treatment that has been most effective in their hands—namely, a diet consisting of foods low in sodium. A list of such foods will be sent to those interested if a stamped, addressed envelope accompanies the request.

As has been previously pointed out, most of us use too much salt and we are forcibly reminded that retention of water within the body, which always follows the excessive use of salt, cannot fail to engorge the blood vessels, place an added load on the heart and circulatory system, and have a decided influence on such conditions as arteriosclerosis and some types of kidney disease.

It may be that the abnormal type of fluid observed by Ménière in the semicircular canals of the ear is now explained on the basis of salt concentration.

MASTOIDITIS.

Mrs. J. K. writes: Would mastoiditis cause a child to be backward mentally? Is an operation for such an ailment serious?

REPLY.

Not unless the infection from the mastoid cells has involved the brain, in which case an abscess would probably develop.

A mastoid operation must be performed by an expert trained surgeon. The operation is serious, but if the bone [mastoid process back of the ear] is opened and free drainage obtained the danger of brain abscess or other complications such as meningitis will be avoided.

MOSTLY A FAD.

E. R. writes: Are colon irrigations of benefit to thin people who are nervous?

REPLY.

Colon irrigations are essentially fad procedures. There are some conditions in which they are beneficial, but, like many useful things, they are overdone. They will not help in the conditions you describe. Regulate the bowels, if possible, by proper diet, avoiding the use of vigorous cathartics.

TONSILS.

R. A. E. writes: Can tonsils be diseased and cause trouble if they are not sore?

REPLY.

Yes. The structure of the tonsils is such that it is likely to harbor infection. In the substance of the gland there are numerous crypts. These may inclose infection, low grade in character, with a slow production of pus. A physician, by gently squeezing the tonsil, may be able to empty some of these crypts and bring the contents to the surface, thus determining the presence of pus.

DEFICIENCY JUDGMENT.

Rushville, Ill., March 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like to know (1) if my household furniture can be levied on or attached in this case: My husband and I bought a farm, paid several thousand on it, lost it through foreclosure, and a (2) deficiency judgment was taken. 3. Are we allowed only $400 worth of furniture? J. C.

1. We assume from this singular pronoun that the property belongs to you rather than to you and your husband.

2. We assume that the deficiency judgment was against you, as well as your husband. We see no reason why your furniture could not be reached.

3. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CERTIFICATE OF TITLE.

Chicago, March 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In buying an automobile from some one I don't know (1) how can I find out if the title is clear and if he is the rightful owner? 2. How much is the fee for this service? V. B.

1. The Illinois certificate of title act in section 6 recognizes that the certificate may be delivered to a lien holder, but such delivery is not expressly required. Section 7 (b) requires that a seller shall indorse on the certificate a statement of all liens. These provisions leave open the possibility that there may be a valid outstanding lien even though the certificate is in the seller's hands and is silent as to liens. The chattel mortgage and judgment records can be examined in the recorder's office, but in general we would advise you not to purchase an automobile from a person whom you cannot trust.

2. Depends on the party with whom you deal. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PARIS TODAY

By MAY BIRKHEAD.

PARIS.—The newest thing in Paris is wearing glasses right on your eyeballs under the lids instead of in frames on your nose. At a small dinner party not long ago one of the guests asked, "How do you like my new glasses?" Every one turned to the woman who asked it, expecting to see some new wrinkle in spectacles or goggles. But she was apparently wearing nothing on her eyes, and we all wondered what the joke might be.

"Glasses? Why, you have no glasses!"

"Yes, I have—and they are on my eyes!"

We all looked puzzled. Then our questioner, after laughing gayly at us, explained that while we could not see her new glasses, yet she had them on. To prove it she put her thumb and forefinger to her right eye, at the outer edge of the eyelids, separated the lids, and showed us the glass which fitted neatly over the eyeball. Then seeing that we were still unconvinced, she took a small rubber device, much like the top of a medicine dropper, placed it against her eyeball, pinched the end of it, and proceeded to draw out the curved glass by suction.

This European novelty is beginning to be known, and now that Paris is taking it up you may be sure that it will quickly come into widespread use. For it provides a solution to that problem which has long worried women—and men, too—of how to look their best while wearing glasses.

Like so many aids to beauty, this latest contraption requires some outlay of money—and patience, too. Learning how to wear these invisible glasses may take several months. At first it is difficult for the wearer to stand them for more than a few minutes at a time. They do not irritate the eyes but make them feel hot and watery for the first few weeks. But those who persevere soon find that they can wear them a few minutes longer each day, and as soon as the eyes become thoroughly accustomed for an entire day. And after some months they may even be worn during sleep without inconvenience.

One of the wearers, who happened to be from Madrid, said that she had adopted these invisible glasses two years ago and found that she could wear them without the slightest annoyance except in the hottest days of summer. When it is very hot they tend to become rather clouded, hence have to be taken out from time to time.

Specialists in several European capitals now supply these glasses, and they say greatest precision must be given to measuring the eyeballs for a perfect fit. Those who suffer from nearsightedness are the most benefited. One wearer explained that her greatest delight was being able to see herself in the mirror without the very thick and unsightly glasses which she had worn for years. This new invention has enabled her to see perfectly, though the glass itself on the eyeball is very thin.

THE GRAND JURY.

Chicago, March 30.—Few greater misfortunes could befall Illinois than the abolition of the grand jury, as practically advocated in the proposed revision of our criminal code. Ancient in origin, it has served in all ages as the safety valve of the community through which relief could be had against criminals of high and low degree, both official and nonofficial. It and the petit jury have been among the greatest educators in the administration of the law, and have brought countless numbers of citizens into contact with legal procedure and enforcement of law. It well repays the expense connected with it in insuring to every community the safety of the good citizen on the one hand and the indictment of the lawless citizen on the other.

Its powers cannot be controled by the courts, or state's attorneys, or any other official, when it is once constituted. It has full power to make investigations of all public offices, and on its own motion to indict any one it believes guilty of crime. Any citizen is entitled to appear before it, whether summoned by it or not, and any grand juryman may make his own investigation of lawbreaking in the community and report it at a session of the grand jury.

It should not be abolished. The grand jury, the writ of habeas corpus, and the writ of injunction are the last three bulwarks of free government; and today, when we look abroad and see governmental power passing first into the hands of an oligarchy, then into the hands of a dictator, and later a despot, it is well for us in this country to preserve and even strengthen these safeguards of personal and local freedom.

FROM A CROSS-WORD FAN.

Chicago, March 29.—The cross-word puzzle contests have always been very interesting to me, and I have very nearly always worked out the puzzles.

"I have one of the large dictionaries for reference—have had it for eight years, in fact, and, being unable to find one of the foreign words encountered in a puzzle, I asked for a recent edition of the Standard Webster Dictionary at the public library, and was informed that the new dictionary is not available to those seeking information for cross-word puzzles.

I'm a taxpayer and understand the library is maintained by a portion of the tax money; as long as my search for information is educational, even with the possibility of a prize in view, do you think it is right to withhold a reference book from any Chicago citizen and taxpayer? JOSEPHINE CLARKE.

SUGGESTION TO BAKERS.

Chicago, March 30.—When I buy a 7 cent loaf of white bread or a 10 cent loaf of rye, I have it here about a week. As my husband eats mostly crackers with his meal and the boy eats very little bread, it seems I have to eat a loaf myself. Now about the third day it gets me mad to still see it here, and, of course, it's too good to throw out to the birds, which I've been doing. I wonder if the baking companies could bake a smaller loaf for small families, say about 4 cents a loaf, both rye and white. I have been buying buns also, but that comes much higher, as they are 2 cents apiece. MRS. THERESA KIRSCH.

WHO SAVED THE NATION!

Kankakee, Ill., March 30.—Your cartoon "Born to Serve the Nation" is by far the outstanding cartoon of the day. If at all possible you should arrange to print this cartoon in your regular Sunday colored section so that we who are sons and grandsons of these men who saved the nation might frame a copy of it.

My grandfather, Sergt. D. S. Carmony, 26th regiment of Illinois Veteran Volunteers, oftentimes told me: "Son, it makes no difference what the Democrats have to say about immigration, agriculture, finance, industry, or anything else; just ask them who saved the nation."

I might add that I see no reason for last Sunday's pictures of great confederate victories. I do not think that they are appropriate for any northern newspaper, because you know that it is true that no southern paper ever gave any credit to such great men as Lincoln, Sherman, and Grant. C. A. SANBORN.

ALIEN TROUBLE MAKERS.

La Grange, Ill., March 28.—On Dec. 22, 1919, two hundred and forty-nine alien anarchists from all over the country, including Emma Goldman and Berkman, were deported; shipped to soviet Russia in the army transport Buford, dubbed Soviet Ark. Just why cannot this part of history repeat itself in this supposedly enlightened day and age in respect to the hundreds, yes, thousands of alien undesirables now acting here in the capacity of trouble makers and leeches; or can't we really spare them? The actions and voicings of some of these visiting and resident aliens wouldn't be tolerated for a minute under like circumstances by the government of any other country of consequence on this fair globe. JOHN C. BURKE.

THE TRUTH SHOCKS HER.

Chicago, March 31.—In your cynical article headlined "U. S. Debs Pay Their Money—See the King—Bump Knees for King," etc., your paper showed the lack of courtesy that is so often evidenced in your columns. Do you realize that the function spoken of was part of the silver jubilee celebration of a good king of a perfectly reputable country? The love and veneration that his subjects have for him should be respected.

What would we think of an English newspaper that would stoop so low as to ridicule some state function in Washington at which our President presided?

I am sure that none of them would even think of doing such a discourteous thing. VISITOR FROM THE SOUTH.

BASEBALL'S CRY BABIES.

Chicago, March 26.—That article in yesterday's TRIBUNE regarding a Stanley cup playoff game, wherein a member of the New York Rangers received a deep wound in his head which required eight stitches, should be tacked up in the clubhouse of every major league baseball team in both circuits. For that injured player returned to the game a few minutes later and scored the winning point! Great Scott, if a baseball player were to receive such an injury he'd remain out of the game for about a month. If Managers Grimm and Dykes had more players on their respective teams who cared less about petty ailments and more about winning ball games Chicago would take part more often in world series. UTILITY WORKERS GO ON STRIKE IN 4 ILLINOIS CITIES

Trafic Is Delayed and Gas Shortage Looms.

Peoria, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Several hundred employés of the Illinois Power and Light corporation went on strike in four Illinois cities today, temporarily tying up trafic and threatening a gas shortage.

The cities affected are Peoria, Danville, Centralia and East St. Louis. It was reported here that similar strikes would be called in Champaign, Bloomington, and Belleville.

The strike call came unexpectedly, and many of the strikers and employers were at a loss to explain the sudden action. It was said here that the men, who are members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, were called from their jobs because of a wage dispute.

Traction Service Stalled.

Street car and electric bus services were tied up for two hours here after 11 substation and line men were called from their work. City workers were forced to thumb rides or walk to their offices.

Service was restored when company superintendents replaced the strikers. Following their walkout, the strikers picketed the substations without disorder.

Special police were called out at Danville to prevent trouble after about 50 employés of the utility concern left their work. The strikers charged the company had refused to recognize their union.

Company officials said service had not been interrupted and that effotrs would be made to maintain power, light, and gas service.

A gas shortage was threatened at Centralia. Frank Egan, district manager of the Centralia plant, said only a five hours' supply of gas was on hand there.

Puzzled Workers Walk Out.

About 150 workers went on strike at East St. Louis, though they admitted they knew of no controversy, not having been advised by their union officers of the cause of the action.

John H. Mitchell, general manager of the power corporation's East St. Louis plant, said he had not been informed as to the reason for the strike. He telegraphed D. W. Tracey, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, at Washington, informing him of contract violations.

G. Gale Gilbert Jr. Wins Reduction in Alimony

Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan approved yesterday the agreement whereby G. Gale Gilbert Jr., attorney and son of the former head of the Illinois Commerce commission, will obtain a temporary reduction of $150 a month in the $425 a month alimony he has been paying his divorced wife, Ruth. On Gilbert's promise to pay up $833, his former wife agreed to accept the reduced alimony payments during the next six months. The $833 is Mrs. Gilbert's share of her former husband's income in excess of $15,000 in 1933. Gilbert lives at 3750 Sheridan road, and Mrs. Gilbert at the Lake Shore Athletic club.

FRANCES PERKINS HIT FOR FAILURE TO DEPORT REDS

Witness Says She Has Plenty of Power.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.] — Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins was criticized before the house immigration committee today for not following the deportation laws. The committee had under consideration a bill for the deportation of alien communists and fascists.

J. H. Patten, representing the Immigration Restriction league and other organizations, told the committee that the labor department had admitted "such wild-eyed Reds as Emma Goldman."

"Don't you think we have enough laws now?" asked Representative Everett M. Dirksen [Rep., Ill.]. "Isn't it a matter of enforcing these laws?"

"Plenty of Authority."

"I think the attorney general is more interested in law enforcement than the secretary of labor," replied Patten. "There is plenty of authority for labor deparment officials to deport aliens now."

Enactment of the deportation bill was urged by S. P. Meadows, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor. Meadows declared that the philosophy of communism was directly opposed to trade unionism, that the communists were fomenting strife between classes and urged world revolution.

Fracas Takes Place.

Toward the end of the hearing a rumpus occurred when one Dwight C. Morgan, representing the Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, appeared against the bill. Morgon refused to tell the committee whether he was a communist and declined to answer questions about his personal history.

Texas Legislature Votes to Submit Dry Repeal

Austin, Tex., April 3.—[Special.]—The Texas legislature today voted to submit at an election Aug. 24 the repeal of prohibition. The repealer will require senate action on an amendment proposing to submit the question whether the liquor business shall be conducted as private enterprise or a state monopoly.

ETHIOPIA MOVES TROOPS TO BALK ITALIAN THREAT

Placed on Frontiers of Two Colonies.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, April 3.—(AP)—Authoritative sources revealed today that Ethiopia is moving military forces close to the frontiers of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland to prepare for what the government regards as an Italian threat.

Government sources contended the troop movements were solely for defense purposes. The Ethiopian fighting units were described as being on a more efficient basis than ever before. They were under strict orders to avoid all contact with the border garrisons of Italy.

[A number of British troop-carrier planes were assembled at Aden ready to evacuate about 100 British residents at Addis Ababa in the event of hostilities there. The British said almost anything could happen if the differences between Italy and Ethiopia were not settled soon.]

It was explained that the Ethiopian government has no intention of starting hostilities, but the nation was said to be steadfastly behind Emperor Haile Selassie.

A report from Rome that an Ethiopian flag had been captured by Italian troops which attacked an Ethiopian escort to a boundary commission was denied.

[Military authorities at Rome said they have been aware of Ethiopian troop movements and said Ethiopia also has purchased war materials abroad. Italy now has 75,000 troops ready for action in East Africa, the sources said. Knowledge of Ethiopian war preparations, it was said, was responsible for Italy's proposal to create neutral zones along her African frontiers.]

DIES OF SLEEPING TABLETS.

PARK BOARD TO MOVE TO FAIR HEADQUARTERS

The Chicago park commissioners voted yesterday to move their general offices to the former Century of Progress Administration building in Burnham park, as soon as the interior is adapted to their use. Harry I. Joseph, former president of the west park board, contended the general offices should be in the Garfield park administration building. Ralph Burke, park district chief engineer, reported the Garfield building was too small.

The park commissioners approved the $200,000 alteration plans for Riis and Kennedy parks, as submitted by George T. Donoghue, general superintendent. Work is to start today on Riis park, Meade and Fullerton avenues, formerly a nine hole golf course. It will have complete equipment for all major sports, and an outdoor swimming pool, tennis courts, and picnic grounds. The Kennedy park development, 113th street and Western avenue, will include a circular wading pool.

GIVEN COAT OF TAR, FEATHERS; PLANS CHARGES

Athens, O., April 3.—(AP)—Tarred and feathered by a group of Ohio university students, Harley Thompson, 55, an insurance salesman, said tonight he would file charges against Robert C. Moore, 22, Cleveland, president of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Sherif Charles Stratton said Moore admitted he was one of five youths who took Thompson to a cemetery, applied roofing tar with sticks, and topped it with feathers from two pillows. Moore refused to name the other students, the sherif said.

Thompson is under a physician's care for congestion of the lungs resulting from exposure.

Moore was quoted by the sherif as saying that Thompson was punished for articles Thompson allegedly sent to the Ohio Examiner concerning the fraternity members. Stratton said Moore told him Thompson promised to discontinue writing for the publication if the students would release him.

Thompson said he was seized on the street by two masked youths Tuesday night, blindfolded and taken to the cemetery in an automobile. During the ride two students sat on him, he said.

STATE PRESENTS HISTORY OF BUS STRIKE VIOLENCE

Covers Same Ground as First Kehoe-Taber Trial.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan took more than two hours yesterday afternoon to detail to a jury in Judge Donald S. McKinlay's Criminal court the scores of acts of violence which it is charged the twenty-four men on trial committed during the strike against the Chicago Motor Coach company last summer and fall. The defendants are on trial on a general conspiracy indictment, which has as its maximum punishment terms of 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary.

Stoltzman a Defendant.

William Taber and Joseph Kehoe, veteran officials of the street car men's union, are the main defendants. Ralph Stoltzman, who was president of the then newly formed bus drivers' union, an affiliate of the street car union, also is a defendant. The other defendants are street car or former bus company employés, who are alleged to have committed the acts of violence and vandalism that resulted in two deaths.

Taber and Kehoe, who were tried last fall on charges of instigating the murder of James J. Kelly, a bus company dispatcher, were acquitted of that charge by a jury. The evidence introduced in that trial will make up part of the evidence to be submitted to the jury in the present trial. The other murder linked to the bus strike was that of Mrs. Mary Kennard, 62 years old, a widow.

Plans to Show Injured.

Prosecutor Coghlan told the jury that Taber, Kehoe, and Stoltzman directed the campaign of violence. Kehoe was the most active in directing the campaign, the prosecutor said.

"We will bring before you many persons who were injured," Prosecutor Coghlan told the jury. "Some of them lost their eyesight by reason of the acts of these defendants."

The prosecutor said two active gangs operated in behalf of the strikers.

Couple's Divorce Score for Cruelty Stands 1 to 1

Earl Mayfield, 219 South Wood street, evened the score with his wife, Mildred, yesterday. He was granted a divorce on grounds of cruelty by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan. Last June 12 she divorced him on the same ground, but the two remarried last September. He testified that he left her last December after she threw a plate at him because he trumped her ace while they were playing partners at bridge. Mrs. Mayfield was awarded custody yesterday of their 3 year old daughter, Betty Ann. The Mayfields were first married in October, 1928.

Mrs. Myrtle E. Hoover, part owner of the Bemini Mineral Water company of Willow Springs, was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti yesterday from Ralph T. Hoover. She testified, under questioning by her attorney, Harry X. Cole, that Hoover struck her on several occasions. She was given the family home in Willow Springs in lieu of alimony.

MORE AND BETTER TOYS SOUGHT FOR SOVIET CHILDREN

Easter Russia's Time of Gift Giving.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 3.—Easter, the holiday of Resurrection and spring, the greatest festival of the year in Russia, will be a happy day for millions of Russian children if the latest campaign of the Moscow newspaper Pravda is effective.

Although the Pravda does not mention the season as the most important holiday of the Russian church, its energetic agitation to provide better toys for children coincides with the approaching festival.

Russians, even under former governments, did not observe Christmas in the manner of western countries, but at Eastertide all Russia goes shopping and buys gifts. The children awake Easter morning with anticipation of new toys and sweets, while egg shaped pearls or jewels cut in the shape of an egg are the customary gifts for women.

Condemns Poor Toys.

A number of articles appeared in Pravda this week condemning the poor quality of soviet toys and the high prices charged by dealers.

"Recently a small boy had a birthday," Pravda begins. "He received a wooden horse which would not stand because its legs were of different lengths, a lifting crane which would not lift anything because it was improperly assembled, his boat capsized the moment it was placed in the water, his shovel fell to pieces the same day, and his gun would not shoot.

"Our toy industry is badly organized and the only aim of the artels and factories is to obtain as much profit as possible. The prices charged are outrageous. A wooden dog produced by a state factory costs 2.20 rubles [nominally about $1]. Our investigator discovered that money assigned for constructing new toys was used to produce buttons, corks, and wooden kitchen utensils. So it is not surprising that only 55 per cent of the stipulated quantity of toys was produced in 1934. Many cities and towns have been without toys for months."

U. S. Toys for Patterns.

Pravda continues: "Recently we imported from America and other countries 700 samples of toys to be copied. Factories received orders which were not filled. Thus far our workmen have not produced a single toy following these foreign models. Our toy industry is far behind those of other countries. In America we discovered that there are 52,000 different toys on sale while even in the largest store in Moscow the highest number ever on sale was 350 toys.

"There is not a single shop in Moscow where toys can be repaired. Recently a mother had an artisan repair a doll and his bill was nearly twice the original cost of the doll. Repair work could be done by invalids. We need such a shop in every town in Russia. Another thing badly needed is spare parts for toys."

FORMER SUITOR VISITS RENO TO GREET THE WOOLWORTH HEIRESS

Reno, Nev., April 3.—(AP)—Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani and James Blakeley, 25, to whom she once was engaged, are believed to have met here today.

Blakeley said that as an old friend he was in Reno "Just to say hello." He flew last night from Hollywood to Reno. He is the son of Mrs. Grace Hyde of New York.

"The princess and I have known each other since I was 12. Our families were acquainted before that," he said before leaving today for Hollywood. In a 17 room residence the Woolworth heiress has been a recluse since her dash from London to Reno to divorce the polo playing Georgian, Prince Alexis Mdivani.

57 COUPLES WED BY CHINESE MASS MARRIAGE PLAN

Shanghai Cuts Cost to Fight Hard Times.

SHANGHAI, April 3.—(AP)—China moved today to cut the cost of marriage to depression levels.

A "mass marriage plan" designed to aid Dan Cupid in his battle against hard times was officially launched as Gen. Wu Teh-chen, mayor of greater Shanghai, married 57 couples at once.

Without the frills and extravagance characterizing the usual Chinese marriage—which may cost hundreds or thousands of dollars—the 114 Chinese men and women, some young, some old, marched by eights to the altar, bowed three times before the statue of Sun Yat-sen, China's "George Washington," twice before each other, once to the mayor, and were quickly pronounced men and wives.

Pay $7 a Couple.

Each couple paid the equivalent of about seven American dollars, the price including brilliantly decorated wedding certificates, silver medals inscribed with the names of man and wife, and gifts for the bride.

The ceremony, which lasted about two minutes, took place in the palatial new city hall of the Shanghai Chinese government. The hall was big enough for today's throng but all the outdoors will be used, the chief of the marriage registration bureau said, "if we find the hall in the administration building too small."

Indications were that things might come to that pass. Already on file were 31 applications for participation in the next mass ceremony, to be held in May.

Brass Band Plays March.

A Chinese brass band blared out the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" today as the 57 couples—the men wearing the usual long blue formal gown with short black jacket, the women pink dresses with jackets to match of inexpensive Chinese silk—paraded down the crimson carpeted aile before 1,200 spectators.

Qualifications for marriage under the new plan are strict. Authorities carefully examine all applicants' physical, financial, and moral capacities, and require all prospective bridegrooms to have jobs.

Those married today included school teachers, minor city officials, shopkeepers, and others of similar status.

PLAN WEST RIVER RD. WIDENING BETWEEN AURORA AND ELGIN

Robert Kingery, state director of public works, announced yesterday that present plans call for the widening and paving this year of the West River road between Aurora and Elgin.

He told business men of the Fox River valley, who had advocated the improvement, that state highway engineers would survey the road to determine the feasibility of making the existing two lane road twice its present width. The recent abandonment of the right of way of the Aurora and Elgin interurban line will provide a third lane, it was pointed out.

Widening of the road to four lanes was urged because of the volume of trafic on the highway. The road serves St. Charles, Geneva, Batavia, and other small communities and is fed by all the four lane highways west of Chicago.

"BARBAROUS!" Says GOOD HOUSEKEEPING BEAUTY EDITOR

"INTELLIGENT!" Says YOUR OWN DENTIST

You can still be civilized and avoid "PINK TOOTH BRUSH"

"IT'S worse than a blunder, it's a social crime," exclaimed the Director of the new Good Housekeeping Beauty Clinic. "That girl," she went on, "is headed for social suicide."

But dentists looked at it in a different light. "An excellent picture," was their general comment. "Ipana should certainly publish it. It's a graphic illustration of a point we dentists are always seeking to drive home. If all of us gave our teeth and gums more exercise on coarse, raw foods, many of our dental ills would disappear."

Time and again dental science has crusaded against our modern menus. Coarse foods are banned from our tables for the soft and savory dishes that rob our gums of work and health. Gums grow lazy . . . sensitive . . . tender! It's no wonder that "pink tooth brush," that tell-tale tinge of "pink" is such a common warning.

YOU CAN'T NEGLECT "PINK TOOTH BRUSH"!

Make up your mind about that—right now. The slightest tinge of "pink" on your own tooth brush should make you start immediately with Ipana and massage. For unheeded, neglected—"pink tooth brush" may mean serious trouble—even gingivitis, pyorrhea or Vincent's disease.

Follow your dentist's advice. He knows. Get a tube of Ipana today and begin to give your gums the work and stimulation they need.

Brush your teeth regularly with Ipana Tooth Paste. Then each time add a little extra Ipana to your brush or fingertip and massage your gums. For Ipana and massage help restore your gums to healthy firmness—and keep them healthy. Do this regularly and the chances are you'll never be bothered with "pink tooth brush."

Needle Guild Sets Days for Annual Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

INVITATIONS are out for exhibition of members' work of the Needlework and Textile Guild of the Art institute on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 23 and 24, at the residence of Mrs. Harry H. Shearson, 227 East Delaware place. The exhibition will be open from 3 to 6 o'clock each day and Mrs. Shearson, who is president of the guild, will serve tea both afternoons.

The most novel thing in the exhibit will be a framed timetable that Mrs. Kent Clow designed and made and which is being copied by dozens of her suburban friends. The timetable is just the ordinary little one that is gotten out by the railroad that carries Lake Forest commuters, but the frame is the thing. Up in one corner is a little house and down in the opposite corner is a station with little men rushing to it from the house along both ways.

Timetables are such important things in a suburban household, both to the family and guests, that every one is applauding Mrs. Clow's idea as a brilliant one. Mrs. John F. Jelke, Mrs. Harrison Manierre, Mrs. Robert J. Thorne and Mrs. Champ Carry are a few of the many who are adopting it.

Maps of Estates Are Popular.

Maps of estate are very popular with needlewomen now, and among those that will be shown at Mrs. Shearson's is an especially lovely one made by Mrs. Edwin G. Foreman Jr. of Glencoe. It is of her cousin, Dr. Lester G. Frankenthal's, estate at Phelps, Wis. Mrs. Robert Thorne chose France as the subject of her map, and Mrs. Van Wagenen Alling chose her estate in Lake Forest. The Ernest Loeb place in Glencoe will be represented by a map done by Mrs. Loeb, and a map of the entire United States, worked by Mrs. Samuel Behrend of Pasadena, will be one of the most admired at the exhibition, I hear.

Mrs. B. D. Eisendrath is making a modern sampler for her young grandson, a colorful thing with a streamline train, airplane, polo mallet, and all the other things that interest a boy today, incorporated in it.

Mrs. Valentine Bartlett and Mrs. T. Philip Swift will be represented by backgammon boards, Mrs. John I. Shaw by a bench seat, Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell by two Chippendale chair seats, Mrs. Richard I. Stearns by two chair seats the designs of which were taken from a famous Elizabethan wall hanging in the Victoria and Albert museum in London, Mrs. Cyrus Mark by dining room chair seats, Mrs. Philo A. Otis by chair seats, Mrs. William D. Truesdale by a fire screen done in crewel work, Mrs. Thomas Swan of New York [Mabel Dick of Chicago] by a pair of pillows done in Bargello work, Mrs. Henry P. Isham by a spectacle case, Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence by seats for dining room chairs, Mrs. Edward J. Bermingham by a card table top, Mrs. Laird Bell by a pair of mules, Mrs. John R. Hurley by a French armchair, Mrs. James E. Baum by an exquisite evening bag mounted on a gold top, and Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr. by a rug.

Chicagoans to Attend Red Cross Convention.

Several well known Chicagoans have planned their vacations so that they will be in Washington next Monday when the annual convention of the American Red Cross opens. The James B. Forgans will arrive in Washington from Bermuda on Sunday; Mrs Joseph M. Cudahy is going to the capital from her winter home in Palm Beach; Mrs. Frederic W. Upham and Mrs. Irene Sidley Hussey will motor south from New York.

Mrs. Cudahy will give a luncheon for the members of the Florence Nightingale Foundation committee and the Chicago chapter executive committee will entertain their delegates and a group of national officials at luncheon in the Pan-American room of the Mayflower hotel next Tuesday with Mr. Forgan presiding. That afternoon all delegates will attend a tea at the White House to be given by Mrs. Roosevelt.

SEEING the novel "Full Flavor" on the table, the colored maid of Mrs. Raymond L. Hatfield of Danville asked her if it was a good cook book.

Which brings to mind the woman riding on the Sheridan road bus during the rush hour who overheard a young man ask the woman next to him, "What have you?" To which she answered gayly, "I have lust for life."

The astonished bus patron looked around and then discovered the conversation referred to the book in the woman's hand.

Novel Without a Name.
By Jane Little, 9 years old.
Instalment 5.

(Synopsis of preceding instalment. Jean, the husband of Yovonne, finally got a job as butler in a office, and was given $20 by his new employer to buy him a suit "fit for a butler.")

As soon as he got to the office Jean's master told him what to say and do. He rang a bell and told Jean he was to come in his office when he rang it. A few minutes later he rang the bell. Jean said "Yes, sir!"

"Take this young lady to room 310."

"Very good, sir."

When Jean came home one night about eight months later he had better news than before. This is what he said: "Hello, darling. How are you. Get on your good dress and come with me." He took her to a apartment house where he says they are to live. They were to move in a week.

A STORY she says is true is offered by Mrs. Austin J. Lindstrom. A Chicago bank had a loan outstanding, amounting to $5,500, which it had tried in vain to collect. Finally, in despair, the loan official called the client who owed the money and suggested that if he were to bring in $3,000 in cash the bank would cancel the loan.

"I can answer you in two words, Mr. Jones," said the customer. "Eem possible."

THE following tale told by Bishop Johnson of the Episcopal diccese of Colorado at a recent Church club luncheon is relayed by Angus Hibbard. A bishop in a missionary diocese, arriving for his annual visit at a remote parish, found that an error had been made in his calendar appointment book and that he had arrived in April instead of May when he was expected. The rector was absent at a mission, but a meeting was called and at its close the bishop said:

"If there are any here who are prepared to be confirmed they may step forward and I will confirm them now."

A young couple stepped forward and were confirmed. When the bishop returned a month later for his regular appointment he asked where the young couple was he had confirmed the preceding month. To which a vestryman replied:

"Why, bishop, they are on their honeymoon. They thought you married them."

THE play titles that have been most confusing to playgoers were perhaps "Strange Interlude," a title which innumerable perplexed ticket buyers thought had something to do with the interval for dinner between the acts of the play; "Dinner at Eight," and "Grand Hotel." Patrons of "Dinner at Eight" frequently asked the man in the boxoffice if dinner were included in the price of admission, and "Grand Hotel" ticket buyers occasionally asked the location of the mezzanine.

A new mix-up is reported in connection with the mail order requests for seats for "Life Begins at 8:40," which comes to the Grand April 20. A woman wrote in from downstate who wanted four seats for "Dinner Begins at 8:40."

Bach Is Heard on Instruments of His Time

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Philip Manuel and Gavin Williamson, who have brought back the art of playing two harpsichords from the pages of historic romance to the present day, headed a rather large concert party at the Goodman theater last night to face an audience equaling the capacity of the hall. It was a Bach program, their contribution to the 250th anniversary of Bach, and highly agreeable in intent and realization.

Here was the harpsichord raised to its highest estate, a concerto for three and another for four of the instruments, each with the accompaniment of a string quartet and with the assistance of Dorothy Lane and Marguerite Davies as extra soloists.

Here was also a seldom heard group of songs sung by Madaline Reinecke to harpsichord accompaniment and with David Van Vactor to play the flute obligati. One of the songs had a title of great temptation to the jocose, "My Lord, 'Tis Naught but Wind," from the cantata "Phoebus and Pan." Another was "Ah, How Sweet is Coffee," from the "Coffee" cantata.

For Bach, though his style was fairly uniform, used to write in many moods and for many occasions. Likewise came Walter Gras to play on the ancestor of the cello, the viola da gamba, in a sonata for that instrument and the ancestor of the piano, the harpsichord. And there were solos for the harpsichord with Erika Thimey to perform interpretative dances meanwhile, and other solos on another keyboard instrument in the family tree of the piano, the clavichord.

It was a program of unusual music, and most of it charming. These soft voiced instruments had a distinguished place in history, and it is an excellent idea to have them restored to the modern concert stage, not with any notion of having them displace the music of a later date, but simply so that music of their period may be made to sound as it did when it was written.

Judging by the size and warmth of the audience last night, there would be no trouble in having the event repeated at an early date.

Willa Dryden, soprano, and Frieda Bachmann, pianist, appeared jointly in the program of the Young American Artists series at Curtiss hall last night.

In Miss Dryden's case in particular the outlook is promising. She not only had a good voice and an excellent knowledge of how to use it, but her selection of program was interesting far beyond the common habit of young artists, and the better the song the more distinctive was her interpretation.

Miss Bachmann likewise showed talent and industrious study in the Bach-Tausig Toccata and Fugue in D minor, the Schumann Symphonic Etudes, and a group of shorter works.

There's Sparkle and Distinction in This Movie

'Runaway Queen' Presents Amusing Situations.

"THE RUNAWAY QUEEN."
Produced by British and Dominion Film corporation.
Released by United Artists.
Directed by Herbert Wilcox.

THE CAST.

Nadina	Anna Neagle
Carl	Fernand Graavey
Marie	Muriel Aked
Chancellor	Miles Mallison
General	Gibb McLaughlin

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The World playhouse is host to a new and charming British made comedy with music.

"The Runaway Queen" is deft, droll. It provides new and most alluring garnishments to the old, mythical kingdom plot, and is delightfully fresh and unexpected as to dialog and situations.

Nadina, daughter of another runaway queen, who had, years before, eloped to America with her skating instructor, is discovered selling stockings in a New York department store. Emissaries from Syrocco—I think that's the name of the kingdom—look her up and bear her away to do a job of reigning.

BUT—revolutionists, headed by a gay and nonchalant chap, Carl, are having heyday. They hire the army to work for them on the occasion of Nadina's coronation—"for the day only, because we can't afford to hire them for more than one day"—and put royalty to rout in great style.

The queen scurries off to a famous and quiet resort. Hither, for rest—and because presidents of republics are supposed to take vacations once in a while, comes—President Carl.

Nadina and Carl, both incognito, meet. They love. They part—to meet again for a finale that will make the corners of your mouth turn up.

Amusing scenes: That in which the prospective president stresses the point that "the streets must flow with blood! There must be oceans of blood. There must be seas of blood. In fact, a considerable quantity of blood MUST flow. . . ." That which finds the same gentleman working crossword puzzles while awaiting execution at the hands of his beloved's lieges. . . . Those featuring the cockney guards. AND—there's a dear, dry little old waiting woman to the now-she-is-and-now-she-isn't-a-queen who will put you in stitches. . . .

The acting is all aces. Anna Neagle is beautiful and clever and has a fetching sense of humor. Fernand Graavey isn't beautiful but—the other two adjectives fit him also. The two make an ingratiating pair—he so dark and she so fair [pome]. Under the most astute of direction, the piece snaps into it and out of it with praiseworthy dispatch. There's not a draggy moment.

Photography, sets, and scenery please and there are a couple of winey, warming love scenes.

If you like your movies charged with sparkle and distinction, why I think you'll find "The Runaway Queen" a film vintage after your own hearts.

Easter Style Parade Ends Annual Beauty Trade Show in City

An Easter parade, with living models in coiffures created by members of the hair styles creation committee of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association, last night closed the 12th annual midwest beauty trade show sponsored by the association at the Hotel Sherman.

Working with the coöperation of milliners, the hairdressers created hair styles that harmonized with the current trend in spring hats.

Marc Gartman, president of the association, announced that the show had been better attended than any held for several years, and that the members of the beauty profession who attended it did more actual buying than has been customary at the last few trade exhibitions.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Soap animals are grand fun most of the time, but a huge family of them, such as little Michael Fish has, is a responsibility, although all of them are behaving very well.

The Easter parade of swish suits, shoulder corsages, and hats that are the last word in millinery madness won't mean a thing to the very young. We know the sort of Easter parade they'll like. It's much more fun than fashions ever could be.

All of you who're parents or fond aunts or uncles should look into the matter if you want to win the undying affection of any small children on your Easter list. It's a parade of enchanting soap figures, highly diverting, but practical, too, that you may now see in many shops.

Your offering to the child nearest your heart might be Mr. and Mrs. Bunny and family. Mamma and papa carry the weight of family responsibilities easily; their tall pink ears are as perky as those of their four offspring. Every one in the family is snowy white save for fluffy pink tails. Or maybe the child you know would like Goosie, Goosie and Gander, yellow with bright orange bills and feet, and all three wearing black sunbonnets.

Our own love, in case any one wants to buy us an Easter present, is Prof. Duck, a learned looking bespectacled gentleman who wears his black mortarboard at a distinguished angle. He arrives in a black box that is a blackboard to the initiated and is complete even to a small sponge with which to erase such printed errors as that two and two make five.

One little pig is in the parade, too, whiter than some pigs are, and all bound round with a red ribbon. If none of these soap animals suit the fancy you might consider Tar and Feather, the black and white Scotties, with very red tongues, whose box is their kennel. There's a Noah's Ark, too, that floats, filled with such interesting animals as a pink elephant, a lion wearing spectacles, a zebra, and a nice duck.

Each one of these is made of good castile soap that won't injure delicate young skins. They're not expensive and they're so cute you'll want to play with them yourself.

Black-White Contrast Keeps Fashion Crown

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Black and white is still the best bet and pet buy of knowing clothes collectors who strive for sophisticated contrast. Black and white clothes this spring are as irresistible as during any of the many seasons since the famous combine went into action. And when some clever designer adds a touch of the right shade of gray the ensembles become the smartest things in town.

The evening clothes of black with dashes of white are knockout. One shop has a dotted net black beauty made with big sleeves caught into narrow cuffs at the wrists. These big sleeves that could almost hold three people are the most decorative affairs of the season, especially in transparent materials and in black or deep blue. Then with the clear white bows or tiny turnover collars or a big white flower trimming the dress, the result is perfection.

Black lace gowns with rows of tiny ruchings to accent the swirling knee flounces have long sleeves that are fitted, and deeply cutout décolletage at the back. Over it is worn a dashing short cape also trimmed with three rows of the narrow ruchings. Black net dresses, tucked and tailored, made with the huge balloon sleeves that reach the wrist or with sleeves that puff above the elbow, stress the simple tailored silhouette and high round collar line.

Black and white afternoon dresses use snowy white materials for the blouse or collars and cuffs. One bolero type dress has an under blouse of waffle weave heavy white silk. The jacket has wide loose sleeves and shows the white blouse between the jacket and slim skirt of black.

Another black jacket is worn with a dress that has a clear white short sleeved top [handsomely embroidered with a black monogram on the center of the chest], and then goes gray with a skirt of black and white mixture. The best of the stunning black and white combines are being featured now. See and buy them while they are new and startling.

Paint America, Is Grant Wood Plea to Artists

Speaks at Convention of Art Teachers.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

"Teach American art students to stay home and paint America." Such was the advice given a thousand art teachers in convention here yesterday by the Iowa artist, Grant Wood, famous for his "The Daughters of Revolution."

While Artist Wood spoke extemporaneously to a crowded sectional meeting of the Western Arts association in the Stevens hotel, twice the number expected at the convention stormed the headquarters. Miss Elizabeth Wells Robertson, director of art in the Chicago public schools, said only 500 had been expected.

"There is just as much art to be put on canvas right in our little towns of 5,000 as there is in the Latin quarter of Paris," Wood told the gathering. "I spent 20 years wandering around the world hunting 'arty' subjects to paint. I came back to Cedar Rapids, my old home town, and the first thing I noticed was the cross-stitch embroidery on my mother's kitchen apron. That to me was just as decorative as the costumes of Europe.

"Something else I discovered was that in Cedar Rapids I was not in touch with other artists and therefore was not too greatly influenced by them. I was free to express a regionalistic form of art, a type formed quite recently."

In an address at the night session Wood interpreted regionalistic art, of which he is a leading exponent, as an editorializing form of art in which the artist may express his own conclusions. These conclusions, he added, may not always prove popular.

"We are getting back to the old simple relationships between the artist and the public where art is not only a cultural but a dynamic force," he went on. "The American artist has had too toplofty an idea of his own rôle, with the result that his work has become completely divorced from general understanding."

In Wood's opinion the death knell of modernistic art his been sounded and in its place will be the regionalistic form.

A consciousness of American art is increasing in the allied fields of home decorating and industrial arts, speakers in those sectional meetings revealed in discussions of present trends.

"The American influence has been as strong as that of Europe in modern trends of interior decorating," Howard S. Boynton of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts told the home economics group. "The modern trends are toward a greater simplicity with clean lines and a general 'livableness.'"

The housing projects of the Public Works administration will have an influence on American art, according to Arthur Bohnen, a Chicago consultant for the PWA.

"We may not realize it now, but PWA housing will influence the urban living of the future," he said. "In the future cities will not build in terms of trafic arteries, but as places for living.

"The new housing projects will be healthy, and since health is beauty, they should be stimulating to art."

Keep Away from Water

By Alice Campbell.

SYNOPSIS.

Sarah MacNeil, young American living in London, accepts a post as companion to Miss Christine Venables, prim, kindly, and wealthy, who has been receiving letters that cannot be traced, threatening her life. Miss Venables spends most of the year at Ste. Brigitte, a resort in southern France. Her nephew, Harry, is to join her there soon. Before leaving London Miss Venables' widowed sister-in-law, Mrs. Mark Venables, Harry's stepmother, dies suddenly. She had been treated by Dr. Gilcrest from Ste. Brigitte, who was visiting in London. On the way to Ste. Brigitte Miss Venables tells Sarah that the death threats began after her friend, Maj. Frampton, was killed in a fall down an elevator shaft. She believes he was murdered. She and the major were both threatened by two oriental drug sellers they had had prosecuted. Miss Venables' particular friends in Ste. Brigitte, besides Dr. Gilcrest, are the Baron Henri de Bellesnaves and his beautiful wife, Beryl Tomlins, town librarian and harmless gossip, and a few old residents of the resort hotel. Sarah gathers that Dr. Gilcrest is in love with the baroness. Harry arrives. Beryl Tomlins, who had just had a prescription of Dr. Gilcrest's filled by his dispenser, Marjory Barrows, is taken suddenly ill and dies. Dr. Gilcrest states an intestinal hemorrhage caused her death. Miss Venables receives another threatening letter, telling her she has one more day to live. The fatal day passes safely. Miss Venables takes her medicine and retires. Shortly after Sarah is awakened by her agonized call. She dies within the hour after declaring she was poisoned. Sarah tells Dr. Gilcrest, who has been left a substantial income by Miss Venables, that it is up to him to demand a post-mortem. It is made, but discloses nothing, though the doctor's reputation is damaged. Then the baron dies, apparently a suicide. Dr. Gilcrest conducts a private investigation.

INSTALMENT XLVI.

A RUINED REPUTATION.

Having examined all the drugs, harmless as well as poisonous, Gilcrest replaced the jars in their former neat order, so that Miss Barrows might not guess anything had been disturbed. His frown deepened, the frown of a man caught inextricably in a trap which has no outlet. That, in spite of himself, he had been forced to invite these post-mortems! As things had turned out he could scarcely conceive of a worse calamity befalling him. He had run not his neck—O, no!—but his whole reputation into a noose, though not until he had seen the Medecin Legiste had he imagined how hopelessly landed he would be. The fellow had said little, for there was no need of comment with those odd appearances staring up at them. He had looked—and in his cynical, almost admiring eyes narrowed with speculation Gilcrest had read legal security—and professional doom. Yes, the analyst, like himself, had seen how completely the affairs were sealed up. Not only unproved, they were unprovable. There lay the catch.

"But Henri's death—is that sealed up, too. It seems to be. Even if I ventured to point out what I noticed, is it likely these benighted police would pay attention? Yet there must be a way out!" he muttered. "If brains invent a trap, brains can find a means out of it. I've got to . . . Good God, who's this?"

A knock, of all places on the laboratory door! He strode back into the carbolic reeking cubby hole, satisfied himself that no outward signs of his labors remained, and, opening the door a crack, peered distrustfully into the pitch gloom of the back garden.

"Venables!" he exclaimed, not overpleased.

"Saw your light," he explained hesitantly, "and wanting to ask a few questions, I thought I'd drop in. Experimenting, what? God, the stink! I—it's this de Bellesnaves business. Ought to have hung on, I suppose, to offer my services and so on, only Miss MacNeil turned queer, and as I didn't seem to be needed. . . . Did they hold the inquest? How did it come out? It was suicide, of course?"

"So it appears," was the brief response.

The blue eyes lost their strained expression. Their owner exhaled a long breath and fumbled for a cigaret. "Well, I must say I'm thankful to hear it's all settled. I mean, bad as it is, it would have been worse if it had strung out into one of these long sessions, wouldn't it? Which reminds me: Congratulations and all the rest of it on the way these other affairs have come out."

Gilcrest searched his visitor's features in contemptuous silence. Was it possible the man could be fool enough not to understand how matters were? If so, it would be waste of breath to contradict him. He, at least, would not have to suffer . . . but what was wrong? With a face suddenly blanched the young man was staring hard at the table. Why? Nothing about those test tubes or containers to excite peculiar interest—and the sacking was well tucked round what lay under the table. No, it was the table itself. . . .

"Can you see your way?" Gilcrest asked, holding wide the door.

"What's that?" With an effort Venables wrenched his gaze away, backed towards the darkness, but for an instant turned on his host a sickly smile. "Sorry! It's this vile stuff you've been using. Never could stick. . . . Good night!"

He was gone, bolting like a hare. The side gate clanged to.

"Ass! What caught his eye?"

Running a keen survey over the work table, Gilcrest himself descried what sent a chill along his spine. Fallen behind the test tube rack, but protruding enough to be seen from an angle, were the two dog collars—one broad, steel studded, the other a narrow band of morocco, red and stained with dark patches. No wonder the fellow had stared.

"Only, why in God's name didn't he ask me about them? It's a damned good thing he didn't, but for the life of him I can't see. . . ."

The reflection remained suspended. Into Gilcrest's face had come a look of profound, almost stupefied, meditation. Like this he stood for several minutes, finally shaking his head and muttering to himself like a person asleep. His movements, too, were those of a sleep walker as he removed the dog collars and locked them in a cupboard and switched off the light.

He went to his bedroom, mechanically stoked his pipe, and sank into one of the bagging wicker chairs. He was too tired to exert himself. Paper he must have for this job, but there was none within reach, only that bit sticking from between the pages of a book. That would do for a start, and the book itself. . . .

The title registered on his brain. He winced and dropped the volume as though it had burnt him, as he did so seeing vividly Sarah MacNeil's gray-green eyes regarding him across a card table with scorn and accusation in their depths. The paper, however, had dropped out. He picked it up, flattened it on his knee, and got out his pen, meanwhile muttering doggedly to himself.

"H Cl plus x equals y. . . . Blithering fool! Can't work a simple equation with two unknowns. Must find some hypothetical substitute for one of 'em, just to test out. . . ."

This writing! It was hers. But how did it come here?

He stared, his features distorted with livid rage. The note, the book in which it had lain hidden—now he knew why the girl had held that manner towards him, now he understood why she had insisted so stubbornly on the post-mortem! She had read this, of course!

Every vestige of torpor fell from him. He leaped to his feet, jerked open a drawer with such violence that it crashed to the floor, and with two movements ripped a photograph from its frame and tore it across. A match spluttered, and in another moment or two he was stamping out a smouldering débris on the harth to blackened powder.

At 2 o'clock the carpet round his chair was littered with fragments of paper, all jotted over with what looked rather like hieroglyphics. The letter x abounded, and on the last scrap, still retained in his hand, x had been given a fixed value.

"It works—in theory—but how does it help? I'll still be in a cleft stick. Yes, the very perfection which has saved me from trial and probable death sentence makes it totally impossible to vindicate myself. I saw it before, I'm convinced of it now. Too brilliant by half. There's no chance left but one, and that will simply never. . . . God! What now?"

The telephone at his elbow had sent forth a nerve shattering peal. Some one was calling him. He had supposed no patient would summon him again, but it seemed he was mistaken.

"Allo!"

A woman's voice broke into excited speech, half French, half Italian, the tones cracked with fright. As he listened he grew stony and intent, but he asked no questions.

A minute more and he had locked the house door behind him and in the dark garage was climbing into his car.

GASOLINE ALLEY—RING, RING, WHO'S GOT THE RING?

Abner Stilwell Visits Studios of His Wife

Miss Ames and Banker in Hollywood.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 3.—[Special.]—The honeymoon trip which Abner Stillwell, Chicago banker, took with his bride, Rosemary Ames, led him direct to Hollywood and the film factory where Miss Ames puts in her hours as a leading woman. The actress was her husband's guide around the Fox Movietone city lot here.

Merle Oberon is going out dancing with Eddie Lowe.

Dick Powell is redecorating and enlarging his bachelor home here and the reports published locally have it that he and Mary Brian are to be married.

Mady Christians, the Austrian actress whose first Hollywood film rôle cast her in the entirely unfamiliar character and surroundings of a poor white of the American south who shoots her bootlegger husband, has now been given something more in keeping with her continental talents and experience. She is to be featured in "Masquerade" together with Bill Powell and Myrna Loy, the story revolving around lively, tuneful Vienna of pre-war days. The poor white emotional drama which was to have been Miss Christians' American debut was withheld by the studio.

Gary Cooper next appears in "Peter Ibbetson" for Paramount.

The Metro company which is returning from Tahiti with background shots for "Mutiny on the Bounty" is bringing four war canoes which will be an item of intense interest to Wallace Beery, who often gets seasick. In Beery's present vehicle, "China Seas," which also is a ship drama, Beery not only has had to try to develop sea legs, but has had to try to build up a speaking familiarity with a dialect of the Malay peninsula. He has a bit of dialog 250 words long in Malay with Ivan Lebedeff. The latter, who plays a Malay pirate, has 300 words in his part of the dialog.

Freddie Bartholemew and Mickey Rooney, two of M. G. M.'s four kid prodigies, have launched turtle racing on the back lot at that studio. Freddie has a lady turtle named Tillie which has won sixteen of eighteen starts. The other two star pupils in the M. G. M. studio school which is presided over by Teacher Mary MacDonald are Jackie Cooper and Cora Sue Collins. The turtle races take place in an eight foot ring. The races take place out of school hours.

Veloz and Yolanda, famous dance team, are doing a specialty at Fox studio in "Under the Pampas Moon," Argentine story.

One of the most exacting nursing jobs in Hollywood history has just been completed by Bill Hart. Bill nursed his Great Dane dog, Minnie, over an injury diagnosed by a veterinarian as a broken back. The dog was an invalid nearly a year. A hunter trespassing on Hart's ranch hit the dog with the butt of his gun. He fled before Hart learned about it.

Do Men Prefer Women Who Are Not Punctual?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

How about it, boys. You'll have to tell us. Is it bad business for the young woman to be right on the dot when meeting you.

Jen reports that five times in a row she was Johnny-on-the-spot for the appointment. The chap came trailing along, five minutes late, ten, quarter of an hour and finally a half hour. She didn't complain much when the chap arrived. But he said to her finally: "Gosh, you're one of those efficiency dames. Always on time!" Lately, the date making is suffering a slump and Jen thinks perhaps she did appear too anxious to please.

"Next man that comes along," she vows, "will be the one to do the waiting!"

Perhaps it's a good vow, at that! We recall the recent remark, of a gay man about town, to the effect that one of woman's chief charms was in keeping a man waiting. From which we deduced that it gave the daughty sex a chance to smile at another of woman's weaknesses. Also, that there was something intriguing about the woman whose belated arrival hinted a life involved with other interests. We think, perhaps, the real argument is that woman have trained men not to expect them on time, and they may feel just a wee bit resentful of the time-clock efficiency.

"Pantry Shelf Dinners," a booklet of menus and recipes for unexpected guests, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Foods must needs be light and yet nourishing these restless spring days. So, as an able filler of the bill the soufflé struts into the picture.

Many otherwise highly accomplished cooks shy away from soufflés as a jump too steep for their skill. However, the idea that soufflés are difficult to make is just another exploded theory as long as the soufflé maker remembers just a few pointed pointers in their mixing and cooking.

Most soufflés are made on a white sauce basis. Make that first, butter the baking dish, heat the oven to 350 degrees F., and then think about beating the eggs. Separately beat the yolks until they're thick and creamy, and the whites to a moist high fluffiness. Finally blend the meat, fish, cheese, vegetables, or whatever is giving individuality to the soufflé with the white sauce, mix in the egg yolks, and last of all fold in the whites. Slip the baking dish into a pan of hot water, pop the whole thing into the moderate oven (the temperature is important!), and bake it until it springs back promptly when prodded gently.

Then, most important warning, serve your soufflé the minute it comes from the oven! Waiting is depressing business to the puffy young thing.

When soufflés play at being main dishes the transformations you can work with them in the way of added flavors are legion. For example, try a cheese soufflé made with Roquefort cheese instead of American—there's an intriguing luncheon dish for you! Or cast your gaze over these few suggestions:

Crabmeat Olive Soufflé.

3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
1 cup flaked crabmeat
4 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
3 eggs, separated

Make a white sauce from the butter, flour, salt, and milk. Cool, add the flaked crabmeat, olives, and well beaten egg yolks. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites, pour into a buttered baking dish, and bake in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven until firm, about 35 to 45 minutes.

Sometimes soufflés are given standing power with tapioca. Also, sometimes they appear at the table in dessert form. So just to combine the two "sometimes" forms here's:

Apricot Soufflé.

2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup hot milk
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup apricot jam
4 eggs, separated

Add the tapioca and salt to the milk and cook in a double boiler for fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Add the butter, cool, and mix with the sieved apricot jam. Combine with the well beaten egg yolks, fold in the stiffly beaten whites, and bake in a moderate oven with the baking dish set in a pan of hot water. Serve immediately with a soft custard sauce, whipped cream, or additional apricot jam.

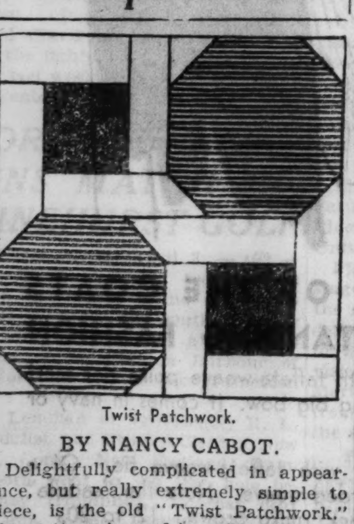
Twist Patchwork Quilt Block Is Simple to Piece



Twist Patchwork.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Delightfully complicated in appearance, but really extremely simple to piece, is the old "Twist Patchwork." The pattern is used in quilts as an all-over design. For variety, one may set the blocks together with narrow bands of insertion of white or solid colors to match the colors in the block. The completed block measures twelve inches square. Two shades of rose may be used attractively with soft yellow. Combinations of print and plain materials work up as effectively as all print or all plain.

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

The frock has short raglan sleeves and there are two jabot frill collars of white pique to finish it. The skirt fits perfectly through the waist and hips, and widens enough at the hem to allow freedom of movement. The jacket is short and unlined.

The pattern, No. 3082, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's interesting to note that what fashion editors call the "late lamented" afternoon dress is back in full favor again. Interesting, because it is but another gesture in the wide-scoped revival of everything feminine and soft and appealing. It sounds like a bit of a contribution to a more leisurely way of living, too. Jumping directly from practical daytime things into formal dinner things or into no change at all, if the evening is bare of social dates, is not good for the feminine soul.

Some of us hard by the clock workers, of course, may have to pass up the afternoon frock diversion. But that doesn't mean we can't have one for Saturday afternoons and Sunday afternoons and even for something to change into after the day's work is done.

We business women could certainly do a lot more for ourselves if we would cultivate the habit of shedding the day clothes and substituting something so engagingly feminine that our work worries would have nothing on which to feed after the day is done. There's good psychology in the dress change idea, girls, even if you're doomed to fill the evening alone. Your chances of not having to spend it alone are better when you're all set to go some place or call up and have some one in.

And this side of life can't be overlooked, you know, if you're in pursuit of the new beauty ideal, charm. You need contacts of the social order. You need diversion. You need the leisure hour frame of mind which, I think, is the important need of women engaged in work and neglect of which may make one dull, uninteresting, and uninspired.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

THE OVERBIDDER.

You find him everywhere. In with the champions, down with the dubs. It is hard to say how he first got started on his criminal career. Perhaps his first partner was an underbidder. Underbidding and overbidding form a vicious circle. The more you underbid, the more your partner overbids, to compensate for your lack of courage, and then you underbid some more, and so it goes, until the bidding either dies too soon or goes too high.

This may happen to the best of us with a new, mistrustful partnership. But to be a true overbidder you must have the virus in your blood. You must be a born and unquenchable gambler. The huge sets slip quickly from your memory. You recall only the grand slam you bid and made, with two aces outstanding against you. And each undeserved success swells the overbidder's sense of importance. He scorns his weaker brethren. He is usually a fine card player. He has to be to make his contracts. Any slam that only requires two finesses and a break in trumps is perfectly bidable according to his theories. And nothing enrages his opponents more than to have such a bid made. To have rotten bidding rewarded is bad enough, but his subsequent gloating over his daring adds the final straw.

Sp.—A x x	Sp.—K J 10 x x
Ht.—A x x	Ht.—Q J 9 x
Di.—x x x	Di.—x x x
Cl.—A K x x	Cl.—Q

The bidding:

NORTH.	SOUTH.
1 Cl.	1 Sp.
3 Sp. [1]	4 Ht. [2]
5 Ht. [3]	5 Sp. [4]
6 Sp. [5]

1. The first overbid. Two spades is the correct response.
2. Where on earth did he get that bid from?
3. Confidently accepting the slam try.
4. The very belated signoff.
5. The final, preposterous overbid.

Well, believe it or not, they made that bid. Clubs were opened and South threw two diamonds on the ace and king of clubs. The spade finesse worked; the queen of hearts was led, king covered, and on the return lead of a heart from dummy, the nine finesse held the trick. The jack of hearts dropped both the outstanding cards in that suit. All South lost on the hand was a diamond.

By this time both opponents were practically frothing at the mouth. East recalled bitterly the grand slam he had failed to make because all the outstanding trumps were in one hand. West was also weeping silently into his coffee. "What's the use of playing bridge," he wailed, "if you can make bids like that?"

Both North and South were good enough players, however, to realize what they had escaped. They smiled sheepishly and refused to discuss the matter further. But it might be added that they failed to bid the next four games which were dealt them. North, particularly, was the ne plus ultra of conservatism.

I find the best policy with the overbidder partner is to put a damper on his finest flights of fancy. When he bids a slam, and makes it, don't congratulate him, but point out that the slam should never have been bid. If he retorts, "Well, I made it!" reply, "I don't care. I'd rather give up this slam than have you constantly going down on other ones." If he's your opponent, interject gambling doubles every once in a while. You'll get him either way. If they work, his ego will collapse like a pricked balloon; if they don't, he'll become so cocky that you'll be bound to trap him in the next few hands.

Bridge Fans Fill Room for Tourney Play

Culbertsons Ahead; Match Nearly Half Over.

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—The S. R. O. sign was hung out today at Crockford's club as Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson and Mr. and Mrs. P. Hal Sims approached the halfway mark in their 150 rubber contract bridge match.

By winning seven out of the eleven rubbers played today the Sims family reduced the Culbertson lead to 9,460 points, a gain for the Simses of 1,880 points for the day.

Although the match has, from the first, attracted a considerable sprinkling of bridge experts and guests of the players, the spacious room in which the ring is pitched for the card battle has been crowded to overflowing for the last two sessions.

Play started this afternoon on rubber number sixty, the Culbertsons then enjoying a lead of 11,340 points. At the end of the next four hands Mr. and Mrs. Sims, who unaccountably hold better cards in the afternoon sessions, had cut the margin down to 9,380 points by winning 2 game rubbers. Two more deals and the Culbertson lead was back to 10,980.

The Culbertsons won the next rubber, a long one, by 210 points, and continued to take the next, the sixty-fourth, in two hands, bringing their advantage to 12,920 points, the highest it has been.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

When in November, 1922, Howard Carter, financed by Lord Carnarvon, discovered the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, this Pharaoh became one of the most discussed of all ancient rulers. King "Tut," as he is popularly called, had been buried about 3,000 years and with his remains were found great treasures of art and other materials of his time. It had been claimed that this tomb was under a curse and that all who entered it would be stricken with death. Investigators have followed up the health status of all those who have been in the tomb and they say the "curse" is all a myth—that, although some of the men have died, there has been no greater percentage of deaths among them than among any other similar number of men. Some Manual Activity Helps Nervous Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In the midst of the more important points that we are considering this week in regard to attempting to pull the nervous child out of his difficulties, I want to take time to run off on a little sidetrack of suggestion.

Neurologists who are treating cases of nervous exhaustion break down, or whatever you choose to call it, have discovered that healing and often the release of talent come through their patients' hands. They provide opportunity for these people to choose from among various of the arts and crafts. One convalescent patient of a nervous condition of mature years, whom I happen to know personally, diverted herself with soap sculpture—only to discover [and uncover] an authentic talent as a sculptor.

While we dig under to find fundamental causes, we can at the same time help the nervous child enormously by providing him with physical activity, but especially with activity of the hands. At the moment I am not thinking of playthings, though the right ones are most necessary. I am thinking rather of the many other ways in which a child can use his or her hands. And many things that are thought of as pursuits exclusively for either boys or girls can be engaged in by both.

As definiteness is always helpful, we might suggest: drawing with crayons or pencil, painting in water colors, tempera [or poster colors], or oils, modeling or sculpting—wood carving, the making of linoleum or woodcuts, and etching.

Among the crafts are carpentry or cabinet making, as applied to shipbuilding, making furniture and doll houses, designing and cutting out toys with a jigsaw and painting them, dyeing and weaving, sewing, and making small models of ships and airplanes.

The drawing, painting, and building of maps in our progressive schools is a high art—and at least one lad I know of is a gifted and enthusiastic and practically continuous follower of this pursuit. Collections of various kinds and the care of pets provide a little different type of manual activity, as does the "stunt" of learning to type—but they are enough similar in their physical and psychological effect to be mentioned in the same breath.

We have a condensed but fully written leaflet called "Helping the Nervous Child" which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Audiences Applaud Free Thought Plea; Nazis Close Play

BREMEN, Germany, April 3.—(AP)—Three evenings of lusty applause for Friedrich von Schiller's plea for freedom of thought was sufficient for Nazi authorities tonight. They clamped the lid down tight on presentation of the "German Shakespeare's" drama "Don Carlos" at the Civic theater.

The theater had placed the play, ever popular with German theatergoers, on its répertoire and the audience for three successive evenings greeted with vigorous applause the scene in which the Marquis de Posa charges King Philip II.:

"Sire, vouchsafe freedom of thought."

Rockefeller Jr. Will Finance Building for Metropolitan Museum

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—George Blumenthal, president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, announced today three important gifts to the museum by John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Mr. Rockefeller has undertaken to meet the cost of a new building for the cloisters branch of the museum, has donated four acres of land in Fort Tryon park for the structure and has given the museum the series of six priceless tapestries known as "The Hunt of the Unicorn."

It is estimated that the new building, the construction of which will begin at once, will cost in the neighborhood of $2,500,000. The plans call for its completion in three years.

The tapestries, together with the series known as "The Unicorn" now in the Cluny museum, are probably the finest existing examples of the art of tapestry weaving. They will be exhibited in the new cloisters building.

The cloisters, now located at 698 Fort Washington avenue, houses the major portion of the museum's collection of Gothic art. A large part of the collection, together with the present building and part of the grounds, was acquired through Mr. Rockefeller's generosity, from George Gray Barnard, the sculptor.

No Make-up can HIDE CONSTIPATION

A NURSE TAUGHT HER HOW

One has confidence in nurses, and more than one woman has originally been introduced to Midol through a nurse's recommendation. "It is such a real comfort, I have no more dread of periodic pain—and I used to have a bad time," is what one woman says of Midol tablets. They always bring relief from regular pain, make it easier to "be yourself."

Why not have this comfort from Midol? It acts fast, is effective for several hours, but it's not a narcotic. It is a special medicine, for this special purpose, and specialists can tell you how well it works! You'll see it on the druggist's counter, or just ask the clerk for Midol.

ITALIAN BOXERS OPEN BATTLE FOR CHICAGO TRIP

FIGHTERS FROM ALGERIA SEEK PLACES ON TEAM

Light Weight Boys Show Skill.

BY ED STORER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MILAN, Italy, April 3.—The finest amateur boxers of all Italy began battling here tonight in the new Fascist sports hall with the championships of Italy and places on the Italian team which will meet Chicago's Golden Gloves champions on May 22 as their goal. Seventy-five boys in the four lighter divisions saw action in the first round of the all-Italian tournament which will continue throughout this week until the eight individual championships are decided and the makeup of the team which will invade the United States settled.

Tonight's battles took on international aspect themselves with the surprise appearance of a squad from Algeria, made up of eight Italian fighters who now reside in the French colony in northern Africa. The Algerian squad made the trip on funds raised by their compatriots in Africa and its appearance in the arena caused a wild burst of enthusiasm among the spectators.

The participation of the Algerian fighters boosted Italy's prospects considerably as several are already known in Italy as experienced fighters who stand better than an even chance of winning national championships. They all gave a good account of themselves in their first round bouts.

Every Section Represented.

Every section of Italy from the slopes of the Alps to the southern tip of Sicily was represented and the huge sports hall was jammed to the doors with a colorful crowd as the tournament got under way. The hall in which the bouts are being fought is interesting in itself, being the finest and most modernly equipped Fascist precinct hall in all Italy. It is under the management of Ferruccio Daco, an old time athlete who was a "first hour" Fascist, one of the original band which supported the Fascist movement in Milan in revolutionary days.

Daco was one of those who marched on Rome with Benito Mussolini as an immediate follower of Il Duce.

Out of the first night's fighting three stood out as almost certain of places on the team that will go to Chicago. They are Matta, the furious Sardinian flyweight; Buratti of Lombardy, featherweight, and Marino Facchin of Genoa, lightweight champion of Europe. Facchin is a war orphan, who has had a long struggle to support himself. Through his great boxing ability he has become known throughout Italy and is the idol of Italian boxing fans.

Algerian Shows Skill.

An Algerian, Belmonte, showed himself to be a strong contender for the bantamweight title when he beat Mangaro of Sicily in one of the cleanest and fastest bouts of the evening. Agostino of Marche also established himself as a bantamweight championship possibility when he beat Botigelli of Lombardy by a wide margin. The final bell saved Botigelli from a knockout, ending the bout while the Lombard was still on the floor and obviously unable to rise before the count of ten.

Salicini of Emilia, Fabbri of Emilia, Bonetti of Lombardy, and Decurti of Venice appeared to be the strongest of the featherweights. Salicini and Bonetti especially showed themselves to be great punchers. Among the lightweights who are expected to give Facchin a battle for the championship are Gandola of Lombardy and Giorgiosi of Tuscany. Giorgiosi whipped Clavir of Latium, who was one of the fighters who led Latium to victory last week in the intercity bouts with Lombardy.

GEORGE DUNLAP WINS MATCH IN PINEHURST GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., April 3. — (AP) — George T. Dunlap Jr., today came through the second round of his defense of his north and south amateur golf championship with a 5 and 4 conquest of W. Stanton Barbour of New York, another former Princeton star.

Ray Lenehan of Providence, R. I., the medalist, and Charley Clare of New Haven, Conn., New England champion, both went to the 18th hole before they triumphed. Lenehan beat Dick Lunn, former District of Columbia champion, 1 up. Clare won from Clemson, Middletown, N. Y., by the same score.

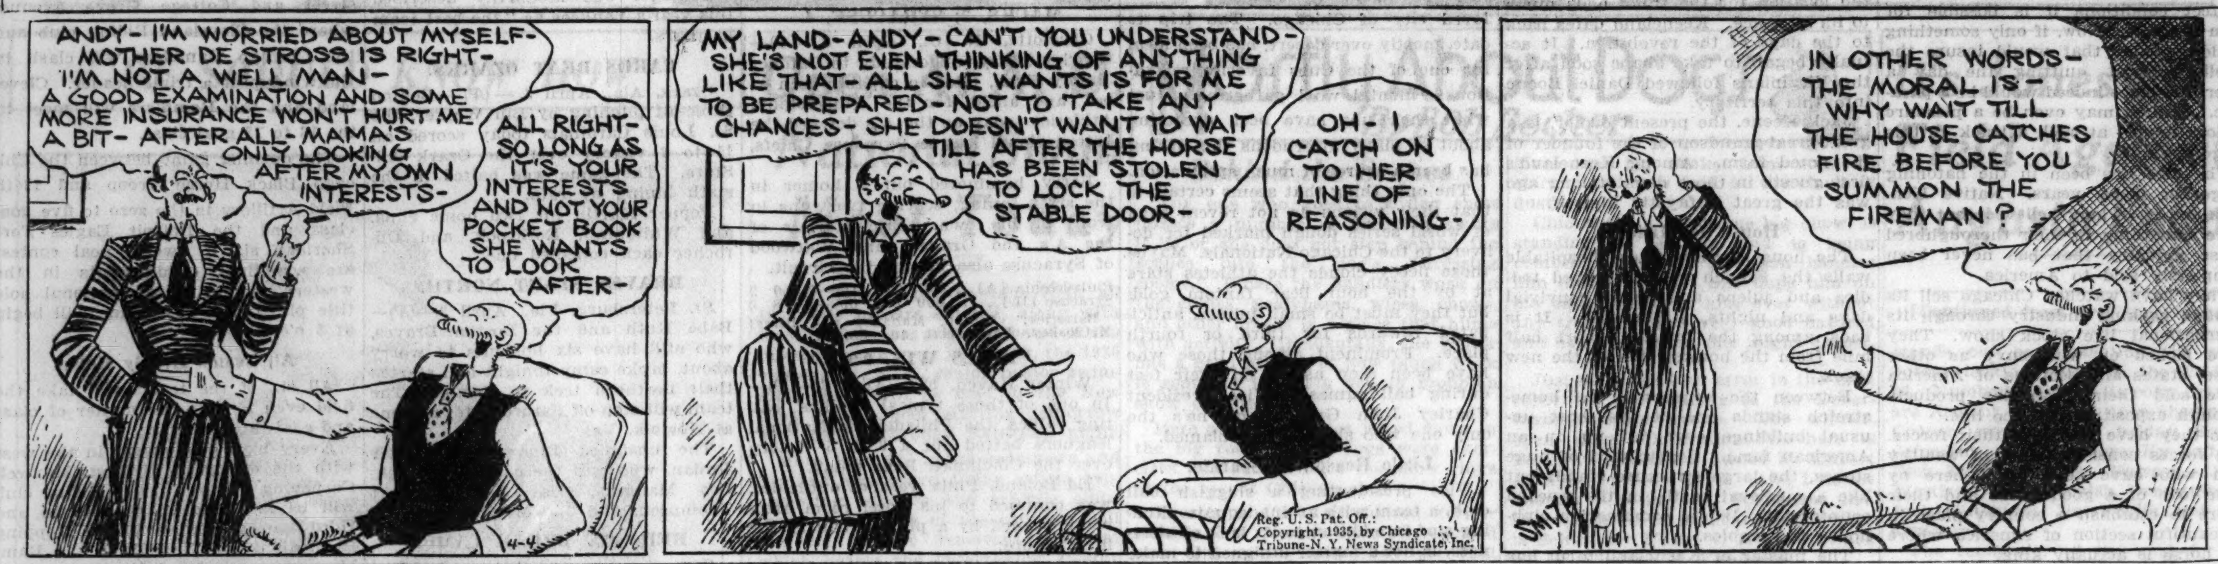
THE GUMPS—A STITCH IN TIME



Sox Whip Galveston, 11 to 1; Bonura Shows Off for Ma, Pa

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Galveston, Tex., April 3.—The White Sox, who have been more or less serious for the last week about beating the Pittsburgh Pirates, devoted themselves to harmless amusement this afternoon. They polished off the local Texas leaguers, 11 to 1, in a seven inning affair which made up the front half of a double header. The second act was devoted to the Pirates and the same minor league outfit. Pittsburgh won, 5 to 2.

The best that can be said about what happened while the Sox were earning their share of the day's limited receipts was that they enjoyed a lot of exercise. There was one or more of them on base in every inning due to the ease with which they slapped a couple of local throwers. In this particular Zeke Bonura was an exceedingly busy young fellow. He tore off two singles, one double, and walked once. His pa and ma were in the stands, so he couldn't be blamed for showing off.

Whitehead Yields Run.

The slightly old George Earnshaw, merely because he needs work, was permitted to do the first four innings of throwing to the so-called Buccaneers. He took things easy until he fell into difficulties, which happened in three of the four innings. He had no trouble extricating himself, usually by resorting to the strike-out ball. For the three concluding innings John Whitehead, the Texas league graduate, was paraded before his former enemies. He proved pretty good, even though scored against. This happened only because Redshirt Radcliff lost another decision to a fly ball in left field.

The Sox needed only one inning to prove there was more trickery to Jakucki's name than to his pitching arm. They started off against him with two runs. Hayes walked with one out, and after two were gone Bonura walked. Both scored when Washington lined the first pitch into right center for a double.

Keep After Jakucki.

The Chicagoans knocked a few more letters from Jakucki's name in the third. With one out, Simmons singled to center and Bonura singled to left. Washington scratched a single through the infield and Simmons scored. Bonura was nipped trying to get to third. Washington registered a moment later on Appling's two bagger against the left field fence. The fourth also produced a run, Ruel carrying it home after his own single and the dropping of a fly ball by Prerost.

Bennett, a kid southpaw, was led to the sacrifice in the fifth and the Sox made it a holiday by scoring four runs. He invited this treatment by walking three men. In between was a single by Bonura. The rest of the damage during the inning was inflicted by Glenn Wright. He batted for Earnshaw and drove in three mates by doubling to left.

The Sox still were going in for exercise in the sixth, so two more men raced around to the plate, much to the discomfiture of Bennett. Hafey, who had replaced Simmons, drew a pass. Bonura continued his demonstration for the folks by doubling. Washington singled, scoring Hafey and putting Bonura on third. Bonura scored on Appling's fly to right.

Play Pirates Tomorrow.

The tour with the Pirates will be resumed with a game at Houston tomorrow. Sam Jones, who admits something like 42 birthdays, will start on the mound for the Sox and, unless unforeseen difficulties arise, will remain in action for five innings. Ancient Sam might be delegated to pitch the season opener against the Detroit Tigers April 16 and to make sure that he's ready he'll have to undergo several more short workouts during the remainder of the exhibition ramble.

Quigley Council of the South division will meet Carroll of the West division for the championship of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league. Quigley reached the final game by beating Loyola-Hyde Park, 37 to 26, last night to take first place in the South division.

The championship will be decided Saturday night at the University of Chicago fieldhouse, 56th street and University avenue.

Train Doesn't Wait for Dean; He's Fined $100

Dothan, Ala., April 3.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean had something new to talk about tonight—a $100 fine imposed by Manager Frankie Frisch—but the oratorical pitching ace of the St. Louis Cardinals was strangely silent.

Frisch cracked a training rules whip over the backs of his lagging world champions today and the lash stung two players with fines. Two others were sent home. Dizzy, well known for his inability to take fines graciously, was stung the hardest.

Dean, Charley Gelbert, an infielder, and Outfielder Red Worthington missed the club train at Dublin, Ga., last night. By making a fast automobile trip the erring trio caught up with the baseball party at Macon, Ga., today, just in time to be greeted by Frisch in his managerial wrath.

Dizzy was fined $100, Gelbert $50, and Worthington was sent home to St. Louis for the remainder of the spring training, now in its last week. In addition Frisch sent Charlie Wilson, an infielder, home to St. Louis for breaking training the second time.

Cecil Smith Scores Ten Goals as Texans Win

San Francisco, Cal., April 3.—(AP)—Cecil Smith scored ten goals today to lead the Texas Rangers to a 13 to 11 victory over a picked California team. By the individual feats of Smith alone, the Texas quartet evened the count with the Californians in the second match of a three game high goal series. California won, 8 to 7, Sunday. The third contest will be played next Sunday.

BABY RUTHS WIN HOCKY TITLE BY BEATING BOSTON

Chicago Team Skates to 3-0 Victory.

The Baby Ruths won the national amateur hocky championship by defeating the Boston Olympics, 3 to 0, in the final of a home and home series last night at the Stadium before 11,000.

The Ruths won the series, 4 to 2, as the visitors had established a 2 to 1 lead in the first game at Madison Square Garden last Sunday afternoon.

Playing two scoreless periods the entire complexion of the series was changed within 55 seconds in the final period. To Right Winger Wilbert Savela goes the honor of putting the Baby Ruths on the way to the national title. It was this diminutive player who led the attack which tied the series score. He made his first appearance late in the third period, replacing John Rozinka.

May Play Canadians.

The Baby Ruths probably will meet the Canadian Allan cup champions for the North American title late this month at the Stadium.

Both teams resorted to long shots for the first five minutes, although the Bay Ruth defense men, Paul Schaefer and Bun La Prairie, were hitting the Boston forwards hard in hopes of slowing up their attack. Albert Houmi, Baby Ruth left winger, had the best chance to score midway of the period, with only Moone to beat, but he shot over the net.

Richards' Shot Stopped.

With less than two minutes to play, Ken Richards broke away, skated around Langmaid, and shot from close in, but Moone made a spectacular stop. Samec took the rebound, but missed the net completely, as did John Pleban. With seconds left to go, Fred McDonell brought Clem Poulin to his knees to save a hard low drive.

During the early stages of the second period the Olympics still played defensive hocky, but the Ruths' passing was inaccurate and many good chances were lost.

Nichols' Shot Stopped.

Ed Nichols, Baby Ruth center, brought Moone to his knees for two saves seconds apart after five minutes of play. Albert Beshal broke through midway in the period but his backhander went wide of the net. On the return play McDonell and Lax tested Poulin with two hard tries, but no score resulted. Both clubs tried long shots for the remainder of the session.

In the first few minutes of the third period Nichols passed from behind the net and Schotzlein missed a close-in drive. It was a close call for the Boston club. Wilbert Savela came on in place of Rozinka. Immediately Savela carried the play into Boston territory, drew the defense over and passed to Albert Soumi who scored. This tied up the series at two goals each.

Ruths Take Lead.

Less than a minute later the Ruths sent four men down. But La Prairie passed to Ken Richards, who scored, and the western champions forged ahead 3 to 2 on total goals.

Burr Spreitzer came on for the first time in the game for the Ruths. Boston sent five men down and kept Poulin busy on one of these mass plays; Leonard Saari broke away and passed to Albert Soumi at the goal mouth which resulted in another score for the Ruths and placed them in front 4 to 2.

THREE GOLFERS WITH A SINGLE THOUGHT

Paul Runyan, Bobby Jones, and Olin Dutra (left to right) occupying a few minutes with rest and conversation during final practice for the Masters' golf tournament, which opens today at Augusta, Ga. On the surface their talk is amiable enough, but each one is really thinking how badly he'll beat the other two when play begins. Final Stanley Cup Playoff Opens Tonight

TORONTO, Ont., April 3.—(AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs, seeking to win the historic Stanley cup for the fifth time since it became the accepted emblem of the world's professional hocky championship, tonight eagerly awaited the start tomorrow of the final 1935 playoff series against the Montreal Maroons.

The teams, survivors of the National Hocky league playoff series which involved six teams, will decide possession of the trophy in a three out of five games series. The first two games will be played here tomorrow and Saturday and the third and fourth at Montreal next Tuesday and Thursday. If a fifth contest is required it will be played in Toronto the following Saturday, April 13.

Leafs In Fine Shape.

The Leafs, who won their berth in the finals by conquering the Boston Bruins three games to one in the series for the National league title, were reported in fine condition today after spending a few days resting out of town. They completed their first series last Saturday without any injuries.

The Maroons, meanwhile, left Montreal tonight for the scene of battle after a similar preparatory session. They also ended their preliminaries Saturday after conquering the Chicago Blackhawks and New York Rangers. Their only casualty was Hooley Smith, who suffered a broken thumb at the end of the regular season but managed to play a big part in the earlier playoffs. Manager Tommy Gorman promised to show the Leafs plently of speed and hard checking.

Leafs Last Won In 1932.

The Maple Leafs last won the Stanley cup in 1932 when they swamped the Rangers. Other Toronto winners of the trophy were the St. Patricks in 1922, the Arenas in 1918, and the Torontos in 1914. The Maroons have captured the cup only once, in 1926, and last reached the finals when they lost to the Rangers in 1928.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

PIE TRAYNOR, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, should be in politics, his friends claim. . . . No one in baseball can remember faces as well as Traynor, and he also remembers the names that go with them. . . . Once you meet Pie he has you cataloged and will call you by the right name if he meets you again as long as four years later. . . . The late Knute Rockne had the same trait. . . . Rockne, however, would go a step farther. . . . He could name all your uncles and aunts. . . . Babe Ruth, on the other hand, never could remember the names of more than half the players on the Yankees and one-fourth of the players in his league. . . . A year ago this department was informing its readers Joe Louis, the Golden Glover, was quite a fighter. . . . Everybody knows it now. . . . Now for another tip. . . . Clinton Bridges, Detroit colored boy who succeeded Louis as Chicago's light heavyweight champion, is just about as good. . . .

Charley Gehringer is thinking about suing Harold Johnson because he permitted his American League Who's Who to go to press saying Gehringer is married. . . . Charley is Detroit's most eligible bachelor. . . .

Joe Greenberg, 19 year old brother of Detroit's first baseman, is shortstop on New York university's nine. . . . Plans are under way for a basketball doubleheader at Chicago Stadium next winter involving De Paul, Purdue, Northwestern, and Pittsburgh. . . . Burt Ingwersen, Northwestern's new line coach, says Monk Simons of Tulane is one of the best back field men he has seen. . . . Ingwersen had quite a half back himself at Iowa a few years ago named Bill Glassgow. . . . After pitching a couple of times to Vernon George Washington, who is expected to be the regular right fielder for the White Sox this season, Guy Bush of the Pirates remarked, "That fellow is a natural hitter and you have to be doubly careful when throwing to him." . . . Elmer Layden thinks his brother Mike, who has had to fight hard for an opportunity to show his worth, will be a great help to Notre Dame's back field next fall if he can loosen up and stop pressing like a chambermaid at a prom. . . . Paul Host, who captained the 1932 Notre Dame eleven and now is working in the sports department of a loop store, is buying baby clothes. . . . John C. Depler, Illinois football captain in 1920, has moved from New York to Chicago as representative of an insurance company. . . .

Eddie Cihocki, whose drafting by the Cubs was heralded as a musical event because he plays the piano, so far as is known has been in only one place where they had a piano and it was so badly out of tune he couldn't play it. . . . The fact that Jim Braddock is managed by Jimmy Johnston's brother may or may not have influenced the New York commission to name him No. 1 challenger for Max Baer's title. . . . Gene Mako, national intercollegiate tennis champion, is an expert piano player and is better than Lew Fonseca in parlor card tricks. . . . Ky Laffoon, golf professional who soon will take up his duties at Northmoor here, won $400 in 1931, $750 in 1932, $3,500 in 1933, and $6,419 last year. . . . Toronto hocky fans expect Ace Bailey, whose professional career was ended last season in an accidental crash with Eddie Shore of Boston, will be reinstated as an amateur so that he may continue in the game as manager or coach of a simon pure team. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today.—Wichita, Kas., won the University of Chicago's national interscholastic basketball championship by defeating El Reno, Okla., 27 to 6. . . . The White Sox won their 13th straight exhibition game, defeating Shreveport, 8 to 1. . . .

Augusta, Ga., April 3. — "Jones against the field."

That once familiar battle chant of the golfing wars will sound again over the rolling pine studded leas of the Augusta National Golf club tomorrow morning when the second $5,000 Masters invitational tournament opens with the first 18 of its 72 holes, which will not be completed until sundown Sunday. Thirty-three twosomes will set forth from the first tee tomorrow.

The Jones mentioned in that title needs no introduction. He is Robert Tyre Jones Jr., who after only one personal appearance since his retirement from active competition in 1930, is still the immortal Bobby to the home folks down this way.

As Popular as Ever.

Despite the fact that he finished in a tie for thirteenth place in the first Masters event last year, not to mention that his recent practice rounds have been of the up and down variety, he is the choice of the golfing fans to come marching home Sunday evening as he did at St. Andrews, Hoylake, Interlachen, and Merion five years ago, when he scored golf's only grand slam.

The field matched against Jones requires no more introduction than its single adversary. It is, in short, a golf gallery's dream, even more so than last year, since several who did not compete in the inaugural which brought Bobby back last year are very much on the premises tonight. All-star baseball and football teams have been named and have battled each other, but here at Augusta is the all-star golf field, ready for a four day struggle with the National club's par 72.

Smith Defends Title.

Leading this field, of course, will be the lanky Horton Smith of the Oak Park Country club, who became well enough acquainted with Augusta's eighteen holes last March to win the first Masters, with a 72 hole score of 284, four under par for the distance, and ten strokes up on Jones.

Jones and Smith would be a fair sort of field in themselves, but add the names of four national champions and you begin to have a working idea of what sort of a tournament this is likely to be. The reigning quartet includes Lawson Little Jr., of San Francisco, who won the British and American amateur titles last year, being one of the three men in history to have done so; Olin Dutra of Brentwood Heights, Cal., winner of the 1934 United States open; Paul Runyan, national professional champion, and Young Charley Yates of Atlanta, Ga., Jones' protégé, who took the national intercollegiate last year.

But stop, that isn't all. Ever hear of a big casual party named Walter Hagen? Or a bronzed stocky little man who operates as Gene Sarazen? Or Tommy Armour? Or Harry Cooper? Or Denny Shute? Well, they are all here in person and ready for work.

Sarazen Is Dangerous.

Sarazen is rated as Jones' outstanding opponent. The little Italian did not compete in the Masters last year, but he stopped by early to practice for this year's and in four consecutive workouts shot 65, 72, 67 and 67 for a 72 hole total of 271, 17 strokes under par for the full tournament distance.

Neither Jones nor any other contestant has touched these figures, and there is a general suspicion abroad in these parts tonight that Gene may come through with one of those performances which have won him a basket of national titles. His own personal worry is that he may have golfed himself out in those practice rounds.

The majority of the field left the first tee late this afternoon in a Scotch foursome competition, and it wasn't difficult to choose the quartet to follow, for all the class of the entry. It included Jones, Little, Dutra, and Jimmy Thompson, winner of the Australian Centenary open and recognized as the longest driver in golf.

Course in Top Condition.

By the time they returned, those who hadn't tested the course thoroughly once more came back singing hosannahs about its condition. That testimonial came in spite of the craftily planned greens, which proved a bane to more than one well meant approach.

The Chicago district tonight still

Will Work Out at C. Y. O. in Afternoon.

Max Baer will work out at C. Y. O. center this afternoon and then take a train for New York where he will appear on a commercial radio broadcast with Al Jolson Saturday and Monday. He will be accompanied by his manager, Ancil Hoffman; Buddy Baer, brother of the heavyweight champion, and Frank Pacassi, tour manager, will remain in town awaiting the pair's return Tuesday. The champion is scheduled to open a barnstorming tour in the central states next week.

Packey McFarland, Illinois athletic commissioner, escorted Champion Baer to a suite of rooms in the Congress hotel after yesterday's drill for a conference with Gov. Horner on a probable title bout in Chicago this year. Max expressed willingness to engage in a battle at Soldiers' field in September. He is confident a championship defense against Joe Louis here in the fall would gross the first million dollar gate since Jack Dempsey. He quickly qualified the statement by saying, "that is if Louis happens to knock out Carnera in their impending match."

Joe Louis may box Roy Lazer, Paterson, N. J., or Hank Hankinson, Akron, O., in a ten round contest at Chicago Stadium April 12, Stadium officials announced yesterday. . . . Lazer and his middleweight stablemate, Al Diamond, have returned after a short visit in the east. . . . It is reported Leo Rodak is likely to fight at Los Angeles, Cal., April 11.

Promoter Maurice Rivkin was forced to boost the percentage given Billy Miller and Puggy Weinert in their first match before he could persuade the welterweights to meet again Monday at Marigold Gardens. Each was paid 15 per cent of $648 net after their eight round draw March 25. They will receive 17½ per cent of the net gate receipts Monday. Syl Saleska, middleweight stablemate of Miller, probably will appear in the six round semi-final against Nestor Bruggman.

Eight amateur bouts will be held tonight at the Armory, Aurora, Ill. Lorenzo Lovings, Catholic Youth organization lightweight champion, who finished second in the recent Golden Gloves tournament, will fight Christ Boulahanis. A welterweight encounter between Pete Andrews, novice Golden Gloves titleholder, and Virgil McGinnis, St. Charles. Other matches will include those between Ben Hauser and Pete Poulos, and Dave Schimmel and Harry Peck.

Ted Bogan, head of the Polish Youth organization, has arranged the amateur card to be presented at P. Y. O. gymnasium tomorrow. Sam Zaczek, south section Golden Gloves winner, and William Glasgow, north side Golden Gloves qualifier, will be opponents in a feature attraction. The balance of the program:

Tony Musto vs. Paul Williams.
Sam Zalans vs. Steve Augustin.
William Cerajewski vs. Bugz Bogacz.
Gus Mozat vs. Joe Conrad.
Pete Schultz vs. Fred Mitchell.
John Rozdel vs. Steve Orlik.
John Franiak vs. Orville Lee.

Kentuckians to Build Racing Show Place Near Lexington

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 3.—A race track which will be a veritable sport of king's fairyland is fast taking shape. It will be set some six miles from here, in a section which might be called the cradle of the American thoroughbred horse, and unless something goes vitally wrong with the machinery, it will represent all the best traditions of the sport.

It will be located out in the country of famous Keeneland farm from which, in every direction, stretch the thousands upon thousands of rolling blue grass acres which have nurtured the great race horses of America.

Conditions to Be Perfected.

Over this track will race the fine horses of tomorrow under the most perfect conditions it is possible for man to make. Now, if only something could be done that would insure the public against guessing the day a loser, the place indeed would be a paradise. Still, it may even be a pleasure to lose money at such a track as this is going to be.

The idea has been in the hatching stage for many years. Native Kentuckians have long believed that they have something in their thoroughbred horse industry that has never been completely sold to America.

They have watched Chicago sell its famous packing industry through its international live stock show. They have looked on with envy as other cities, states and sections of America have sold their particular products through exposition and the like.

So they have mustered their forces. The forces consist mainly of wealthy men who have been lured here by their love of a good horse and their desire to establish a country place in a beautiful section of America where the horse is actually king.

These large estates are by no means few in number. Over there on one hike are the Whitney farm, representing three branches of the Whitney family. On another is a Vanderbilt farm. Spreading out in still another direction is the country place of Warren Wright, adjoining that of Col. Edward R. Bradley.

Then come the farms of Widener, Hancock, Riddle, Shaffer, Chinn, Piatt, Carruthers, Salmon, Headley—all names which are at the top or near the top of the Kentucky breeding industry and which are linked with this fairyland race track venture.

Plan Two Meetings a Year.

Twice a year, in April and October, the track will be open for a meeting of seven or ten days duration. Fashionable America will gather here and Kentucky will open its elaborate country places to friends. A solid week of sport and social activity will be the program. Kentuckians will invite the world to come and see their horses run against each other and to look around the fascinating surroundings in which the horse breeding industry is carried on.

The choice of Keeneland farm as the location for the track adds much to its romance. Keeneland dates back to the days of the revolution. It actually began to take shape soon after the Virginians followed Daniel Boone into this territory.

Jack Keene, the present owner, is a great-great-grandson of the founder of the noted farm. Among Keeneland's first guests in those days of long ago was the great Lafayette himself.

House Is Historic.

The house, within whose hospitable walls the French general sipped toddies and juleps and spent convivial days and nights, still stands. It is back among the trees, a short half mile from the homestretch of the new track.

Between the house and the homestretch stands one of the most unusual buildings ever put up on an American farm. Constructed of huge stones, the large structure stands out like a medieval castle in the wooded countryside. It is a combination clubhouse and stables.

The master of Keeneland farm has already expended more than $400,000 in building it and still it is not quite complete. It contains clubrooms, ballrooms, banquet rooms, and living quarters. Also it contains elaborate quarters for the horses which the guests will bring with them for the races.

And so amid surroundings such as these, Kentuckians in years to come intend to show what they can do best—raise fine horses.

OUR CUBS DREAM OF MANY THINGS, BUT NOT OF FLAG

Perhaps Lake Breezes May Waft Clouds Away.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Paso, Tex., April 3.—It would be a gross inaccuracy to report that the pennant bee is buzzing on this train as it transports the Cubs to the beloved city of Chicago. The trip to date, mostly over desert, has been ideal for one of the Cubs favorite relaxations—mental wool gathering. Just what the Cubs have been dreaming about so many afternoons this spring has been a source of much speculation.

The only thing that seems certain is that their visions do not reveal bags of world series dough marked for delivery to the Chicago Nationals. Maybe those fleecy clouds the athletes stare at by the hour bear fantom gold, but they must be small purses, anticipated rewards for third or fourth place. Prominent among those who have been seen asleep on their feet during ball games is Vice President Charley John Grimm and he's the only one who shouldn't be blamed.

Little Reason to Sparkle.

Vice presidenting a sluggish ball club, a team with an inadequate pitching staf in addition to its lack of alertness, is not a matter designed to make any man sparkle in his so-called waking hours, but while V. P. Charley John is to be pardoned some of his men are to be condemned. In one or two cases the sluggishness amounts to a stupor to an extent almost unbelievable to those accustomed to observing the actions and reactions of professional athletes.

This condition is not necessarily desperate. With the glorious breezes of Lake Michigan blowing in their faces some of the dreamers may become aroused. When and if this happens the Cubs will have a pretty good ball team.

Mr. Grimm today says he is well pleased with the physical results of the California training season, except that he still feels the crying need of another starting pitcher. The only one of the minor league crop that has equaled or exceeded expectations is Roy Henshaw. Roy is figured on for heavy relief duty and being a lefty may get starts against the Giants and Pirates, notoriously prejudiced against left handed pitching.

They May Come Through.

The exhibition season still has eight games to go and it may be that Clay Bryant, Fabian Kowalik, and Hugh Casey, relieved of the horror of being left in California, will have the opportunity to show their best talents.

The Cub party is due in Chicago at 9 o'clock Friday morning. Saturday and Sunday the Washington Senators will be guests at Wrigley field. French will pitch Saturday and Warneke Sunday, according to present plans. Lee will pitch against the New York Yankees in Chattanooga Monday afternoon.

Indians Whip Giants, 6 to 1, Despite Mel Ott's Home Run

Jackson, Miss., April 3.—(AP)—Mel Ott's home run off Monte Pearson in the fourth inning saved the New York Giants from a shutout today as the Cleveland Indians made it four out of six in their barnstorming series with a 6 to 1 victory.

The Giants were limited to seven scattered hits by Pearson and Willis Hudlin while the Indians got to Fred Fitzsimmons and Allyn Stout for eleven, five of them doubles. Fitzsimmons blanked the American leaguers for five frames but in the sixth yielded three runs on successive hits by Wright, Averill, Trosky and Hale.

Berry hammered out a homer in the sixth inning, scoring two runs in front of his own. Eric McNair of the A's and Graham and Watwood of Syracuse also hit for the circuit.

PHILS WIN, 9-5.

Winter Haven, Fla., April 3.—(AP)—In one of those typical Phillies' batting rallies, the Philadelphia National leaguers batted out a 9 to 5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds today.

Ed Boland, Phils' reserve outfielder, was confined to his hotel room after being beaned by a pitched ball in the fifth. Score:

The Browns batted young Harry Eisenstat off the mound in the third inning. The Dodgers collected nineteen hits, including a home run by Babe Phelps. Score:

YANKS RELEASE KIES.

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 3.—(AP)—The New York Yankees discarded only one player today as they broke camp and started for home. Catcher Norman Kies was sent to the Columbus American Association club, thus assuring Joe Glenn of the job as third string backstop.

CARDS BEAT OZARKS.

Ozark, Ala., April 3.—(AP)—Behind three-hit pitching by Bill Walker, the St. Louis Cardinals today scored an 11 to 2 victory over the Ozark All-Stars. The game was halted in the sixth inning by rain.

Pepper Martin hit two home runs, and Whitehead, Rothrock, and Durocher each collected one.

BRAVES START NORTH.

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 3.—(AP)—Babe Ruth and the Boston Braves, who still have six holdouts to worry about, broke camp tonight and started their northern trek to Boston. The team will stop off Saturday for a game at Norfolk, Va.

The unsigned Braves are Baxter Jordan, who quit the camp last week; Leo Mangum, Hal Lee, Ruppert Thompson, and Joe Mowry.

RED SOX BREAK CAMP.

Sarasota, Fla., April 3.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox broke camp today and started the 22 hour train jump to Atlanta, where they will engage the Crackers tomorrow and Friday.

During the last five weeks of training, veteran camp followers have been unable to pass judgment on the Sox's pennant chances.

DECIDE WESTERN HIGH GOAL POLO TITLE TONIGHT

Three Games Scheduled at 124th Armory.

The west's high goal polo team that will meet the eastern champion in the national indoor tournament in New York will be determined tonight at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue, where the Cleveland Riding club and the Chicago Ramblers will clash in the windup of a triple header. Cleveland and the Ramblers will meet in the 13 to 18 goal class.

The opening game between the Chicago Black Horse Troop and 124th Field Artillery in the zero to five goal class and the Detroit Eagles-Fort Sheridan six to twelve goal contest are semi-final engagements in the western section of the national polo title play. The first game will begin at 8 o'clock.

All six of the teams will take the field even in both the matter of class and goal ratings.

Every high goal player in the west with the exception of Capt. Maxwell Corpening of the Chicago Riding club will be in action in the second and third games this evening. Topping them all is Bill Nicholls of the Ramblers, six goals. Hank Evinger and Bill Fergus of Cleveland, and Lieut. Larry Smith of Fort Sheridan, are in the books at five, while Herb Lorber of the Ramblers and Maj. C. A. Wilkinson of Fort Sheridan carry a rating of four goals apiece.

Cleveland, lining up with A. Z. Baker, Fergus and Evinger, and the Ramblers with Nicholls, Lorber and Lieut. Steve Hammond, are 13 goal teams.

Detroit 9 Goal Team.

Detroit with Volney Bayley, Billy Fisher and Perry Williams, and Fort Sheridan with Lieut. E. C. Greiner, Maj. Wilkinson and Lieut. Smith, will be at 9 goal strength apiece.

Dempsey Resumes Training Routine; Fights Flabbiness

New York, April 3.—(AP)—On the theory that when men reach the age of 75 they still should be kids both in spirit and flesh, Jack Dempsey went back into training today.

"I'm just fortifying my body against the time when I'll be 75 so that I'll feel spry as a youngster," said Dempsey after a brisk 45 minute workout under the supervision of Artie McGovern.

Doing the "glad hand" act in his mid-town restaurant for more than 12 hours a day for a couple of months has softened up the former heavyweight boxing champion. He's on his feet all that time, extending a cordial welcome to his guests.

"The only part of my body in good condition is my right hand—I use it a thousand times a day," he smiled.

Dempsey weighed slightly more than 205 pounds before his workout. Then he went through a brisk and strenuous program of calisthenics, punching a heavy bag and bicycle-riding. After 15 minutes in a sweat box, a shower, and then a rubdown he scaled 203½ pounds.

He hadn't been in a gymnasium for more than a year. When he was in fighting form his waistline was 33 inches. Now it has swelled to 38.

"I want to lose a little of this flabbiness," said the former champion. "You know I'll be 40 years old on June 24 and I don't want to acquire one of those middle age spreads. Plenty of hard work never hurt anybody. You know that's the trouble with most of the present day heavyweights, particularly champions. They don't work enough. One fight a year, why that's a joke!"

"Fight promoters and the public, too, are holding Baer's ability too high and his opponents' too cheap," Dempsey said. "All this talk about Baer wanting to fight two men the same night has bamboozled everybody and, I think, hurt the game some."

WILLIAM IRVINE WILL TRAIN FOR CHICAGO STABLE

Lexington, Ky., April 3.—[Special.]—William Schmidt of Chicago, whose horses race under the name of the Superior stable, announced here today that he had employed William Irvine of Baltimore to train his extensive string this year. Irvine formerly trained for Willis Sharpe Kilmer and Sylvester Labrot.

The Chicago turfman was here today assembling his stable, which is made up for the most part of 2 year olds. He purchased most of them from Hal Price Headley and from C. C. Van Meter. The stable will begin its racing campaign at Churchill Downs on April 27.

Douglas Park Captures Basketball Title, 27-23

Douglas Park defeated the Off the Street club of Altgeld park, 27 to 23, last night at Franklin park in the finals of the Chicago park district's citywide basketball tournament for boys in the 115 pound class. George Donoghue, general superintendent of parks, awarded medals to both teams. The following all-star team was selected: George Mead, Altgeld park, and Ed Nischalik, Pulaski park, forwards; Cliff Castle, Altgeld park, center, and Max Mass and Morris Volt, both of Douglas park, guards.

C. Y. O. Juvenile Boxing Tourney Starts Tonight

With an entry list of 1,100, which is three times as large as last year's, the second annual Catholic Youth organization juvenile boxing tournament will start tonight at the C. Y. O. center gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. Sixty-five bouts are scheduled, the first at 7 o'clock.

Parishes having the largest entry lists include Presentation, St. Christina, St. Nicholas [Evanston], St. Alphonsus, St. Patrick's [South Chicago], St. Michael's [South Chicago], and St. Leonard's [Berwyn].

PARI-MUTUELS CHARGE LODGED AT BAY MEADOWS

San Mateo, Cal., April 3.—[Special.]—Officials of the Bay Meadows race track today were subpenaed to appear before the assembly public morals committee at Sacramento. Racing was suspended for the day, but will be resumed tomorrow.

The officials will answer charges of irregularities in the pari-mutuels. The charges were made by Frank J. Hudson, former employé of the California racing commission, who also said the board showed favoritism to certain persons.

Stagg Field Picked for South Suburban Track Meet

Stagg field was chosen as the site of the annual South Suburban league track and field meet at the annual meeting of league coaches at Kankakee yesterday. The event will be held on May 25. Discussion centered around possible abandonment of the lightweight league, but it was decided to table the matter until next fall.

EDELWEISS AND LA SALLE WIN CLASSIC GAMES

The Edelweiss and the La Salle-Windsors upset two more highly rated teams in beating the Vrba Motors and the Baby Ruth Candies, respectively, last night in the Classic Bowling league matches at Windy City. The Pabsts defeated the Monarchs two games and the Cardinals did likewise to the Budweisers. Scores:

Star Table Tennis Players Assemble for Title Event

Jimmy McClure and Sol Schiff, 1934 national ping pong and table tennis champions, respectively, will be the prime favorites to meet in the finals of the national table tennis tournament which opens at the Stevens hotel Friday night.

Both of the players, who head the upper and lower brackets, have made Chicago appearances before. Schiff's powerful drives enabled him to defeat the veteran local player, Max Rushakoff, in the 1933 American zone tryouts.

McClure, who has recently returned from a European series of exhibitions, participated in the local matches which starred the great Hungarian pair, Viktor Barna and Sandor Glancz. In the finals of the American zone competition in New York this year he defeated Schiff.

McClure and Schiff arrived yesterday, together with many other contestants.

Among the women Defending Champion Ruth Aarons, New York City, will be opposed by nationally famed competitors. Prominent among these are Helen Ovenden and Jay Purves, local stars; Emily Fuller and Ann Sigman, New York, and Ethel Schneider, St. Louis.

COACHES' PLANS FOR NEW RULES TESTED IN GAME

Control of Pivot Plays Is Advocated.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Members of the National Basketball Coaches' association—more than 150 in number—yesterday began a series of discussions at the Sovereign hotel which will culminate tomorrow in their requests for changes in the basketball rules to be presented to the rules committee Sunday and Monday in the annual meeting of that body in New York. Many of the suggestions of the coaches were tested last night at Loyola university gymnasium in a series of practice contests between DePaul university and Illinois Wesleyan quintets.

In the main most of the coaches seemed to be satisfied with the present basketball code if opinions expressed in conversations yesterday serve as a criterion. Unanimity of criticism, however, was apparent in discussions of the control of the ball on pivot plays in the offensive free throw lane. Few wished to eliminate the center jump, but many desired to restrain the other men from entering an adjacent zone while the center men were striving for possession of the tipoff.

Show How Fouls Occur.

At Loyola last night not only were restraining lines used at the center jump, but the players also demonstrated the fouls that occur on the pivot line plays. The present rules provide for the courts to extend two feet beyond the edge of the back boards. Distances of four and six feet beyond the boards also were tried out.

Considerable interest was evidenced in the height of the goal from the floor, now ten feet, and a few advocated that twelve feet be the height in order to eliminate the congestion of players under the back board and the attending fouls resulting from contact.

All sections of the nation were represented yesterday at the coaches' meetings. Sam Barry of Southern California was among the Pacific coast contingent, while Nat Holman, former Celtics professional star and now coach of the City College of New York, was one of the several eastern men.

Title Teams Represented.

The central states quite naturally had more representatives, and among them were the men from the championship teams of the Western conference, Dr. Walter Meanwell of Wisconsin, Ward Lambert of Purdue, and Craig Ruby of Illinois.

Among the reports yesterday following the meeting of the board of directors, was that of Dr. Forrest Allen of Kansas, who brought to attention "Public Enemy No. 1," the partisan crowd which boos officials' decisions and undoes the work of the coaches in teaching their players sportsmanlike conduct. Dr. Allen also advocated a universal type of box score for newspapers which would include missed free throws as well as field goals, free throws and personal fouls.

Today's program, which is open to the public, follows:

10 a. m.—Movies of basketball interpretations explained by H. V. Porter of the Illinois State High School Basketball association.

2 p. m.—Technical discussions: "Footword," by Adolph Rupp, Kentucky; "Quick Break Attack," by Ward Lambert, Purdue; "Individual Finesse," by Nat Holman, City College of New York; "Elimination of Center Tipoff," by John Bunn, Stanford; "Zone Defensive Formation," by Louis Menze, Iowa State, and movies of the interallied champions of 1918 and the Kentucky-New York university game of 1935.

Open A. A. U. National Swim Meet Today

New York, April 3.—(AP)—With all 1934 title holders entered, along with most of the stars who competed in the intercollegiate meet last week, the 1935 National A. A. U. senior indoor swimming meet will be held in the New York A. C. pool starting tomorrow and lasting through Saturday night.

More than 125 speed swimmers and low and high board diving artists, representing colleges and athletic clubs from all sections of the country, will compete in the ten-event program which boasts the outstanding all-star cast in many years.

The meet will be the occasion for the renewal of the rivalry between Jack Medica, Seattle, who established world's records in capturing the 1,500 meters and 440 yards titles at Cambridge last week, and young Ralph Flanagan, Miami, who led Medica to the finish two years ago in the 500 yard event and then laid off for a year.

Medica and Flanagan, in addition to a strong field which includes Jim Gilhula, who forced Medica to those two records in the college meet, will meet in the 220 and 500 yard free style swims in what appear to be the top numbers on the program. Medica won the 500 yards event a year ago at Columbus, O., covering the distance in five minutes and 29 seconds.

While all of the swimming events are expected to be closely contested, Richard Degener of the Detroit A. C. is figured a sure bet to retain the low and high board diving titles.

Trial heats in all events will be held in the afternoon, with the finals at night.

Mostly About Dogs

By Bob Becker

Behind the Scenes

Any one who goes to a dog show misses a number of amusing sights if he or she does not step behind the scenes into the dog's "dressing rooms." Where the handlers work on the collies, Sealyhams, wires, chows, and other breeds is a place that hums with activity. Incidentally, the visitor has a good picture of how much work is required to put a dog in topnotch show condition.

Here are a few notes jotted down in the big room where dogs were exercised and groomed for the show rings at the recent Chicago show:

There's a little wirehaired terrier getting his "white pants" combed out. Interesting how they get that straight line effect from the tops of the shoulders down to his toes by grooming the hair a certain way. This eight months old pup is making her first show. She is a little frightened, but she stands nicely to let the trainer comb out the hair on her front legs.

"Where's that Scottie? Where's that Scottie?" Owen Craighead has just rushed in with a Scottie under his arm and now is looking for another that he must show at once. The judge is waiting. All of us jump around while Craighead opens crates looking for the dog. A colored boy has taken the dog to the show ring to hand it to Craighead, it finally is ascertained. Out he goes on the run.

They're working on a Kerry now, putting the finishing touches on the coat of this distinctive breed. The spectators can't help commenting on the trim the dog gets and the way his whiskers are combed straight out.

Over in the corner the white dust from chalk is in the air. A Sealyham terrier has been chalked and combed and looks as if he just has stepped out of a beauty shop. Then the dog gives one big shake from stem to stern. And now look at the cloud of dust!

Chic A Go, a handsome big chow, is standing on a box and is being combed. Mrs. W. Morrison handles him like a puppy. She flops him on his back and rolls him over without any trouble. He's very good natured and not as aloof as one might expect.

Just discovered an error in the final report of the winners in the Dobermann-Pinscher group. The winner, open dogs, Dobermann-Pinschers is Faust v. Lindenhof, owned by Hubert A. Allen of Glen Ellyn. And I notice another slip in the Schnauzer list. Best of breed of standard schnauzers is Schwarzer Uhlan v. Hessen, owned by Dr. Thomas B. Friedman.

Owners must watch their dogs when they exercise them out here. Just saw a saucy little Boston terrier try his best to get at a collie when the two dogs passed each other with handlers.

Every one is looking at a whippet now. One of these slim little dogs [fawn colored] has just been brought out and it is causing much comment.

Numbered among its color bearers are Armour, Canadian open champion; Cooper, western title holder; Smith, defending champion here; Ky Laffoon, Dick Metz, Johnny Dawson, Jack Westland, Frank Walsh, Denny Shute, Jock Hutchison, Jim Foulis, and Abe Espinosa.

The remainder of the cast for tomorrow's eighteen holes holds everything that a fairway trouper might ask for. There is the age and youth angle, with such old timers as Jock Hutchison, Fred McLeod and George Sargent, and Fred Haas, western junior and southern amateur champion; Yates, Jack Munger, the interscholastic star from Dallas, and Gus Moreland, Walker cup star.

Craig Wood to Play.

Then there are the leading money winners of the current year, stars such as Craig Wood, runner up to Smith last year; Henry Picard, whom many regard as the hottest golfer in the field; Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee; Bill Mehlhorn, Wiffy Cox, Bobby Cruickshank, Victor Ghezzi, Harold McSpaden and Bryon Nelson.

The pairings for tomorrow bring Al Espinosa, up from Mexico City for the event, to the tee at 10 a. m. with Walter Kozak of New York. Armour and Sarazen will follow a half hour later, with Dutra and Little trailing them a few minutes after. Jones and Smith, in what should be the gallery twosome of the day will not drive off until 1 p. m.

If you don't care how old you look—

YOU NEEDN'T BOTHER TO READ THIS ADVERTISEMENT

If you lived in a grass hut down near the equator where the tropical sun was constantly robbing your skin of its natural oils, there might be some excuse for premature age lines in your face.

But what's the sense of inviting wrinkles every time you shave when there is Barbasol waiting to simplify that operation and keep your face looking young.

Alkali, present in shaving soaps, dries out the skin, just like the tropical sun. It removes those protective oils and paves the way for wrinkles and age lines.

Women know that a dry skin is death to beauty. That's why they use creams and bland oils on their faces.

Barbasol makes mussy lather unnecessary. It's so soothing that people use it for sunburn—so Barbasol makes shaving a joy and eliminates such pests as ingrown hairs because it enables the razor to make a clean job of it at the base.

BARBASOL BLADES now 5 for 15¢

For only fifteen cents you can now buy 5 of those scalpel-keen Barbasol Blades that make shaving a joy.

Tune in Edwin C. Hill every Wednesday evening over the Columbia Broadcasting System coast-to-coast, and Singin' Sam—the Barbasol Man—every Friday evening over WOR, WLW and WGN. (See your newspaper for local time.)

For Modern Shaving: No Brush • No Lather • No Rub-In

J. MULLENBACH, RETIRED LABOR MEDIATOR, DIES

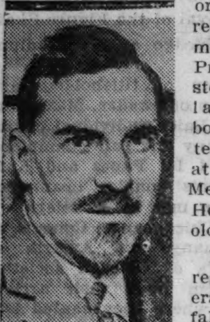
James Mullenbach, who was a member of the board of education under two former mayors and who more recently was a member of the President's oil, steel, and textile labor relations boards, died yesterday morning at the Chicago Memorial hospital. He was 64 years old.



JAMES MULLENBACH.

Mr. Mullenbach resigned his federal position last fall after he had been stricken with heart disease. He never fully recovered and he was taken to the hospital two weeks ago when his condition took a turn for the worse.

For more than 20 years, beginning in 1912, Mr. Mullenbach was chairman of the labor arbitration board of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, clothing manufacturers, and of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. He had served as superintendent of the Oak Forest infirmary and also as assistant superintendent of the United Charities.

First Appointed by Dever.

Mayor Dever appointed him to the school board in 1924 and he was a holdover under the succeeding administration. After 1927 he frequently found himself at odds with other members of the board, fighting against what he considered wasteful use of funds and objecting to Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew's ouster for political reasons.

Particularly, he attacked the so-called Mason bill, which was introduced in the legislature and would have permitted the city to take over a part of the school tax funds and build schools on money borrowed through bond issues. Mr. Mullenbach claimed that such a system would increase school costs 50 per cent and give city politicians control of the schools, without responsibility.

Carries Fight to Victory.

Despite threats of other members of the board and official orders to "shut up," Mr. Mullenbach and other Dever holdovers continued their fight and the arrangement never was carried out.

At the time McAndrew was tried by the board for "disloyalty" Mr. Mullenbach was one of the superintendent's supporters. This battle, however, was unsuccessful. Before his retirement from the board in 1931 Mr. Mullenbach introduced a resolution requesting that his fellow members apologize to McAndrew.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Chicago Theological seminary with burial at Fulton, Wis., the former home of Mrs. Mullenbach. Mr. Mullenbach's Chicago home was at 855 East 51st street.

Surviving Mr. Mullenbach are his wife, a son, Philip, and four daughters, Mrs. R. B. Robertson, Mrs. William A. Moore and Misses Anne and Katharine Mullenbach.

MRS. A. C. BARNES DIES; WIDOW OF CHICAGO JUDGE

Mrs. Jessie Welles Griswold Barnes, widow of Judge Albert C. Barnes of the Appellate court, died yesterday in her home at the Drake hotel after a three months' illness. Funeral services will be held at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at the Graceland cemetery chapel.

Mrs. Barnes, who was 70 years old, moved from Highland Park to the city last fall. She was married to Judge Barnes in Chicago in 1895. Judge Barnes died four years ago after serving on the bench of the Superior and Appellate courts for 27 years.

Wife of J. Clarke Coit Is Dead at Winter Home

Mrs. Mary Sargent Coit, wife of J. Clarke Coit, president of the United States Radio and Television company, died yesterday at the Coit winter home at Clearwater, Fla., according to dispatches. Coit was formerly president of the Lee-Coit-Andreesen Hardware company of Omaha, Neb. Ten years ago the family moved to St. Louis and thence to Chicago. Coit is also president of the Radio Manufacturers' association.

Woman, 74, Suffocated When Her Cottage Burns

Mrs. Mary Anderson, 74 years old, was suffocated by smoke early today when fire started in the cottage in which she lived in the rear of 728 North Springfield avenue. The fire was caused by an overheated stove in the house and the smoke apparently overcame Mrs. Anderson while she was still asleep. She was burned only slightly by the time firemen had taken her body from the building.

Prof. E. B. Skinner, 42 Yrs. at Wisconsin 'U,' Dead

Madison, Wis., April 3.—(AP)—Ernest Brown Skinner, 71, emeritus professor of mathematics at the University of Wisconsin, died in a hospital here tonight. Prof. Skinner, who served the faculty 42 years until last June, was educated at Ohio university and Clark university and had doctorates from the University of Chicago and Ohio.

Lay Death to Operation; Arrest Reported Suitor

Miss Mary Novak, 32 years old, of 2212 West 54th place, died last night in Southtown hospital of what police said were the effects of an illegal operation. Stephen Zakes, 39 years old, of 1319 West 61st street, said to be a suitor of Miss Novak, was taken into custody by Gresham police for questioning.

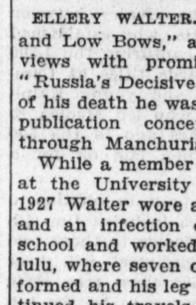
ELLERY WALTER DIES; AUTHOR OF TRAVEL BOOKS

Ellery Walter, 29 years old, author of "The World on One Leg," a best seller a few years ago, and of two other volumes, died at St. Petersburg, Fla., on Tuesday night, it was learned here yesterday. He had been ill for some time and had undergone an operation several weeks ago.



ELLERY WALTER.

Walter, a former Chicagoan, had traveled through many foreign countries and his works were the chronicle of his adventures. His other volumes were "High Hats and Low Bows," a collection of interviews with prominent persons, and "Russia's Decisive Year." At the time of his death he was preparing a fourth publication concerning his travels through Manchuria.

While a member of the rowing crew at the University of Washington in 1927 Walter wore a blister on his foot and an infection developed. He left school and worked his way to Honolulu, where seven operations were performed and his leg amputated. He continued his travels, visiting Germany, Russia, China and Manchuria, among other countries.

Walter worn born in Philadelphia and came to Chicago when he was 14 years old. He worked on the west side as a milk wagon driver's helper, then went to the coast, where he finished school. He was a protégé of Mrs. George Gaylord Olmsted, 5036 Woodlawn avenue, daughter of Judge Daniel P. Trude.

GOSSIPERS Couldn't Stop Her from Losing Fat

"When I started taking Kruschen I weighed 260 and felt logy. My friends made fun of me. I read about Kruschen and decided to try them. I took them every day for 6 months and got down to 212—I feel lighter and better in every way and can step around with the quickest of them. Everyone speaks of how much I've improved—even my skin is white and smoother."—Mabel Elliott, Englewood, N. J.

Above you get the slant of a woman who paid no attention to silly folks who said she could not lose fat—fat women should think it over — perhaps your friends don't want you to grow thin.

Two weeks with Kruschen and you feel so gloriously alive—spirited activity grips you—ugly fat starts to leave—skin clears—eyes brighten—just let one jar (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle) prove its supreme goodness.

Take a half teaspoonful in a cup of hot water first thing every morning—tastes fine when you add juice of half lemon. Be FAITHFUL to this little daily dose and enviable physical charm, a stunning free-from-fat figure—exuberant health will be yours or money back.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Though David Freedman set forth in his action for $250,000 against Eddie Cantor yesterday that the radio comedian gave him only a "meager salary and promises" for his comic scripts, Freedman will not have to apply for relief even if he should lose the suit. Freedman is the joke czar of the broadcasting industry. And to him more than any other person or influence belongs the credit—or the blame—for the current style in radio humor.

For years he has kept Cantor in jokes. (And many persons would argue that for this service a "meager salary" was all he deserved.) He sells his comic wares also to George Givot, Block and Sully, Lou Holtz, Al Jolson, Fannie Brice, and a host of others, in addition to doing sketches for revusicals—one of these being "Life Begins at 8:40."

Freedman runs what is really a joke factory. And off its production line radio sketches tumble like so many flivvers. Freedman is vastly aided in his literary affairs by a tremendous set of filing cases and a competent staf of assistants.

"Before we start a script," he explained recently, "we sit down and talk over a story to use as a background. Then we go to the files. Suppose the setting is a restaurant. We look under waiter jokes, restaurant jokes, food and drink jokes, jokes about tips and any other heading that will fit. It is a job of selecting and giving them a twist that will fit into the plot."

That's why so many radio sketches are merely so many old jokes strung together. Condemn him for his technique and Freedman doesn't mind at all because he makes good money—even if he is complaining that Cantor won't come through with the 10 per cent [of $10,000] weekly which Freedman maintains he was promised.

Among Freedman's competitors are Harry Conn, who writes Jack Benny's material, and Billy Wells, who turns out the Jack Pearl scripts. Phil Baker has a trio of comic writers—Ken Englund, Arthur Phillips, and Stan Perrin. Jack Cusick turns out Ben Bernie's best jests. Fred Allen does most of his own stuff and Goodman Ace grinds out the Easy Aces sketches. And Amos 'n' Andy pound out every line of their nightly episodes. Andy does the actual whacking on the typewriter.

A letter addressed "Ben Bernie, Orchestra Leader, Chicago" was delivered at local NBC studios yesterday. In the upper left hand corner it bore a notation reading: "This letter has been delayed for one year because of difficulties in transportation at Little America, Antarctica." The letter was mailed Jan. 31, 1934.

When Father Coughlin shifts to a midnight hour the week after Easter the program will be dubbed the Paul Revere hour. Like Paul, the militant priest will strive to awaken the countryside.

NEW EQUIPMENT BOUGHT TO RUSH TAX COLLECTIONS

Orders have been placed for eighteen electrical cash registers and auditing machines that are expected to speed greatly the distribution of tax collections, County Treasurer Robert M. Sweitzer announced yesterday.

The combination machines will replace twelve old ones in the cashiers' cages on the first floor offices of the treasurer in the county building, Sweitzer said. They will automatically audit tax collections, and the hope was expressed that they will make possible daily distributions to thirty major taxing bodies in the county. They will be installed by May 1, according to the treasurer.

Purchase of the machines is a step in Sweitzer's promised effort to modernize the treasurer's office. The machines will cost about $35,000, but it is predicted that they will pay for themselves through the saving in interest charges on tax anticipation warrants. These can be retired when tax distribution is speeded up.

STEEL DECLINE HALTED; OUTPUT UP HALF POINT

Gains Indicated for Second Quarter.

Stubborn resistance to a further decline in steel mill operations is shown by the industry's increase of ½ point in steel ingot output since the middle of last week, while demand for finished steel products is holding at a far better rate than current business uncertainty would seem to justify, says Iron Age.

The week brought forth a number of factors that might lead to increased steel production during the second quarter, the journal says. The automobile industry is still deferring heavy purchases for its May and June requirements and, since this buying cannot be delayed much longer, the industry's requirements should provide considerable impetus to steel demand.

Auto Centers Show Gains.

In centers where automotive buying is an important factor operations showed improvement for the week. These included gains of 3½ points to 50½ per cent of capacity at Chicago, 2 points to 56 per cent at Cleveland, 5 points to 95 per cent at Detroit, and 3 points to 35 per cent at Buffalo. The production rate was unchanged in the Pitsburgh, Philadelphia, and Wheeling districts and was 5 points lower at 50 per cent in the valleys.

Requirements of implement makers in the middle west are well sustained and signs of spring activity are clearly discernible in many lines, the magazine says. At least 22,500 tons of reinforcing bars are pending for large jobs in the Chicago district alone and a large tonnage of plates is involved in dam construction which will get under way as soon as federal funds are available.

Other new plate jobs call for 8,550 tons, of which 8,000 tons are for oil tankers, the review continues. Fabricated structural steel bookings total 8,300 tons, compared with 17,600 tons in the preceding week, but include no outstanding projects. New structural inquiries call for 9,300 tons, against only 2,600 tons in the preceding week.

Rate Boost May Bolster Demand.

Steel activity may be increased immediately by the emergency increase in freight rates, as advances of 2 cents a hundred pounds on certain forms of finished steel and pig iron will lead to some consumer covering.

Of even more importance to the industry, the review states, will be the freight increases on raw materials. In some districts higher rates on iron ore, coal, and coke will increase the costs of producing pig iron from 50 cents to $1 a ton, which, under the industry's code, cannot be passed on to the consumer before the third quarter.

Cold finished carbon steel bars have been reduced $3 a ton at all basing points, effective April 11, the first major setback to the finished steel price structure since last July. The decline was due to the competitive situation in the automotive industry. New prices range from $1.95 to $2.05 a hundred pounds.

The magazine's composite price for scrap is unchanged at $10.75 a ton, checking the steady decline of the last several weeks. Pig iron and finished steel composites are holding at $17.90 a ton and 2.124 cents a pound, respectively.

RAILWAY EXPRESS EMPLOYMENT IS AGAIN NORMAL

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—L. O. Head, president of the Railway Express agency, said at the annual meeting today the concern's trafic had recovered to a point where virtually all its 20,000 employés had returned to work.

Head said that a year and a half ago, largely as a result of unregulated competition with the railroads, the situation of the agency "had never been blacker." Basing its program on conditions as they were, and not in anticipation of help through legislation or "panaceas," the agency then began a campaign to develop new services and, at the same time, began to advertise nationally.

As part of the program, Head arranged meetings with employés, addressing almost the entire personnel at gatherings in fifty cities. He left tonight on a trip which will cover 10,000 miles this month and take him to meetings in fifteen cities of the southwest and Pacific coast.

Express shipments numbered 107,000,000 in 1934, against 93,000,000 in 1933, an increase of 15.3 per cent, Head reported. Gross revenues were $133,596,933, against $121,166,064 and the agency paid $50,529,639 to the proprietory railways against $44,426,800 in 1933.

BOARD OF TRADE OBSERVES 87TH ANNIVERSARY

The 87th anniversary of the founding of the Chicago Board of Trade on April 3, 1848, was observed yesterday by members of the grain exchange. Robert P. Boylan, president, issued a statement in which he appealed to grain producers to support the board in its efforts to maintain a free and competitive market in grain. He declared that "healthy competition of grain merchants on the exchanges" is necessary to the welfare of all branches of the grain industry.

The crop distributing machinery of the Board of Trade, Boylan declared, is being used continuously for the benefit of farmers.

"Prosperity of the grain farmer," he said, "regulates the prosperity of the grain merchant. Eighty-seven years of marketing experience has shown that the system of competitive trading produces the best results for all interests."

Europe Hoards Gold as Dutch Currency Sags

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Two major developments in international capital movements became evident today:

1. Hoarding of gold again has set in on a large scale in Europe.

2. Increasing pressure on Dutch currency makes the guilder the weakest link in the gold bloc chain.

Fear that the remaining gold bloc countries will be forced to devaluate, and also the danger of war coming unexpectedly, is forcing many people of wealth on the continent again to seek safety for their money in gold, bankers here believe.

Holland Ships Gold.

The federal reserve bank reported today the engagement of $9,000,000 additional of gold abroad for shipment to New York, bringing the total since last Thursday to $50,000,000. Of the $9,000,000 $6,000,000 is from Holland and $3,000,000 from France. The latter amount very evidently being engaged earlier in the week and not reported, inasmuch as the franc advanced today and the day before. The reserve bank reported no imports or exports of gold here today and no net change in the stock of the metal held here under earmark for foreign account.

At the same time a serious weakening of the guilder in terms of the pound and French franc indicated a large movement of funds out of Holland into France and England. Weakness in the guilder futures market also was extended today to spot prices. In New York the guilder opened at 67.48 cents, off 2 points, and 16.5 points below the theoretical gold import point, and in early trading sold down to 67.42. The close was at 67.45, off 5 points.

The pound again today showed a tendency toward weakness in early trading abroad, but by the time the New York market had opened was considerably stronger. The opening price in New York was $4.81, up ¼ cent, and it improved steadily to close at $4.81¾, up 1 cent.

Belgas Near Gold Point.

Belgas were off 1 point at 16.98 cents, and 3 points above the new parity. French francs eased ¼ point to close at 6.60¾ cents, at which level the dollar was worth $1.0039, against $1.0035 yesterday. The gold value of the dollar, based on the old parity of the franc, was 59.29 cents, against 59.27 cents yesterday.

Swiss francs went against the trend of the other two members of the gold bloc by improving slightly at 32.40 cents, up 1 point. Scandinavian currencies rose 2 to 3 points, while German marks dipped 1 point to 40.22 cents. Canadian dollars were unchanged.

The price of bar gold in London advanced 1 shilling 6½ pence, to 145 shillings 7½ pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.88. Gold taking in the London open market today reached £826,000 [$3,959,637], the largest amount recorded during the last month, against £786,000 yesterday, also a high figure. Unofficial sales of gold also are reported to have been large.

TREASURY SWAPS MORE GOLD FOR MEXICAN SILVER

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—Continuing its policy of "swapping" gold for silver, the treasury announced today that another 51,300 ounces, amounting to $1,800,000 at the statutory price of $35 per ounce, had been sold to the Bank of Mexico to strengthen the monetary reserves of that country.

This is the third transaction of the kind, the treasury having sold 32,000 ounces to the Bank of Mexico last month and 10,000 ounces to Guatemala early in December. Total of gold sales involved to date is 93,300 ounces, amounting to $3,265,600.

The treasury has been buying considerable quantities of silver from the Mexican government, which has built up dollar credits in New York as a result of these transactions. The gold bought with the credits will be transferred to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and earmarked for the account of the Mexican Central bank, which may draw upon it as needed. The latest sale to Mexico had no particular significance, according to treasury officials. Recently Secretary Morgenthau said that applications from any country would be received and carefully considered.

Up to this time the transactions have been restricted to what has amounted to a "swap" for silver, which the treasury has been buying under the silver purchase act of last June.

COURT 'DOUBTS' CONSPIRACY IN INSULL LOAN CASE

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—After hearing evidence during the last five weeks, Federal Judge Julian W. Mack expressed doubt today that any conspiracy has been shown among the five New York banks and the General Electric company now being sued for about $30,000,000 by Insull investors. It is charged the lenders "stood still" on the loans instead of dumping the collateral on the market.

Upon application of Harold White, representing 23,000 investors, for a later opportunity to argue the sufficiency of the conspiracy evidence, the court reserved decision on a motion made by John W. Davis to strike it all out.

The expression of doubt by the trial court occurred during the examination of A. P. Arsenault, accountant for the trustee in bankruptcy of Insull Utility Investments corporation, the topmost holding company of the Insull structure. The accountant had produced an audit of the holding company declaring it was insolvent Dec. 10, 1931. At that time, he said, the liabilities were $110,145,221 and the "liquidating value" of the assets was $109,312,732.

Charge China's Ills Caused by U.S. Silver Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 3.—Attacks on President Roosevelt's silver purchase policy by Chinese, British and Japanese banking interests here reached a culmination today when Masaji Yoshida, manager of the Shanghai branch of the Yokohama Specie bank declared "the American silver policy is the most important cause of present financial difficulties here."

Yoshida charged the United States treasury purchase plan "is a bald violation of the London silver agreement of 1933 which dealt only with measures designed to prevent the fall of silver prices by stabilization. Only a sophist could insist that the pact provided raising the price, otherwise the Chinese reservations to the pact meant nothing."

Urges World Powers Act.

Yoshida, who is rated one of Japan's leading financiers, expressed the hope that Great Britain and other powers concerned would bring pressure upon the United States to force discontinuance of the policy which is the chief external cause of China's financial difficulties.

The financier's statement was considered a strong warning against possible inflation which is likely to follow the government's recent action in purchasing controling interest in the country's two leading private banks, the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications.

Yoshida expressed fear that governmental control of the banks is likely to result in an inflationist policy, but at the same time the Japanese banker advised against China's obtaining foreign loans which would burden the country's future.

Anti-American Feeling Grows.

The failure of American diplomatic and consular officials in China to make any adequate reply or explanation to the constant attacks here on the Roosevelt silver policy has resulted in the creation of a strong anti-American sentiment among Chinese businessmen and the intellectual classes, who are erroneously being led to believe that the American silver purchase act, which has caused the outflow of China's silver reserves, is the sole cause of China's financial plight.

While the American silver policy undoubtedly is a contributory factor, China's currency crisis and China's financial ills are more deep seated. Among them are a serious adverse trade balance, due to lack of world demand for China's raw products, plus a seriously unbalanced governmental budget caused by heavy military expenses with consequent heavy taxation occasioned by the war against the Chinese Reds.

Fear Collapse of Silver.

Many American business men here are convinced that unless China is able to obtain a currency stabilization loan from foreign sources the country will be unable to withstand the pressure, leading to inflation with the demonetization of silver which is certain to cause a serious slump in the value of the white metal.

T. V. Soong, former finance minister, who is now head of the government controled Bank of China as well as a member of the directorate of the National Economic council, declared that China will not resort to inflation. He said that the recent governmental move establishing control of the two largest private banks was in order to enable the carrying out of a common policy to assist the market and maintain a sound currency.

WALGREEN CO. BOOSTS QUARTERLY DIVIDEND TO 30 CENTS A SHARE

Directors of the Walgreen company yesterday increased the dividend rate to 30 cents a share, payable May 1, to stockholders of record April 15. The company previously paid 25 cents a quarter.

At the same time directors indicated they will follow a policy of making increases in the next two quarters provided business continues as good as it has been. Under this contingent program, 35 cents will be paid Aug. 1, and 40 cents Nov. 1. In the event the latter payment is made the stock will be on a $1.60 yearly basis.

American Smelting and Refining company declared a dividend of $4.50 in the second preferred stock, reducing accumulations on the issue to $10.50 a share. In January the company ordered a dividend of $3 on second preferred arrears.

Directors of the National Tea company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 13¾ cents a share on the preferred stock, payable May 1 to stock of record April 15.

SHORTAGE FEAR LIFTS MAY CORN PRICE 2⅜ CENTS

Squeeze Looms on Delivery Date.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The grain market was jerked out of its lethargy yesterday when sudden buying appeared in the corn pit which sent the May future up 2⅜ cents a bushel to 85⅜ cents, the best price it has commanded in a month. Other grains rallied in sympathy.

The buying impulse found its basis in the prospect that there may be a shortage of corn supplies next month when deliveries must be made against the May future. Stocks of corn in the Chicago market and other terminals are being rapidly depleted. There is a prospect that Chicago, the country's greatest corn market, may be forced to draw supplies from points which normally are the outlets for this market.

Cash Demand Ignites Buying.

The spark that fired speculative buying yesterday was furnished by the revival in demand for cash corn. Chicago dealers sold 105,000 bushels to be shipped out of this market, but only 8,000 bushels were earmarked at other terminal markets and in the country for shipment here. The day's figures illustrate what has been happening for months.

Over 5,000,000 bushels of American owned corn are stored in Georgian bay ports. Normally upon the opening of lake navigation this corn would move into the eastern markets, but this season there is the prospect that it will be brought back to Chicago.

Corn prices are relatively cheaper in the east today than in Chicago. This is due in part to Argentine importations but chiefly to the fact that the 1934 crop was hardest hit in middle west states which normally produce the surplus.

The open interest in May corn futures in the Chicago market is approximately 30 million bushels today, while the visible supply of corn is below 20 million bushels.

A short interest in the future accumulated during the recent decline in the market. Long holders of the contract do not seem to be in a hurry to get out and the short interest is becoming a little nervous.

Wheat Edges Higher.

Buying in the corn yesterday extended to the later futures and other grains. Wheat was a "dog" most of the day, however, and closed with gains of about half a cent a bushel. July and September corn were up 1⅞ and 1½ cents a bushel, respectively.

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	.91½	.90¾	.90⅝
Corn	.76½	.74⅝	.74⅛
Oats	.39⅞	.39	.39½
Rye	.56	.55¾	.57⅞

The advance in May oats amounted to nearly 2 cents a bushel. The situation is somewhat similar to that affecting May corn.

Wheat prices continued to advance yesterday in the principal foreign markets. Liverpool wheat has gained 8½ cents a bushel since its low of March 12, while Buenos Aires has advanced 7 cents. The upturn in Chicago has been less than 2 cents.

Exchange Will Ask Delisting of Hupp; Objects to Pay Plan

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—The governing committee of the New York stock exchange announced today, after a special meeting, that it would seek permission from the Securities and Exchange commission to strike the common stock of the Hupp Motor Car corporation from the list and terminate its temporary registration on the exchange under the securities exchange act of 1934. Officers of the company failed to appear at a meeting of the stock-list committee of the exchange to explain certain transactions, as requested.

A file of correspondence covering the exchange's negotiations with the Hupp company since last September was made public.

Committee's Statement.

"The committee feels that the contracts giving certain officers and directors a participation in earnings and, under certain conditions, options upon a substantial amount of the treasury stock should be canceled. Certain features of these contracts appear to the committee to be unconscionable and the stockholders were not advised in the notice of the stockholders' meeting of the unusual provisions in regard to a merger or consolidation of the company which would accelerate the right of these officers and directors to secure perpetual options upon the stock of the company or the equivalent assets which might be received for such stock in a merger or consolidation.

"The committee will not object to the negotiation of new contracts. With these officers and directors if the management feels that their services will be of substantial value to the corporation. Such new contracts should, however, avoid certain features of the existing contracts which the committee finds objectionable."

Officers to Appeal to SEC.

Detroit, Mich., April 3.—(AP)—The action of the New York Stock exchange today in voting to recommend the removal of the Hupp Motor Car corporation common stock from the exchange trading list, drew from Hupp counsel tonight a statement that officers would present their case to the Securities and Exchange commission.

Counsel for Hupp exhibited copies of letters in which the exchange had been asked twice to postpone the meeting 60 days because of the intervention of Federal court proceedings here begun by J. Walter Drake, former chairman of the board, against Archie M. Andrews, president chairman.

FIGHT NEW DEAL DESTRUCTION, E. T. WEIR URGES

Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel corporation, yesterday urged 1,000 business and industrial leaders at a luncheon in the Union League club to fight destructive forces set in motion by the New Deal.

A victor over the National Recovery administration in a court decision which established the company employé representation plan as a legal and effective means of collective bargaining, Weir chided business for its spinelessness.

The steel leader called upon the administration to concentrate on recovery, abandon professorial panaceas, and sidetrack reform measures which "do nothing more than retard recovery." He ripped apart proposed utility and labor legislation and urged business men to do likewise.

Fighting Only Salvation.

"The present huge spending program and all of the preaching of demagogs and theorists cannot ruin the business of this country if business men will now stand up and fight for what they believe is for the best interests of the country," Weir declared. "Nothing is to be gained by lying back and hoping for the best—or complaining to each other.

Weir ridiculed the idea that business men were interested in retarding recovery willfully—that they are not interested in better times and resulting larger profits.

He urged them to carry the fight against "the avalanche of administration propaganda, conveying directly or by implication the thought that business is not to be trusted." Business, for example, might well afford to set aside part of its funds to set up a counterbarrage in educating people to the true worth of holding companies than "to have to submit to confiscation that will surely follow

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Improvement in high grade corporate bonds featured trading in the market today after several sessions of inertia. This movement was coincident with the development of a moderately reactionary tendency in treasury issues.

For some time prime issues have been influenced by the trend toward corporate bond refunding, which had the effect of pulling callable bonds down toward their redemption prices.

American Smelting 5s Near Par.

The only news bearing on this subject was the announcement by the American Smelting and Refining company that in carrying out a recapitalization program it might consider the redemption of the 5 per cent bonds. This issue naturally moved abruptly toward par, which is the redemption price. The next redemption date is Oct. 1, so that the bonds should sell slightly under 102½ to offer any yield, assuming that the call is issued for this year.

Railroad bonds displayed the best strength in the domestic corporation list, with resultant gains in many of the carrier lines of a point or more. Obligations of the Boston and Maine, Baltimore and Ohio, Nickel Plate, and the Union Pacific were especially strong.

Utilities Rise; Industrials Lower.

A number of European issues which had been under pressure recently were bid up fractionally to more than 5 points, with Batavian Petroleum 4½s up 5½, French government 7½s up 3, German government 7s up a point and the 5½s up ⅛, and most of the Italian issues up a point or more, the government 7s rallying 1⅝. Polish and Belgian government loans closed lower.

Volume of trading was only moderate, amounting to $11,039,000 par value, compared with $11,324,000 yesterday.

Standard Oil of Nebraska.

Answer: Standard Oil company [of Nebraska] was originally established in 1906. It is a marketing concern, distributing products of Standard Oil company [Indiana] and Midwest Refining company through about 286 bulk and 202 filling stations in Nebraska.

The company has not operated at a profit since 1931. For the eleven years through 1931 operations were profitable, but since then they have resulted in increasing losses. A. H. Richardson, president, said in the early part of March 1935, that some improvement had been evidenced since the first of the year.

Loss in 1934 increased to $624,000, against loss of $285,000 in 1933. President Richardson attributed the higher deficit to the badly demoralized price condition in the company's territory. The company had to meet competitive prices in order to maintain its position. Gross volume sales in 1934 were about 19 per cent ahead of 1933.

The company lost $152,000 in 1932, against net income of $247,000, or $1.30 a share, for 1931. Net income in 1930 was $613,000.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $1,363,000 and current liabilities were $309,000. Surplus was $709,000.

Capitalization consists of 188,403 shares of $25 par capital stock. Dividends on the stock were suspended in August, 1934. The stock is speculative at present.

Protest the Tax.

Investors' Guide: My husband, now deceased, owned 100 shares of common capital stock of Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction. The county assessor claims that this was taken over by a corporation called Electric corporation and that this stock is now worth $5 a share. Can you advise me as to this?—Mrs. B. K. M.

Answer: We have the following communication from Moie Cook, a member of the Indiana public service commission:

"My understanding is that the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company went through receivership and that the property was purchased by Midland United company from the receiver. The purchase was made in the interest of bondholders and the bonds were surrendered for the purchase price.

"I understand that there was some cash for preferred claims, but that there was nothing for either preferred or common stockholders."

In view of the above we believe the stock to be worthless, and recommend filing objection to the arbitrary value placed upon it by your county assessor.

CONGRESS' DELAY CURBED UPTURN, REALTORS TOLD

77-B Three Years Late, McKeown Charges.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago would be well out in the vanguard of American cities in their march back to prosperity but for the customary slowness of congress in passing needed legislation, according to Tom D. McKeown, former congressman from Oklahoma, who last night addressed the Chicago Real Estate board.

McKeown, who served as chairman of the sub-committee which drafted amendment 77B of the bankruptcy law, said congress passed this legislation in an effort to save both the borrower and lender on homes.

"As is always the case," he declared, "congress was tardy in its action. Had it acted in 1930 instead of 1933 Chicago would be well out in the front in its recovery.

Sees Rapid Growth for Chicago.

"No other great city could have made the World's Fair a success under the prevailing circumstances except Chicago. With the Chicago spirit you built the city and with the same spirit, combined with the proper use of 77B, Chicago will set the pace again."

McKeown declared the intent of congress in passing sections 74 and 77B was to rehabilitate the man who had his life earnings invested in assets frozen for the time being and also see that his creditors suffer as little loss as possible.

"Under these sections—74 for individuals and 77B for corporations—The debtor summons his creditors in to a forum.

Tells Procedure.

"They can as business men agree upon a plan of extension of time to pay, reduce interest rates, and cut or change the class of securities," said McKeown. "When a majority in the case of an individual and two-thirds in the case of a corporation agree, the matter then goes to a judge for his inspection and approval.

"These sections properly administered in the spirit of give and take, and not all take, will work wonders in the financial life of your city."

FMC Increases Basis of Cash Loan Payments

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—An increase from $500 to $1,000 in the amount of loans which will be paid in cash instead of Farm Mortgage corporation bonds was announced today by W. I. Myers, governor of the Farm Credit administration. For almost a year the administration had paid all loans of $500 or under, also fractional amounts, in bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation which were cashed by borrowers or given to pay off old mortgages.

BOND NOTES

Public offering is being made today of $6,400,000 Lehigh and New England railroad general mortgage bonds, 4 per cent series "A," dated April 1, 1935, and due April 1, 1965. This is the first refunding operation by an operating railroad company to appear in the current program of corporation refunding. The group offering the bonds includes Kidder, Peabody & Co., Brown, Harriman & Company, Inc., Edward B. Smith & Co., and the First Boston corporation.

Proceeds will be used to retire $6,000,000 series "A" and "B," 5 per cent bonds outstanding, which are redeemable at 105 and accrued interest and are callable for sinking fund on April 1 of any year at 102.

The New York office of the RFC has extended a loan to the lake irrigation district of Valley county, Idaho, enabling it to refinance $120,000 of water improvement 6 per cent bonds.

Important state obligations which will come up for award next week include $24,000,000 California 3½ per cent relief bonds, maturing 1940 to 1949, and $5,500,000 of state of Maryland 3 per cent emergency relief certificates of indebtedness, with an average maturity of 9½ years.

The municipal bond market this week has been somewhat quieter following the unusual activity which prevailed all during March. In March voters in 58 communities of 23 states approved state and municipal bond issues totaling $11,350,575, compared with $1,489,000 in February and $5,410,000 in March, 1934. The tone in the bond market is reported somewhat improved after the uncertainties of recent weeks.

Alabama formally announced that bids will be opened April 22 on $16,920,000 of refunding bonds, dated July 1, 1935, and due from 1936 to 1965. Bidders are asked to name the rate of interest at not to exceed 4 per cent, and also to bid for the bonds as noncallable prior to maturity, or callable after five years on any interest date on thirty days' notice.

Award of a new issue of $350,000 city of Newport, R. I., revenue anticipation notes, dated April 4 and due Sept. 6, 1935, has been made to the First Boston corporation. The bankers bid par, plus a premium of $3 for the notes to bear interest at the annual rate of .29 per cent.

ORDER PRORATION OF FUND ON PARK DISTRICT BONDS

A total of $267,000 collected on prior bond and interest levies for North West park districts yesterday was ordered pro rated on the principal and interest of $4,500,000 in outstanding North West park bonds by commissioners of the Chicago park district, at the request of Edward N. Heinz, controler.

The remaining 1932 Lincoln Park district corporate warrants, totaling $4,000 plus interest, were called for redemption. The board also authorized the redemption of $15,055 in 1931 Old Portage Park district corporate tax warrants. The call includes all outstanding 1931 warants of this district. All warants called are payable upon presentation at the First National bank and interest on them stops April 5.

Heinz pointed out that since April 30, 1934, when the park consolidation became effective, $654,000 of former Lincoln park warants have been retired. He said there remains outstanding only $234,100 of 1932 and $357,075 of 1933 West Park corporate warants.

UTILITIES ASSAIL POWER BILL IN FINAL TESTIMONY

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—Public utilities spokesmen today ended their testimony before the house interstate commerce committee by assailing, just as strongly as when they began, the bill designed to abolish public utility holding companies.

"No right thinking person objects to regulatory laws," declared F. S. Burroughs, vice president of Associated Gas and Electric company, the concluding utilities witness, "but unnecessary burocratic control will reduce any business to the well known low standard of efficiency of a government department."

Earlier in the day, F. E. Forthingham of the Investment Bankers association said the semi-administration measure "subtly conceals the far greater menace—burocratic authority over management of operating companies."

Officials of the Tennessee Valley Authority are to be heard on the bill tomorrow.

REPUBLIC BANK DIRECTORS ASK DELAY IN SUIT

Directors of the former Central Republic Bank and Trust company today will ask for an extension of time to answer the bill filed by Attorney George Marks.

Marks charged them and the Reconstruction Finance corporation with responsibility for repayment of the famous "Dawes" loan in a bill filed on behalf of several stockholders who are fighting the RFC's attempt to collect stockholders' liability assessments.

Directors yesterday served notice on Marks that they will ask extension of time to answer the charges in Marks' bill until the federal court has disposed of the various stockholder motions to dismiss the RFC suit against them. Hearing on the latter is set for April 30.

REPORT C. R. GAY SLATED TO HEAD N. Y. EXCHANGE

Move Made to Avoid Rift in Membership.

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—The New York Stock exchange nominating committee has chosen Charles R. Gay as candidate for president on the ticket to be announced Monday and has notified Gay and the incumbent, Richard Whitney, of this plan, it was reported reliably today.

Whitney may accept regular nomination for a position as governor, disposing finally of the threat of an independent nomination for the presidency.

Gay, now 59 years old and senior partner of the 107 year old house of Whitehouse & Co., left school at 13 to go to work. He bought a seat on the exchange in 1911 and has been a member of the governing committee since 1923.

Involves Public Goodwill.

The struggle for the nomination revolved largely around the exchange's public relations policy. Some members believed goodwill had faded during Whitney's five year tenure of office.

Following this hint of plans for avoiding a violent rift within the exchange, members were asking today how far their nominating committee would go in presenting a slate of other governors who would work effectively with Gay.

Including the president and treasurer, ex-officio members of the governing committee, eleven places are to be filled on the governing committee and eight governing members are to be chosen for the first time from office partners of member firms. Two members have declined to be considered for reëlection.

Decide Fate of Governors.

If Gay is nominated as president and Whitney as a governor, the nominating committee must decide next the fate of the remaining members who may be considered candidates for reëlection. Four of these were elected governors in 1930, the first year of Whitney's term as president, or in 1931. The others and the treasurer have service records between thirteen and thirty-eight years.

The inclination of an important faction of the stock exchange to present a new face to the public in the administration of the exchange is being weighed by the nominating committee during these remaining five days of preparation for a report to the membership April 8.

U. S. TO BACK HUGE HOUSING PROJECT IN BROOKLYN

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—Approval of insurance on an $8,000,000 5,000 room housing project to be erected in Brooklyn was announced today by James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator. The aim is to provide attractive housing for the "white collar" class. The FHA agreed to insure a $5,500,000 mortgage loan made by the New York Life Insurance company. The loan will be made to a limited dividend corporation, headed by Joseph P. Day, New York real estate man.

The project will consist of eight buildings of six stories, each to be erected on 13 acres of land now owned by Day, and 38 acres of land to be filled in. The new apartments will differ from some other limited dividend projects in New York such as Knickerbocker Village, in that it will receive no actual cash aid from governmental agencies and will pay full city, state, and federal taxes.

Each building of the development will be fireproofed and have automatic elevators, incinerators, radio outlets, dryers, and electric refrigerators. About 75 per cent of the apartments will be three or four room units, while the rest will range from two to six rooms each.

FHR officials estimated 2,500 men would be employed directly on the construction and 7,500 more would have work in the production of materials.

DETROIT BANKERS BEGIN DEFENSE IN FEDERAL TRIAL

Detroit, Mich., April 3.—(AP)—John H. Hart, one of the three veteran Detroit bankers charged with making false reports to the controler of currency, testified in his own defense in federal court after Judge Ernest A. O'Brien denied a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Defense attorneys said they hoped to rest their case tomorrow. John Ballantyne and Herbert L. Chittenden, indicted with Hart, are expected to take the stand at the completion of Hart's testimony.

Hart outlined in detail the origin of the $212,000 loan to two junior officers of the bank which the government charges was falsely reported to conceal a speculation in stock of the Detroit Bankers company. No concealment was contemplated, Hart declared.

APRIL BUTTER SELLS AT 30 CTS. A POUND, HIGHEST SINCE 1930

April butter responded vigorously to the stronger spot market yesterday and closed ½ cent higher at 30 cents per pound, a new high since 1930. Small receipts, both here and in the east, with withdrawals of 159,000 pounds from cold storage in excess of the movement for the corresponding period of last year, were factors in causing the advance. November butter was unchanged. Egg futures finished unchanged to ⅛ cent per dozen higher. Sales of butter futures were 33 cars and of eggs 65 cars.

Rumors were current in the local butter trade alleging that manipulation on the part of strong English interests was playing a part in the steady advance in the price of that commodity in New York. According to the reports the limited available supply of the domestic product has permitted the market to be easily influenced through ownership of a good part of the liberal imports from New Zealand. The spot butter market in New York was ¾ cent per pound higher yesterday, while an advance of ½ to ¾ cents was recorded here.

Total stocks of butter in cold storage in Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia, according to the bureau of agricultural economics daily report is only 2,455,000 pounds, of which over 1,750,000 pounds are held at New York. A year ago the four cities held over 7,175,000 pounds. Prices follow:

J. P. MORGAN REPORTS UPTURNS IN DEPOSITS, LOANS AND RESOURCES

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—The private bank of J. P. Morgan & Co. today issued a statement of its condition as of March 4, the date named by the controler of the currency for reports by national banks. The statement showed gains in resources, deposits, surplus, loans, and partners' balances, compared with the firm's last report, as of Dec. 31. Comparison with the corresponding date a year ago was not available, as the firm began publishing statements regularly only last June.

Total resources on March 4 amounted to $414,702,421, compared with $414,-685,768 at the end of last year. Deposits were $344,202,037, against $338,-026,690. Surplus and partners' balances, which correspond to surplus and undivided profits in the statements of commercial banks, were $30,163,730, against $29,934,133.

Cash on hand and on deposit in banks totaled $85,037,087, against $65,-811,082; holdings of United States government securities, $212,352,333 against $242,117,586; state and municipal bonds and bills, $24,610,831, against $14,652,-403, and stocks and bonds, $16,151,949, against $16,493,376. ASSERTS RUBBER WORKER UNION FACES STRIKE

Labor Board Director Seeks Settlement.

Akron, O., April 3.—(AP)—Ralph A. Lind, regional labor board director, said tonight he will seek a "common sense" settlement of the threatened strike of rubber workers when he discusses the matter with the management of the three major tire companies tomorrow.

"I would hate to see a strike," Lind said, "but it appears now that there will be one. Regardless of whether a majority of the rubber workers wants a strike, the union is demanding one and so it becomes a practical problem, demanding a practical solution."

Affects 35,000 Workers.

The threatened strike, if it is declared, will affect 35,000 workers in the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company, the B. F. Goodrich company, and the Firestone Tire & Rubber company plants.

Coleman C. Claherty, president of the United Rubber Workers union, in a speech before a small group of union members in Goodyear hall tonight, said "regardless of grandstand or fake votes conducted by the companies, they are going to deal with the American Federation of Labor." Claherty was referring to a vote conducted today by the Firestone employés conference plan which showed that 7,162 workers voted against a strike as compamed with 1,659 in favor of a strike.

Declares for Battle.

"We will close down enough Ohio factories employing union workers and bring into Akron so many men that they will make Sherif James Flowers' 1,000 special deputies look like they are lost in the shuffle," Claherty declared.

Sherif Flower has deputized 1,000 "loyal workers" and is prepared to arm them with helmets, tear gas bombs, and clubs if a strike is called.

Leaders of the Rubber Workers' union sent a virtual ultimatum to the three major companies today, demanding a government supervised employés' representation election in each of the plants.

The companies gave no indication of what action would be taken to meet the situation.

PREFERRED BANK CLAIM LAW IS RULED ILLEGAL

Freeport, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Section 3 of the Illinois banking code, which provides that drafts for clearances between all banks be preferred claims in cases of insolvency, today was declared unconstitutional by three judges who sat en banc in the Stephenson County Circuit court here. Several hundred thousand dollars in interbank claims will be affected by the ruling.

If the court ruling is upheld by the Illinois Supreme court, operating banks will be forced to file claims for clearances with those of general creditors of defunct banks and as a result additional funds will become available to closed bank depositors. The ruling, however, will not affect claims already paid by closed bank receivers to operating banks, it was pointed out.

The decision, described as of "major importance" to Illinois bankers, was given by Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon. Concurring jurists were Judges Frank Sheean of Galena and Albert S. Manus of Freeport.

Two "test cases" synonymous in character were argued before the jurists on March 9. Claims for preference for more than $8,000 were filed against the receiver of the closed Union Bank and Trust company by the First National bank and the Freeport State bank, all of Freeport.

Sargent, Ludlow, Vt.

Steel Chief Raps Business for Being Spineless.

No one quarreled with the objects of the New Deal when it came into power, but the results of its first two years "are hardly indices of success," the steelman pointed out. Nor can any one expect business men "to rush foolhardily into expansion programs or expenditures when nothing but threats, regulation, and political meddling come out of Washington."

Referring to the social security program, the speaker questioned the wisdo. of hastily jamming through measures of such far reaching and permanent effect on the nation's entire economic structure. The big majority of business men favor these measures, he added.

"These things—call them reforms if you like—will one day be part and parcel of our life, but when they come to stay it will be gradually and as an organic growth within industry. They will be an integral part of the business mechanism not something put on with a tack hammer."

Attacks Labor Bills.

Weir saved his heaviest attack for labor legislation proposals—the Guffey and Wagner bills.

The former, he asserted, "denies to employés not belonging to a recognized national association any voice whatsoever in determination of their conditions and terms of employment, even though such employés may be in the majority in a given district or mine. This probably is the baldest attempt ever made to establish unions by law.

"The Wagner labor relations bill is one of the most vicious pieces of legislation ever proposed. It seeks to write into law a principle of eternal warfare between employer and employé. The real purpose of the bill is to outlaw all plans of employé representation which do not function in connection with the American Federation of Labor. Industry never could operate successfully under such a law. The great preponderance of employés do not want it, and will resent it if it is passed.

Relations between employers and employés will be one of the most important factors in future progress, Weir explained, but mutual effort and coöperation furnish the answer to the problem.

Charges Recovery Retarded.

"As far as the administration is concerned it might be said that the trouble is reform to the exclusion of recovery. To try now, when every part of our business, social, and economic structure is weakened by strain, to effect overnight reforms can have nothing but the effect it is having—to retard recovery.

"If it is sincere, it will start doing the things that will bring recovery and stop doing things that retard it. It will put its own house in order, and cut out every unnecessary governmental expenditure. It will call a truce on hasty reform and vindictive spirit. It will withdraw federal participation from all fields, it is not proper under our constitution.

"Remembering the advice of Cicero that 'in the most corrupt country you will find the most laws,' it will cease trying to enmesh business, financial, and industrial organizations of the country in new entanglements of legal barbwire.

"Recovery cannot start without the right conditions, not because of any desire to hold back, but because of inherent economic factors. Let these conditions be established, let confidence be restored, and business will take care of the rest of the job."

EXCHANGE HERE BROADENS SCOPE OF MEMBER RULE

The governing committee of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday approved amendments to the constitution making any member eligible to serve as a member of any standing committee. The chairmen and vice chairmen, however, must be appointed from members of the governing committee. The amendments become effective if not disapproved in one week by two-thirds of the membership.

Previously, all members of standing committees except those on business conduct and publicity were members of the governing group.

The governing committee yesterday also approved transfers of memberships in the exchange to Carl L. Muller, partner of Gammack & Co., New York, and Robert B. Sawyer of Evanston.

OHIO BONDS DROP FOLLOWING DEBT HOLIDAY PLEA

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Prices of various issues of Ohio municipal bonds were easier in the general market today, some dropping 10-100ths to 15-100ths in yield basis, in response to recommendations made by Gov. Martin L. Davey for a two year moratorium on payment of principal but not interest on maturing bonds of the state.

The governor further recommended the issuance of $30,000,000 to $35,000,-000 of bonds on the state's credit for financing local governments, including schools. The sum would include $15,-000,000 for unemployment relief and $6,000,000 for old age pensions.

The state itself has virtually no funded debt. Its issue of $750,000 of 2½ per cent certificates of indebtedness outstanding is to be paid off this year. In the past, Ohio municipal bonds have been adversely effected by limited tax legislation, which, although circumvented by supplementary taxation in part, has operated to check advances in prices.

Brown, Harriman Reports Gain in Financial Position

The financial statement of Brown Brothers, Harriman & Co., private bankers, as of March 30, 1935, reveals increases in total assets, deposits and surplus, compared with the three months ended Dec. 31, 1934. Total assets at the end of March amounted to $57,240,344, against $56,666,085 at the end of December. Deposits were $33,343,109, compared with $30,588,637, while surplus stood at $8,550,786 against $8,507,205.

AAA MAY DROP MARKET EFFORTS IF ITS BILL FAILS

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—The AAA may drop all attempts to enforce marketing agreements if the proposed amendments to the agricultural adjustment act fail of enactment, Secretary Wallace threatened today while saying the AAA would continue its fight to have the amendments enacted.

At the same time Wallace told newspaper men there was "less than a 10 to 1 chance" that the cotton processing tax of 4.2 a pound would be increased before Aug. 1, if then. He explained he was speaking from a "statistical point of view" last week when he said there was more likelihood that the tax on cotton would be raised than lowered, as representatives of textile interests had demanded. The expression caused a drop in cotton prices.

The AAA amendments failed of enactment last session after charges that they would increase the power of Secretary Wallace to make him "an American Hitler of agriculture."

Revised substantially, they were introduced again this session. The AAA said they were meant only to clarify "existing power" under the adjustment act to license handlers of farm products. But opposition already has risen to the point where the bill, even though radically changed in committee, was sent back to the house agriculture committee for reconsideration.

Principal provisions objected to are the clauses which give the secretary power to license middle men to obey the provisions of pacts for the sale of farm products.

ROCK ISLAND LOSS LAST YEAR GAINS SLIGHTLY

Unpaid Funded Debt Up $167,220,000.

Net loss of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway for 1934 was $12,-100,691 after taxes and charges, compared with $11,055,216 in 1933. At the end of the preceding year current assets totaled $14,457,993, and current liabilities $37,-230,626.

The balance sheet shows funded debt down to $143,314,577 on Dec. 31, from $310,536,372 a year previously, but funded debt, matured and unpaid, rose from $4,000 to $167,224,000, which was included in current liabilities. The company is in bankruptcy. Total assets were $539,211,024 Dec. 31, against $548,712,145 a year previously.

STOCKS SLUMP DESPITE MORE CHEERFUL NEWS

Coca-Cola Price Breaks, Smelters Dip.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—Business news of stock market import was slightly more cheerful today, but the improved statistics found little response in listed share changes. Fractional losses were the rule among standard industrial leaders with isolated specialties or preferred issues slumping in some cases as much as 3 to 5 points. Turnover was 529,318 shares.

The trade news was mildly bullish, but brokers said that, in view of the long decline in stock prices, the prevailing feeling of uncertainty over the business outlook and the trend of affairs at Washington, the market could not be expected to respond to anything less than the extraordinary.

Coca-Cola Breaks.

One of the few individual stock price movements to attract attention was a break of 3½ points in Coca-Cola, the first sharp reaction the cold drink favorite has suffered since its spectacular climb above the $200 level last week. The issue closed today at 198.

Wall street had been hearing for weeks that the corporation was all set for a stock split up as soon as the price of the existing issue touched 200, but nothing has happened so far to justify such expectations. Brokers pointed out that reported earnings on the stock would still leave the current return to holders rather small for a regular dividend paying stock.

Other sharp price swings to attract attention included drops of 5 points each in Federal Mining and Smelting and McCrory preferred, and losses of about 2½ points each in Northfolk and Western railway and the preferred stocks of Ludlum Steel and Goodrich.

Buying Flurry in Sugars.

Some demand appeared for a number of sugar stocks in the earlier dealings, but the activity subsided as the session wore on. Cuban American preferred, however, scored a net gain of $3.50 on the day.

United States Smelting fell again, reaching the lowest price in two years. Its decline over a week stretches to 20 points or so. Other metal stocks were weak in sympathy with the leader.

Steel stocks held up on the improved statistics from the operating plants and the railroad group was steady.

FEBRUARY STOCK, BOND ACTIVITY BELOW JANUARY

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—The total dollar value of trading in stocks and bonds on 22 registered securities exchanges in February was $824,489,314, compared with $1,201,728,494 in the previous month, a shrinkage of $377,239,180, the Securities and Exchange commission announced today.

For stocks the total turnover for February was $556,660,124, of which $520,409,204 or 93.40 per cent was on the New York Stock and Curb exchanges. Of a total turnover in bonds of $267,823,191, transactions on the New York Stock and Curb represented $267,369,586, or 99.83 per cent. Total turnovers of stocks and bonds for the last three months of 1934 follows: October, $846,270,150; November, $1,051,192,672; December, $1,154,192,672.

The total market value of the 1,184 stock issues, aggregating 1,303,680,865 shares, listed on the New York Stock exchange April 1, was $30,936,100,491, according to a compilation released by the exchange. This compares with 1,182 issues, aggregating 1,302,902,206 shares, with a market value of $32,180,041,075 listed March 1. Average value of all listed stocks was $23.73 per share April 1, against $24.70 a month before.

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Small sales of print cloths, broadcloths, and narrow sheetings were made at unchanged prices today. Finished cottons continued quiet, spot business being of a hand to mouth character. Most of the business passing in wool goods markets was on men's wear fabrics for fall. Statistics issued today show a larger movement of raw silk for the first quarter than a year ago in imports, mill deliveries, and reduced warehouse stocks.

COTTON CLOSES IRREGULAR AFTER AN EARLY UPTURN

Cotton was under pressure from the south and foreigners during early trading yesterday, but later rumors were current that favorable news was to come from Washington. This started a short covering movement in the new crop futures which lifted the latter around $1 per bale from the lowest price. Old crop cotton, however, turned easy, reversing the situation which has prevailed of late. At the close Chicago was 7 points lower to 12 points higher, New Orleans 10 points lower to 12 points higher, and New York was 4 points lower to 15 points higher, the deferred futures showing the most strength. Spot cotton closed 5 points lower, with New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston at 11.25c, and New York at 11.20 cents per pound. Prices follow:

POWER OUTPUT DROP GREATER THAN SEASONAL

Production Falls .7 Pct.; Upturn Shown Here.

Production of electricity in the United States last week showed a larger than seasonal decline of .7 per cent from the preceding week it was announced yesterday. In the Chicago district there was a reversal of the national trend with an increase of 1.4 per cent recorded over the preceding week.

The total of 1,712,863,000 kilowatt hours for the country as a whole, compared with 1,724,763,000 in the preceding week, but was 2.8 per cent above the corresponding week of last year, Edison Electrical institute announced. The marginal gain over a year ago was not as large as that of the preceding week when the increase amounted to an even 4 per cent.

Total Here Up 2.8 Per Cent.

In the Chicago area power output totaled 103,115,000 kilowatt hours, against 101,655,000 in the preceding week and 100,356,000 a year ago, an increase of 2.8 per cent, the Commonwealth Edison company announced.

With the return of more normal weather conditions this year the total last week brought a partial recovery of the loss sustained in the preceding week and showed a better percentage comparison with a year ago, the marginal gain in the preceding week amounting to only 1 per cent.

Wk. ended.	1935.	1934.	Pct. inc.

All But One Area Have Gains.

Every region of the United States except the Pacific coast showed an increase over the corresponding week of last year. The largest gain was registered in the Rocky mountain section where production rose 15.3 per cent above 1934, compared with an increase of 17.3 per cent in the preceding week.

Other gains over 1934 with comparative increases of the preceding week were: Southern states, 6.3 per cent, against 8 per cent; west central, 6, against 3.6; central industrial, 3.5, against 4.1; New England, 1.1, against 1.8, and middle Atlantic, 1, against 1.9 per cent. The drop on the Pacific coast amounted to 5.3 per cent, compared with a decline of 2.2 per cent in the preceding week.

TRADING IN LARD FUTURES EXPANDS; PRICES ADVANCE

Trade in lard futures expanded materially yesterday. While there was an early dip on scattered commission house selling, the market advanced sharply later on short covering and buying of lard against sales of cottonseed oil. The latter was up around ¼ cent per pound at the extreme, with buying by refining interests a factor. Lard closed at the top with net gains of 10 to 12½ cents. Domestic and export demand for cash lard was reported as only fair, with cash, loose and leaf lard quoted at $13 per 100 pounds. Bellies were dull and unchanged to 5 cents lower while cash lots held at $16.45. Prices follow:

TOP STEERS SOAR TO NEW HIGH FOR LAST 52 MONTHS

Scarcity Pushes Prices to Peak of $14.65.

Buoyed by a prolonged derth of well finished beef cattle, top grade steers yesterday soared to a new 52 month high. Jersey City buyers paid up to $14.65 for prime 1,205 pound averages, the highest sale made here since December, 1930, when $14.75 was paid. Only three April tops since 1920 have been higher and only six times in history has the April top been above $14.65.

Best steers a year ago sold at $7.60 and two years ago the top was $6.40. Yesterday's peak showed a jump of 65 cents over the preceding session and was 45 cents above the previous high mark of the year.

Beef Prices Advance.

Beef at the principal distributing centers moved higher again on short receipts despite consumer resistance to rising costs of living. Wholesale beef markets at Boston were steady to 50 cents higher and showed $1 to $1.50 gain in a week. New York sold beef steady to 50 cents higher for the day, but reported fully $1 advance in the last week. The Philadelphia market was steady to 50 cents higher for the day and $1.50 to $2 higher than a week ago.

Beef has recovered practically all of the recent losses and in many cities is being retailed as high as any time in recent years. Cognizance of the probability of extremely light receipts all summer encouraged buying by packers at the advanced level, resulting in a general recovery in other classes.

Rise 15 to 40 Cents.

Advances in the well finished steers ranged mostly from 25 to 40 cents. Others rose mostly 15 to 25 cents. Cows and hefers sold strong to 25 cents higher. Calves were slow and steady despite the sharp rises in veal at some of the eastern points in the last few days.

Hogs managed to effect a mild recovery, but quotations in this department were still 60 to 80 cents under the 1935 peak. Pork loins were being sold to retailers fully 3 cents below the top prices of last month. Packers paid up to $11.35 for selected 197 to 248 pound hogs, including the federal processing tax, and bought the day's offerings of all weights at an average of $11.20, or 5 cents higher than the average on Tuesday.

Lambs also sold higher, the best grades advancing 15 cents to a top of $8.50, the highest point in two weeks. Eastern buyers paid the top, city butchers bought at $8.35 and below, and packers obtained the bulk at $7.75 to $8.25.

Irish Free State Begins Paying Debt to Americans

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—The Irish Free State began today to repay a debt of $5,200,000 to the American people "guaranteed by no legal security, but considered by the Irish people to be a debt of honor." The money was provided from 1919 to 1921.

OUR PLAN

THE SEASONS SENSATION.

Art Helm, a former outstanding insurance representative, has now been with us for 3 months. He says, "This is the easiest idea I have ever sold." His pay check each week proves it.

Spring, our best season, has arrived, providing an opening for a few neat appearing men, 25 years of age or over, to represent the largest retail Home Furnishing House in the middle west. Previous experience an advantage but not essential. We are laying a foundation for future purchasing among our numerous customers and are paying our representatives advanced commission weekly in full on a basis of average sales expectancy. Also allowing a daily drawing account privilege, if necessary, while getting started. Can earn $30 per week and upward consistantly. Apply from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. only. Can also use a few salesmen.

STRAUS & SCHRAM.

Miscellaneous.

There's an old story—

that many a man who could make $7,500 a year or more never gets into that class because he has an inferiority complex. In other words, he's scared out.

There's a good moral to that story. And here's a case in point. I have an opening right now for two good men in electrical unit business with unlimited opportunity. But I can't afford to offer these places to any fellow who would be scared to death if he found he was making a percentage rate of $7,500 a year.

The money is here to be made. Others are making it. If you feel that your ability is below average or that you'd rather stay in the low-bracket earnings, save your time.

If, on the other hand, you wouldn't mind stepping into the real money class, I'll be glad to give you an interview. 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

MEN

WE NEED MEN IN CHICAGO, BUT CAN'T USE MEN INTERESTED IN A RELIEF INCOME. WE ARE MORE INTERESTED IN MEN WHO DO NOT ANSWER ADS, YET INSIST ON A JOB THAT PAYS THEM AN INCOME IN EXCESS OF $45 A WEEK.

You will investigate new ideas, new products, patented, as important as pasteurizing of milk, cellophane, filtering of water—offering a permanent and profitable connection for years to come.

We will establish the men selected in a BUSINESS OF THEIR OWN, finance their accounts, consign merchandise, pay the rent, light, heat, stenographer, etc., place them where the business is—pay them weekly adv. comm. and cash bonus—without one cent investment on their part.

This large corporation operates all over the world, and is preparing to expand. WE NEED GOOD MEN, but they must be hard workers—sincere—and have good references. The appeal of one of our products is powerful—beyond your belief—sells itself.

APPLY THURSDAY 11 A. M. ONLY AND 2:30 P. M. ONLY. ROOM 224

HOTEL SHERMAN

Would you be interested in starting in business for yourself without one cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men were previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shop workers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in net profit—as much as $50 for a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constant, increasing demand.

Now, here are our requirements—you must be under 50, preferably married, honest, reliable, present a neat appearance, and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side of Chicago, northern Indiana, or northeastern Illinois.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and, if selected, will be trained at our expense in our methods which are successful.

There are no strings attached to this offer as we even pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise and finance your accounts.

Apply Thursday only, between 1 and 3 p. m. Ask for Division Manager, Suite 404, 841 E. 63d-st.
